300 SURVIVORS OF GHOST SHIP HOUSTON SAFE

2 Bring News from Jap Prison Camp

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—An American officer brought word out of Thailand [Siam] jungles today that some 300 survivors of the old heavy cruiser Houston, which vanished in 1942, are in a Japanese prison camp.

Lt. Col. Nicol Smith

The Houston was part of an allied naval force that tried to halt Japan's march thru the Pacific islands and took a licking in the battle of the Java sea on Feb. 27, 1942. The cruiser disappeared the next night while trying to run Soenda strait, between Java and Sumatra.

A cruiser of the Houston class normally carries a complement of about 1,000 officers and men.

Two Reach Guerrilla Station

The first official report that some of her crew had been picked up came today from Lt. Col. Nicol Smith, who operated with underground forces in Thailand for the office of strategic services. The number of survivors is approximate, Smith said, but "any one having relatives on the crew of the Houston can be very optimistic."

He told a news conference that two of the crew escaped from a prison camp in Thailand several weeks ago. Nearly dead from exhaustion and exposure, they reached a guerrilla training station run by Maj. Robert Bartlett of Los Angeles, Cal. Smith did not have their names.

But they are to be flown out of Thailand shortly.

Helped by Natives

Filling in details in a statement issued by OSS, Smith said about two weeks before hostilities ended two "incredibly thin and extremely hungry American navy enlisted men" staggered into one of the OSS guerrilla camps which blanketed Thailand and told Maj. Bartlett they were survivors of the Houston.

"They had been aided by Thais, who had helped them thru the jungles to the nearest American guerrilla camp," he said.

"They brought the story that . . . there were several hundred of their friends who had survived the years of imprisonment in the jungles of remote Thailand and southeastern Asia.

"Word was sent to the OSS and immediately a group of men with army cooks, medicines, and various supplies was parachuted into Maj. Bartlett's camp. In the last week arrangements were made to take care of these men and fly them in the near future to the outside world."

The navy announced March 14, 1942, that the Houston was "overdue and presumed lost." That's the way the record still reads. Capt. Albert H. Rooks of Seattle, Wash., her skipper, is listed as killed in action.

Flagship of Asia Fleet

A favorite of the late President Roosevelt, who made several cruises aboard her, the Houston was flagship of the Asiatic fleet when the Pacific war began. She headed southward immediately, operated in the Netherlands East Indies, and took hits from two eight-inch shells in the battle of the Java sea.

Accompanied by the Australian destroyer Perth and trailed by the Dutch destroyer Evertsen, the Houston dashed from Tanjon Priok the night of Feb. 28, 1942, to attempt passage of Soenda strait.

That was the last word from any of the three ships.

Tokyo Rising Amid Ashes, Writer Finds

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

WITH THE FLYING CIRCUS OVER TOYKO, Aug. 28—The little people of Tokyo, most of whom lost their homes in the great fire raids of the last six months, are rebuilding.

Shacks of scorched timbers and rusty sheets of iron today stand in clusters among the ashes, just as they do in Chungking and Manila. The bombing which Japan began came home in unmitigated fury.

Tokyo challenges the eyes. It is unbelievable.

Like Chungking and Manila, Tokyo was largely a city of wood. And, like those cities, it burned. Chungking was completely razed. Because the Japs didn't get a chance to rekindle the Manila fires, Manila is wasted only in sections.

Today in Tokyo and Yokohama, which stretch for 30 miles along Tokyo bay, only small islands of houses and stores and factories rise undamaged from the sea of ashes.

The imperial palace is one of these islands. It is surrounded by a lily covered moat and high earthen breastworks which, while not keeping the bombers out, did prevent fires kindled outside from sweeping across the mikado's supposedly sacred structures. Even so, one cluster of buildings in the palace grounds was razed from a direct hit.

Another island is the six block long row of modern business buildings which surround the railroad station and make up the heart of what was the new Tokyo, Japan's Michigan boulevard. The Imperial hotel, probably the best known Tokyo building to Americans, however, is gutted.

Many War Plants Intact

Schools, mansions, the observatory, public buildings, and other structures, which are surrounded by lawns or pavements, are mostly untouched. And, because many factories had clear areas around them, a surprisingly large number of war plants are intact. The railyards escaped similarly.

Street cars and electric suburban trains are running. On the main streets there are about as many pedestrians as you would see on Michigan avenue on a Sunday afternoon. Cars and trucks, most outfitted with charcoal burners to provide fuel, are also quite numerous, probably averaging three to a block.

Since Tokyo had little stone to turn into rubble, the streets are clear. Bridges are undamaged.

The suburbs of Tokyo and Yokohama, where fields separate the buildings, are mostly untouched. Warehouses and factories, as well as houses, are there by the hundreds.

Ships Lie Rusting

A score of transports, including two hospital ships, are at the docks. Half completed ships lie rusting in shipyard ways or float in fitting basins.

A burned out building, which looks like a former factory, today has big, yellow PW letters on its blackened roof.

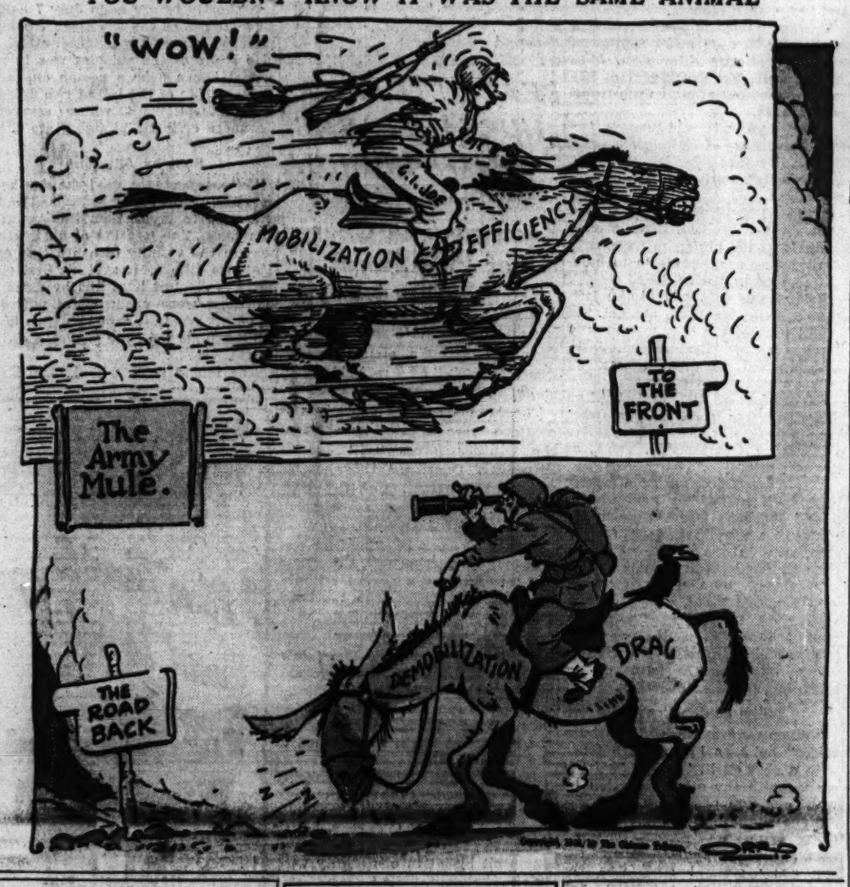
As planes of the Flying Circus roared over Tokyo at 200 feet, the Japs looked up. There was no waving.

The Flying Circus, which is making today's reconnaissance flight over Tokyo, is an outfit whose B-24 Liberators for two years bombed the Japs in the East Indies from bases near Darwin, Australia. Lt. Otis Hill, Omaha, Neb., is the pilot of this plane. Crew members include Lt. Arthur Hineline, Chesterton, Ind.; Capt. Euesedierus [Spence] Spencer, Traverse City, Mich.; Sgt. Carl Krog, Platteville, Wis., and Sgt. Harry Cartwright, Anderson, Ind.

Elephant Takes the Cake for Performance at Party

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 28 (AP)—Princess Alice, 74 year elephant at Hogle Gardens zoo, was guest of honor at a party commemorating the anniversary of her arrival at the zoo. A huge cake was placed in front of Princess Alice, whereupon, according to the park superintendent, the elephant daintily ate off all the icing without disturbing the cake.

YOU WOULDN'T KNOW IT WAS THE SAME ANIMAL



AceBoyington Safe in Tokyo, 3d Fleet Told

The fabulous Maj. Gregory [Pappy] Boyington, marine flying ace who disappeared in a dog fight with Jap planes over Rabaul Jan. 1, 1944, and presumably was killed, was reported alive in Tokyo today, in an Associated Press report transmitted from the U. S. S. Ancon in Tokyo bay.

Maj. Gregory Boyington

The news was contained in a few words flashed to the 3d fleet from the cruiser San Juan, among advance Yankee units outside Tokyo. The source of the information was not given.

Promised to Come Back

The reported survival of the congressional medal of honor winner electrified the fleet, but came as no great surprise to his fellow marine flyers, including a Chicagoan, who never accepted his presumed death as final. "Pappy" Boyington was the kind of a man who'd never die, they held, and only recently they recalled one of his last comments before his disappearance.

"I may disappear with 30 Zekes on my tail, but remember: I'll meet you guys in a San Diego bar six months after the war!"

Now maybe, on the basis of the latest reports, he will.

Official Record: 26 Planes

The picturesque Okanogan, Wash., fighter pilot had an official record of 26 enemy planes downed, but an unofficial record of 40, and was the second American flyer to tie the record of planes shot down by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker in World War I. First was Maj. Joe Foss. Six of his kills were as a member of the Flying Tigers, the rest as skipper of the famed "Black Sheep" squadron in the Solomons campaign. Official top ace of the war was Maj. Richard I. Bong of Poplar, Wis., who bagged 40 Jap planes.

Stocky and square jawed, Maj. Boyington sometimes was called the "bulldog of the air," but more generally referred to as "Pappy," because at 31 he was something of an ancient among his younger pilots.

Got Five in First Fight

Boyington liked nothing better than an aerial tangle with the Japs. The first time he led his marine squadron into action he downed five Jap planes in a single fight. On another he ran into 50 planes over Bougainville and got three in 60 seconds. Later in a fight with 20 he scored three again. Once he taunted the Japs on Bougainville to "come up and fight." They shot back, "Why don't you come down." He did, and got two planes on the ground. But the Japs never went up.

The last time Boyington was seen he was diving thru a cloud throwing 50 caliber bullets into his 26th victim in the midst of a formation of Zekes. Among the last to see him was Lt. Bruce J. Matheson of 10026 Indiana av.

At Seattle Gloria Boyington, 5, one of three children, wasn't a bit surprised when told that her daddy was alive. "I know it," she said. "I just said my prayers for him."

Curbs Lifted on Towels and Leather Items

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 [Special]—All wartime controls on production of bath towels in all sizes and weights for civilian use were removed today by the war production board.

Resrictions on the use of leather in luggage, handbags, belts, upholstery, wallets, slippers, and jackets also were removed. WPB chairman Krug added that sufficient leather now is available to increase civilian shoe production "substantially and rapidly."

The WPB also lifted restrictions on products manufactured from reclaimed and scrap rubber and all synthetic rubber except butyl. The action on rubber, it was said, means rubber toys will be in the stores for Christmas and that manufacture of golf balls can be started immediately.

Bath Mats Coming Back

Other familiar items due to return include bath mats, bathing and shower caps, combs, beach balls and bags, bottle stoppers, rubber gloves, soap dishes, dish drains and window wipers.

Two directives in its cotton conservation order were also revoked by the WPB. These had restricted the production of cotton sale yarn for the manufacture of duck and duck substitutes and had prevented the use of cotton yarn fabric for the non-military manufacture of airplane cloth and high count lawns.

The office of price administration announced that large quantities of cotton and rayon finished piece goods will be released for civilian use as a result of military cutbacks.

ODT Eases Restrictions

The office of defense transportation wiped from its books 61 special orders affecting major inter-city busline operations. They had to do with coördination of service and schedules among competing bus lines.

With rubber due to make its appearance in the Christmas toy market, government and industrial sources reported the Christmas toy supply will otherwise be what it was last year except that Christmas tree lights will again be available.

Release of critical materials for peace time manufacture has come too late, it was agreed, to make possible the production of more than a handful of tricycles, sleds, metal wagons, mechanical sets and such stand-bys of peace years.

In contrast to last year's ban on the manufacture of Christmas tree lights, the 1945 supply will reach 40 per cent of normal pre-war amounts, it was predicted. Tree ornaments will continue scarce, however, and there will be little tinsel due to the continuing scarcity of tin.

Hero of Corregidor to See Surrender with Freed Aids

MANILA, Aug. 29 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, American hero imprisoned by the Japanese since he surrendered Corregidor, today accepted an invitation of Gen. MacArthur to witness Japan's formal surrender in Tokyo bay Sunday. Wainwright arrived in Chungking, China, yesterday from a prison camp in Manchuria.

The presence of Wainwright aboard the battleship Missouri in Tokyo bay for the ceremony would offer a dramatic contrast to his grim experience in being forced to sign the capitulation of American forces in the Philippines early in 1942.

Leaves Chungking Tomorrow

The hero of Corregidor plans to leave Chungking by plane for Manila tomorrow [Thursday]. He will be accompanied by his chief of staff, Brig. Gen. Lewis C. Beebe, his aides, Lt. Col. John Pugh and Maj. Thomas Dooley, and his orderly and chauffeur, Sgt. John Carroll. They were captured with the generals at Corregidor.

Wainwright said in a message to MacArthur: "All this group were with me on the tragic day when I had to surrender, and I'm especially anxious that they be present when we accept the Japanese surrender. My highest personal regards to you."

Will Fly to Japan

A. E. Percival, British general who was forced to surrender Singapore, will also be aboard Wainwright's plane.

Before it became known that Percival would fly to Manila, MacArthur had said he hoped the British commander could be present to see Japan's surrender.

The Wainwright party will take a plane from Manila to join MacArthur in Japan.

STORY OF ARRIVAL

Here is the story of Gen. Wainwright's arrival in Chungking as pieced together from three news service dispatches and radio broadcasts:

An army C-47 plane settled down on the Chungking airport, and a tall, gaunt figure attired in a British enlisted man's trousers, cotton shirt, and sun helmet, bearing the stars of a lieutenant general, climbed slowly down the plane's ladder. It was Gen. Wainwright.

AIRMEN HOIST OLD GLORY OVER FIELD AT ATSUGI

OKINAWA, Aug. 29 [Wednesday] (AP)—The first American flag was raised over conquered Japan at 12:10 p. m. Tuesday [10:10 p. m. Monday, Chicago time] by a 5th air force radio unit.

The unit, known as the "Flying Circus," was sent along with the first air borne contingent to set up a radio tower for contact with the mass of troops arriving tomorrow.

Landing at 8:47 a. m., the "Flying Circus" less than four hours later hoisted Old Glory to the top of the radio antenna. There was no Japanese flag flying in the airdrome area.

Top ranking American airmen told of eating an elaborate luncheon of turtle soup and assorted sandwiches at Japanese field headquarters at the edge of Atsugi air field yesterday.

Flowers Adorn Table

"It was damned good soup, too," exclaimed Col. John H. Lackey Jr., veteran pilot of Norfolk, Va., who landed the first plane on the field.

The luncheon was served in a spotless frame building. Flowers adorned the table. Food was served to more than a score of American officers by Japanese waiters. Japanese officers ate in an adjoining room.

With Lackey in the first plane were Col. James T. Pettus Jr., St. Louis, Mo., and Col. Delbert Ward, San Antonio, Tex. They all expressed surprise at the Japanese attitude.

"They appeared to be doing their honest best to show they wanted to oblige," Ward said.

It appeared to Ward that the Japanese were relieved the war was over "but it still hasn't soaked in—it's hard for them to realize the seriousness of the defeat of their country."

No Bowing or Scraping

All agreed the Japanese conducted themselves in a military manner, saluting snappily but doing no bowing nor scraping. Few handshakes were exchanged.

Lackey termed the concrete surfaced Atsugi strip "the best Japanese built strip I have ever seen—it will take anything from B-29s on down."

The technicians preparing for mass landings tomorrow had little repair work to do. The Japanese had filled larger bomb craters and marked smaller unrepaired holes with red flags.

All Japanese army personnel had been removed from the area, which was guarded by unarmed naval units. Japanese MPs carried clubs

7,500 Sky Troopers Fly Today from Okinawa

IN TOKYO BAY, Aug. 29 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Adm. Halsey, who wants to ride Emperor Hirohito's white horse thru Tokyo, steamed into Tokyo bay today at the head of his United States 3d fleet. His flagship, the mighty 45,000 ton battleship Missouri, on which Japan will sign surrender articles on Sunday, entered the bay at 7:08 a. m. [5:08 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago time].

A dispatch said Gen. MacArthur had arrived on Okinawa from Manila on his way to make a triumphal entry into Japan on Thursday. MacArthur will take off from Okinawa early Thursday [Wednesday evening Chicago time] to fly with 7,500 American occupation troops to the Atsugi air field, 18 miles southwest of Tokyo. At Okinawa he watched the loading of these troops.

Halsey rode the Missouri into the bay as great sea and air borne forces were poised for large scale occupation landings, backed by warships massing from as far away as the Aleutians.

The occupation landings are scheduled to begin at 6 a. m. Thursday [4 p. m. Wednesday, Chicago time]. Among the first landings will be those on three islands guarding Yokosuka naval base in the bay.

Move from Sagami Bay

The Missouri was the first of the capital ships in Halsey's huge armada to pass from Sagami bay around Miura peninsula and thru Uraga strait into Tokyo bay. The fleet had been anchored in Sagami bay, 30 miles south of Tokyo, for two days.

Closely following the Missouri were three escorting destroyers, the Nicholas, O'Bannon and Taylor, all of which hold Presidential unit citations for heroic action since the early days of the war.

The battleship Iowa and South Dakota followed. The South Dakota is to serve as Adm. Nimitz' flagship while he is here to sign at the formal ceremony Sunday for the United States.

Accompanying the South Dakota were the destroyers Buchanan, Landsdowne and Lardner.

Next in the giant navy parade came the British battleship Duke of York, flagship of Adm. Bruce Fraser. Accompanying her were two British destroyers.

Fly Battle Flags

The warships flew huge battle flags and the crews were in battle dress at action stations.

The Missouri entered waters which only a few weeks ago were protected by 116 major caliber coastal guns. That artillery, under the terms of surrender, had been neutralized. The warships reduced speed from 10 knots and steamed at six knots during the entry.

The big warships, headed by the Missouri, anchored off Yokohama—bomb shattered port of Tokyo. In the distance appeared the shapes of buildings which presumably were those of Tokyo, approximately 20 miles away.

The big 3d fleet units were greeted by the flashing lights of Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger's task force 31 which had preceded them on Tuesday.

The ships speeded up for the final lap of the run to anchorage off Yokosuka.

Ten Thousand Ready to Land

Nimitz announced at Guam that four fleet and three amphibious forces—the full strength of the fighting forces under his command—will participate in the surrender, landings, and patrols of the Japanese empire.

Badger's flagship, the cruiser San Diego, and eight other ships were the first vessels of Halsey's 3d fleet to enter Tokyo bay from Sagami at 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

About 10,000 marines and blue-

6,219 Prisoners Near Freedom

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

5TH AIR FORCE HDQS., OKINAWA, Aug. 28—Col. Delbert R. Ward, San Antonio, Tex., air engineer with the 5th air force, returned from Atsugi air field near Tokyo tonight bringing word of plans for evacuation of war prisoners.

The Japs told the American delegation that prison camps within 10 miles of Atsugi contain 6,125 allied military personnel and 94 civilian internees. Ward said he understood most of these are Americans. Of the military men, 417 are hospital cases.

The Japs said the prisoners would be brought to the air field in trucks on Thursday for immediate evacuation to Okinawa or Manila.

Reports 5,000 Ill

WITH U. S. FLEET UNITS IN TOKYO BAY, Aug. 28 (AP)—A Swiss representative of the International Red Cross told Rear Adm. Oscar C. Badger today that of 34,000 American prisoners held in Japan, 5,000 might be considered in a sick condition. He said dysentery was quite prevalent among the prisoners.

The representative was told the navy would be ready to supply food for prisoners, particularly milk and sugar.

The navy has a full plan ready for the rescue and the evacuation of American prisoners as soon as the marines go ashore. There are some camps near Yokosuka, where the marines will land, and the marines expect to reach the Americans immediately after going ashore.

Prisoners Refuse to Obey

San Francisco, Aug. 28 (AP)—Prisoners of war and internees in Japan have begun refusing to obey Japanese prison camp authorities, the Japanese government reported today in a message to Gen. MacArthur.

Japan asked him to issue orders to the allied nationals to obey their leaders and maintain order.

The report said prisoners held in the Kobe camp have refused since Aug. 19 to listen to orders of the camp authorities, ran away in small groups, broke into storehouses and stole canned foods and beer and entered civilian homes and annoyed women and girls.

jackets were expected to go ashore today at Yokosuka—Japan's second greatest and most secret naval base—from warships in Tokyo bay. [A broadcast from Tokyo bay said the landings will start at 10 a. m. Thursday Tokyo time (8 p. m. Wednesday Chicago time) at Yokosuka.]

Some marines were to go ashore on three small islands in Tokyo bay at Futtsu point. This possible preliminary maneuver would determine whether fortifications dominating the bay had been abandoned by the Japanese, as ordered.

Japanese naval ship pilots who guided the small naval force that entered Tokyo bay yesterday, as well as those for the main fleet at anchor in adjacent Sagami bay, disclosed for the first time how thoroly their nation has been beaten, even before the atomic bomb blasted the will to resist.

They pictured to correspondents a nation hungry, its air force grounded for lack of fuel and its transportation system wrecked by the incessant bombings before the atomic terror was loosed upon Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Destroyer Explodes Mine

The Japanese pilots said the waters had been cleared of mines, but Badger took no chances and sent two minesweepers on ahead. One of his destroyers exploded an unswept mine.

Behind the San Diego came the destroyers Yarnall, Twining, Stockham, and Wedderburn, the high speed destroyer-transport Gosselin, with marine landing parties and correspondents, and the seaplane tenders Suisun, Mackinac, and Gardiner's Bay.

Crews manned battle stations as the ships in single file steamed thru Uraga straight, along whose frowning shores white flags waved above the 116 coastal guns that once guarded the vital waterway.

'No Runs, No Hits, No Errors'

Badger injected a note of laconic humor to the noneventful passage by his message to Halsey reporting: "No runs, no hits, no errors."

The initial force anchored a few hundred yards off Yokosuka naval base. Yokosuka and the great port city of Yokohama, also plainly in view, were in ruins from repeated air attacks.

The Japanese were surrendering the last remnants of their navy. Two submarines, with American prize crews aboard, passed Badger's force during its run into the bay. The submarines were taken over yesterday north of Tokyo.

Wrecks of Japanese warships jutted from the bay around the anchored American ships.

Other identified wrecks included the cruisers Asama and Kasuga, the former low in the water with a hole in her side and the latter capsized.

Fletcher Ready to Move

ADAK, Aleutians, Aug. 28 (AP)—The escort carriers, cruisers, and destroyers of Vice Adm. Fletcher's North Pacific naval force prepared today to start for Japan. Its destination has not been announced, but observers here assumed it would participate in taking over parts of northern Japan. Fletcher's force was used largely in the war against the Japanese Kuriles, since occupied by the Russians as far south as Matsuwa.

Japs Ask Conference

MANILA, Aug. 29 [Wednesday]—(AP)—Japanese imperial headquarters sent a last hour message to Gen. MacArthur asking for another conference before the full dress signing of the surrender document, but there was no indication the supreme allied commander had replied.

The Japanese said they wanted to "obtain full understanding in advance on certain points regarding the manner and stages of executing the terms."

They also declared their residents in Korea, where events had taken "a sudden turn for the worse," were in "imminent danger" and that their commanders in southern Korea "eagerly await the arrival of allied forces" to take over and "maintain peace and order."

Gen. Stilwell ordered Japanese commanders in the Ryukyus, the strategic islands south of Japan proper, to get in contact immediately with his United States 10th army headquarters on Okinawa and arrange to surrender.

In the Philippines, arrangements proceeded for the surrender of 10,000 Japanese troops who fled into the uncharted wilds of the Sierra Madre mountains of eastern Luzon.

Table Is Ventilator Top

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—A ship's ventilator head on the battleship Missouri will serve as the "table" on which Japan's emissaries will sign her formal surrender on Sunday [Saturday, Chicago time].

Lt. Robinson F. MacLean, Los Angeles, Cal., navy photographer who returned to Washington today from covering operations of the fleet off Japan said those were the plans when he left the Missouri, Aug. 20.

The ventilator head, 8 feet in diameter, is just outside the captain's cabin. The ship's bridge and superstructure will provide vantage points from which the ceremony can be watched.

Missouri Seeks Food

SAGAMI BAY, Aug. 28—American ships today received a message from the battleship Missouri saying that the warship needed 12 hams, 12 quarts of green olives, and 10 pounds of sugar confections for the surrender ceremonies.

DEMANDS PROBE OF KURILE ISLES SEIZURE BY REDS

Shafer Asks If Secret Treaty Is Involved

3 More of Chain Seized

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—Russian occupation forces, moving toward Japan proper, seized three more islands of the Kurile chain today in a 375 mile overwater leap and completed the occupation of Sakhalin Island, Moscow announced.

Total Russian occupation of Sakhalin Island by Gen. Maxim Purkaev's 2d far eastern army brought soviet forces within 26 miles north of the Japanese home island of Hokkaido. Amphibious forces at the same time took over Shimushiru, Uruppu, and Etorofu Islands in the southern Kuriles.

Only one island and several smaller stepping stones to Hokkaido remain to be occupied in the Kurile chain.

BY WILLIAM STRAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—Russian occupation of the Japanese Kurile Islands off the Asiatic coast, only 750 miles from the Aleutians, is being watched closely here in diplomatic and military circles, it was learned today.

Soviet bulletins have carried only a few bare announcements of the landings in the strategic chain, which began more than a week ago, by Dictator Stalin's paratroopers. There never has been any indication of an allied military plan or agreement for Russia's descent on the islands days before American occupation of the enemy's homeland was scheduled to begin.

Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.] said in an interview he will demand an investigation by congress to determine whether the soviet move was based on a secret treaty between allied leaders. He noted that the Russians chose to make their bid for the island chain at a time when American forces were occupied with final arrangements for the formal Japanese surrender.

Wants to Know Why

"Until our post-war policy toward all islands in the Pacific is definitely established by congress," he asserted, "any development such as this one is certainly the concern of our government. The Kuriles are only a short distance by military plane flight standards from the Aleutians. We should know by what right Stalin has started to take over these islands."

A recent report of the house naval affairs committee demanded that the United States receive outright possession of strategic island bases in the Pacific necessary for its defense. The committee urged construction of defense fortifications in the Aleutians and Kuriles to secure the northern flank of a protective belt of outposts extending southward thru the Hawaiian Islands, and the Marshalls, Carolines, and Marianas to the Admiralties and Samoa.

The first Russian air borne operation against the Kuriles was carried out in connection with soviet seizure of the historic Yellow sea ports of Dairen and Port Arthur which Japan wrested from Russia in 1905.

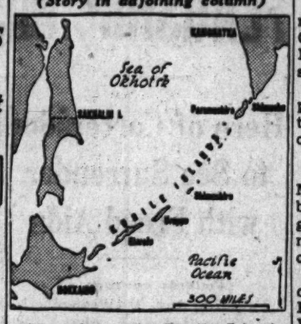
First of Chain to Fall

The island of Shimushu, northernmost of the Kuriles, was the first of the chain to fall. It lies across the narrow strait from the Japanese naval base at Paramushiru, frequent war target of Aleutian based American bombers. Before the Jap capitulation there had been wide speculation over the possibility of American forces from the Aleutians landing in the Kuriles to secure bases north of the Jap home islands comparable to Okinawa on the south.

The Kuriles extend northwest from the northern Jap island of Hokkaido to the southern tip of the Russian peninsula, Kamchatka. They control the entrance into Okhotsk sea from the Pacific and command the channel from the open sea to the Russian port of Vladivostok.

In Russian Hands

(Story in adjoining column)



Map shows the Kurile Islands, whose occupation by the Russians was a subject of speculation on their future status yesterday in Washington. The Russians, meanwhile, announced occupation of three more isles in the group: Shimushiri, Uruppu, and Etorofu.

CHICAGOAN OWNS JAP PAINTING OF VISIT BY PERRY

News pictures of United States warships entering Tokyo bay bring into historic interest a rare water color owned by Walter B. Wolf, 900 Sunset dr., Winnetka, a Chicago attorney, showing two of Commodore Perry's frigates riding at anchor in what is now Yokohama harbor in 1854.

The picture, by Hiroshige, noted Japanese artist described by Lafcadio Hearn as the "poet of rain, mist, and snow," is one of only 10 or 11 of his water colors known to exist, and the only one depicting an historical subject.

It shows the frigates with all sails furled and one firing a broadside, with two communications gigs en route from the flagship to other fleet units not shown. The painting was presented to Wolf three years ago by S. H. Mori, oriental art dealer. Wolf is contemplating presenting it to the Smithsonian institution, Washington, D. C., for its historical interest.

Wolf was chief of staff to Gen. MacArthur in World War I. with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

and officers carried their traditional swords.

A number of colonels, including E. K. Warburton, of Westboro, Mass., who became base commander of Atsugi upon landing, conferred on the field with a Japanese lieutenant general while Japanese newspapermen and cameramen swarmed about "thick as fleas," Ward said.

SHUN 'GARDEN PARTY'

BY RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

ABOARD A NAVY HELL DIVER OVER ATSUGI AIR FIELD, Aug. 28 (AP)—American officers dressed in work clothes were greeted on Atsugi airdrome today by Japanese generals resplendent in full dress uniforms with clanking samurai swords and beribboned blouses.

Two navy torpedo bombers landed on the air field 20 miles southwest of Tokyo shortly after Gen. MacArthur's advance contingent of key men stepped out of olive drab transport planes.

Later, Comdr. Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, and Comdr. Douglas Moulton, of Adm. Halsey's staff, arrived to join discussions.

Lt. [j. g.] H. W. [Willie] Forsgren, pilot, circled this Hell Diver around the field as the big troop transports of the army dropped down to land.

Fuji in Back Ground

Behind the field and to the left, Mount Fuji rose dark against the bright blue of the sky, and in tiny gardens surrounding Atsugi, Japanese worked steadily, looking up only as planes came in.

Supervisor of the first landing operations was Capt. Warren Dean, Highland Park, Ill., with Lt. Martin W. Waring, Chattanooga, Tenn., as his assistant.

Lt. Comdr. Don Thorburn, former New York advertising man who is public relations officer aboard the Shangri-La, Vice Adm. McCain's flagship, rode in one of the navy torpedo bombers landing on the strip.

Thorburn, who later returned with a patrol flight, said the Japanese tried to present "a garden party" atmosphere, leading navy envoys and army men to a pavilion where orangeade was served by scurrying Japanese orderlies.

Sign on Jap Truck

"When we first landed," Thorburn said, "the Japs had a little truck with a sign on it, 'Follow Me,' but we went in the other direction toward our own people.

"Those Japs certainly had everything organized just like a lawn party. Lt. Gen. Eizo Arisuye of the Jap army general staff was the liaison committee chairman and the vice chairman was Lt. Gen. Seiyichi Kemata.

"We were given a mimeographed sheet which listed those serving on the committee. Among its functions was one titled 'Reception, general affairs, and matters concerning Atsugi air field, and other information in general.'

"There also was a press relations officer, Toshiro Shimanouchi, who was reportedly graduated from Occidental college, Los Angeles, and Stanford university.

Two Russians Appear

"While we were there a Russian who had been interned arrived at the field in full uniform. He was Commodore Anatolyi Rodionov, naval attache. With him was K. Samolio, representative of Tass soviet news agency.

"We were taken on a tour of facilities and the Jap general was apologetic because the plumbing would not work in one of the buildings."

"One of the Jap officers seemed concerned about the social status after occupation," another flyer interposed. "He asked me if I thought that Americans and Japs would be allowed to intermingle and 'we got to know each other' after occupation."

American officers discussed business under pavilion tents, in easy chairs, on tables spread with white linen. The Americans were surprised at the peculiar "party reception" atmosphere which the Japanese tried unsuccessfully to create.

PARLEY ON MALAYA SURRENDER TODAY ABOARD WARSHIP

RANGOON, Burma, Aug. 28 (AP)—Making the first surrender contact with the rich lands of Malaya, British officers today ordered the Japanese-German submarine base of Penang, 375 miles northwest of Singapore, to meet with them tomorrow.

Submarine base [arrow]

The order went out as Japanese envoys left Rangoon after signing preliminary agreements preparing the way for allied reoccupation of Singapore, all southeast Asia, and the East Indies.

Authorities here prepared to receive liberated allied prisoners of war, estimated to number 150,000, to be flown from camps over the vast enemy held area.

The Japanese at Penang, an island just off the west coast of British Malaya, were ordered to rendezvous at 11 a. m. tomorrow with the British aboard the flagship Nelson north of the island.

[A Reuters dispatch stated that a Japanese naval officer already had boarded the flagship Nelson at Penang.]

PEACE STRANDS HUGE U. S. ARMS DEPOT IN INDIA

Chicagoan in Charge of Vast Stores

CALCUTTA, India, Aug. 28 (AP)—A giant ammunition depot supplying all the allied forces in China, Burma, and India stands "somewhere in India" as a veritable monument to war's waste.

The 129,464 tons of explosives it contains were a priceless asset of the fighting forces until Japan's surrender. Overnight they became worth a small fraction of their original cost, estimated at between $50,000,000 and $82,000,000.

Like all stores of American ammunition on foreign soil, this dump has now become a vexing problem to army authorities who must decide upon its disposition.

Chicagoan in Charge

Lt. Col. Raymond C. Constabile, 2710 S. St. Louis av., Chicago, ammunition supply officer in charge, declined to speculate on the salvage possibilities. Presumably some of the explosives might be returned to the United States.

Much of the explosives probably will be dumped into the ocean where they can do no harm. Constabile estimated it would take six years to detonate the contents of the entire dump bit by bit in conformity with safety.

Everything but A-Bombs

The depot sprawls over 9.7 square miles of land, and is described by Constabile as one of the largest in the world. That probably is why the exact location still cannot be disclosed for publication. Built by the British, it has 54 miles of concrete highway and 5.7 miles of railway track.

The stores range from rifle ammunition to 4,000 pound blockbuster bombs—"everything but atomic bombs." There are 756,000 land mines, 75,000 tons of aerial bombs and 76,000 steel-cased howitzer shells.

2 JAP ADMIRALS AND 2 GENERALS LOST AT SAIPAN

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

PEARL HARBOR, Aug. 28—Four of Japan's ranking military, it is now disclosable, died during the American capture of Saipan.

The enemy quartet included two admirals, one of whom commanded the Japanese fleet Pearl Harbor attack and the batle of Midway, and two generals. Three of the four took their own lives in traditional Japanese fashion, altho one of them, reportedly, was momentarily unsuccessful and an adjutant shot him in the head.

Four Are Listed

The four officers were Vice Adm. Tadaichi Nagumo, commander in chief of the fleet in the Pearl Harbor attack and the battle of Midway; Rear Adm. Tsujimura, base unit commander at Saipan; Lt. Gen. Saito, commanding general of the Saipan forces and, Maj. Gen. Kajima, identified as commander of the garrison troops on the Marianas island of Pagan. Nagumo's death was previously disclosed by Adm. Nimitz' announcement.

Nagumo, who at one time commanded the big Sasebo naval base with Tsujimura, committed hara kiri shortly before noon July 7 half an hour before the American troops smashed an enemy counter-attack. The scene of the suicides was in a school house near a ravine on the western side of the island two miles from Marpi point where several Japanese civilians plunged into the sea.

Shot by Adjutant

Saito, reportedly, died the day before his troops counter-attacked and managed to break thru the American lines. The location of his death was in the vicinity of a hill east of Matausa village. It said his first efforts to commit hara kiri by disembowelling were unsuccessful whereupon his adjutant shot him thru his right temple with the general's own pistol.

The fourth suicide, Maj. Gen. Kajima, apparently was visiting Saipan for a conference when caught by the invasion. His death came early in the morning of July 10 when a four-man army machine gun crew stationed on a hill above Garapan heard noises and made out a party of Japs several yards away. The Americans soldiers began firing their carbines and later found four Jap bodies. One was Kajima.

CHINESE COMMUNIST CHIEF IN CHUNGKING TO TALK WITH CHIANG

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 28 (AP)—Chinese communist leader Mao Tse-tung arrived today and prepared for talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek in an effort to avert civil war and possibly promote a coalition government in China.

Mao arrived by plane in the company of Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, United States ambassador to China, who flew to Yenan, the communist capital, yesterday to fetch the communist leader and guarantee his safety.

The communist chieftain's trip coincided with a six point Communist party program offered by Yenan. The Communist party executive committee called for immediate establishment of a coalition government and the election of a national assembly and said it was willing to coöperate with Chiang's Kuomintang party.

ELLIOTT NETTED MILLION IN PAY, LOANS AND FEES

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—A total in excess of $1,175,000 was garnered from various sources by Elliott Roosevelt, second son of the late President, in the 12 year period between his graduation from Groton prep school at the age of 18 and his entrance into the army at the age of 30, evidence before the house ways and means committee revealed today.

This amount includes the loans of more than $800,000 which are under investigation by the committee. But Elliott also collected approximately $375,000 in salaries, sales, and settlements for an average of more than $30,000 annually to make an amazing success story.

Retired from the army with a brigadier general's rank two weeks ago, Elliott is now reported at 34 ready to resume his spectacular financial career, asserting he can show the world that his previous large income was not due to White House prestige. He was receiving $76,000 a year, more than his late father, when commissioned a captain in October, 1940.

Mother, James Got More

Only Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, his mother, and James Roosevelt, his older brother, have eclipsed Elliott in profitable employment of their talents while the late President Roosevelt held office. Elliott stands alone, of course, in borrowing skill, according to the tale being unfolded before the committee.

That story, Chairman Doughton, [D., N. C.], said may not be disclosed in detail until the house convenes next week and a formal report is delivered to Speaker Rayburn. It will be centered about the $200,000 loan contrived by Elliott from John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, on which Hartford took a $196,000 loss, when former Commerce Secretary Jones settled the loan for $4,000 which he paid out of his own pocket.

Asks Quick Report

In a telegram to Doughton, Elliott today urged the committee to make the full report public immediately to avoid "continued speculation and erroneous stories" based upon "partial versions" of the testimony. Elliott's telegram, datelined Beverly Hills, Cal., and released by Randolph Paul, Elliott's Washington lawyer, read:

"In view of the press reports purporting to give a parital version of the testimony taken by the treasury department concerning my financial transactions, I respectfully urge that the committee make public the full report immediately. Naturally I am not cognizant of testimony other than my own, but I feel strongly that the American people have a right to know all the facts and to hear all the evidence in connection with the reports.

Fears Further 'Distortion'

"If the full statement is not made available immediately to the public, continued speculation and erroneous stories can only further distort the facts."

Doughton told newspapermen he would bring the request before the committee tomorrow, in executive session.

Since Hartford has attempted to deduct the $196,000 loss from his income tax and Elliott has not reported the $200,000 as income, the American tax payer stands to take the rap, Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.] noted unless publicity given the committee report forces the treasury to make a definite ruling. Under a Supreme court ruling, Knutson remarked, it would appear that Elliott should be made to pay taxes upon the $200,000 as income.

Testimony before the committee yesterday revealed that the loan was made with the approval of President Roosevelt who also brought Jesse Jones into the picture to straighten out Elliott's financial affairs in 1942. As long ago as 1934, the evidence shows, Elliott was seeking the advice and counsel of his father in carving out a fortune for himself.

This was when Elliott made an agreement with Anthony Fokker to sell military planes disguised as commercial types to the soviet union at an expected profit of $1,000,000, half of which was to go to the 24 year old Roosevelt. That deal fell thru and Elliott received only $5,000 as a fee but the evidence before the Nye investigating committee revealed Elliott in consultation with the President about the deal. Elliott denied this evidence at the time just as he branded as "an infamous lie" the charge, now substantiated, that the late Mr. Roosevelt approved the $200,000 Hartford loan.

Elliott dropped the idea of college when he emerged from fashionable Groton in 1929. He went into the advertising firm of Albert Frank & Co. In 1932, he transferred to the advertising firm of Kelly, Nason & Roosevelt as a partner. His income during these early years did not go above the $10,000 mark.

Enters Plane Business

In 1933, when his father entered the White House, Elliott left the advertising business altho he reported at the time that he was offered $40,000 a year to remain. He became general manager of the Gilpin Airlines, owned by a friend of the Roosevelt family and the following year, at the tender age of 23, was elected a vice president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce with a $10,000 a year salary and a $5,000 expense account.

About the same time, Elliott was hired by William Randolph Hearst, one of President Roosevelt's severest critics, to be aviation editor of the Hearst papers at a reputed $15,000 salary. In 1935, he struck gold when he entered the radio business as vice president in charge of sales of the Southwest Broadcasting company. He immediately arranged for the sale of four Texas stations in the network to Hearst Radio, Inc., receiving a $30,000 commission and a vice president's job at $20,000 a year with the Hearst firm.

Elliott's firm financial status was indicated in 1937 when he bought a radio station in his wife's name for $57,500. He purchased a ranch near Fort Worth, Tex. He obtained 30 adjoining acres, valued at $1,000 an acre, from the owner, Tom Owens, oil man, for $9,000 by telling Owens that the President planned to settle there after he retired from the White House.

Formed Radio Chain

In 1938 Elliott was one of the incorporators of a Texas state network of 23 stations. It lost $100,000 in the first three months. Charles F. Roeser and Sid W. Richardson, oil operators, were induced to invest $500,000. They took over the business when Elliott went into the army in 1940. At that time he was receiving $24,000 a year as president and $1,000 a week from a toothpowder company for weekly comment programs.

In 1939 Elliott formed the Transcontinental Broadcasting company as a rival to the existing national networks. It never opened. In the liquidation proceedings, approved in a Delaware court in 1941, he received $33,438 as his share. He had claimed $70,000 as the amount he put into the network.

In addition to loans already mentioned, the committee is investigating the following: $70,000 from David G. Baird, New York insurance man, made in 1939 and reportedly settled in 1941 for $29,800; $50,000 from Maxwell M. Bilofsky, New Jersey radio equipment manufacturer, made in 1939 and reportedly settled in 1941 for $20,800.

NAVAL ACADEMY TO SPUR STUDY OF AERONAUTICS

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 28 (AP)—Vice Adm. Aubrey W. Fitch, new superintendent of the United States Naval academy, said today that "after this year every man who graduates from the naval academy either is going to become an aviator or is going to have a lot of knowledge of and a great respect for air power."

Fitch, first airman to head the institution, has its academic board working on plans for a department of aeronautics, construction of a land plane airport near Annapolis, and enlargement of the present seaplane base.

All courses related to aviation will be combined in the new department, which he hopes to have in operation within a year. Several aviation subjects are scattered thru other departments at present.

Middies desiring to take up aviation must pass flight and physical tests, and after their initial "hitch" of sea duty upon graduation, will be given an opportunity to take flight training at the Pensacola, Fla., naval air training station.

MEXICAN ROBS 2 U. S. WOMEN; KILLS 1 OF THEM

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 28 (AP)—Two American women were shot and one of them killed yesterday outside Cuernavaca by one of their two Mexican escorts who the surviving woman said also robbed them.

The woman killed was identified by the police as Mrs. Molly McClagherty, also known as Mrs. Molly McClagherty Price, of San Antonio, and Corpus Christi, Tex. Her companion said she is Elinor Schuster, Clifton, N. J. Miss Schuster was shot three times, but attending surgeons said today that she is out of danger.

Miss Schuster said she and Mrs. McClagherty with the two men made an auto trip to a convent 10 miles from Cuernavaca. On their return the party stopped to search for a spring and one of the men shot her. When she turned around, she said, she found Mrs. McClagherty dead on the ground near the car.

U. S. TO REMOVE TROOPS FROM BRAZIL QUICKLY

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 28 (AP)—Adolf A. Berle Jr., United States ambassador to Brazil, said today the United States plans the withdrawal of all army forces stationed in Brazil as soon as bases can be transferred after completing transportation for returning troops from Europe.

Headquarters for United States army forces in the south Atlantic at Recife will be closed as soon as practicable, he said, adding that the United States will provide such technical assistance as may be useful to Brazilians as bases are progressively handed over. The principal bases are at Recife, Natal, Belem and Fortaleza.

Berle said naval withdrawl already was well forward. Buildings and other permanent installations will be left intact, he said.

New Stamp Hailing Army Will Go on Sale Sept. 28

Washington, D. The central design of the stamp is a reproduction of the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, thru which hundreds of American soldiers are marching.

DIRECTOR DENIES PLAN TO SCRAP RUBBER PLANTS

Stanley T. Crossland, executive director of the Reconstruction Finance corporation office of rubber reserve, declared yesterday in Washington, D. C., that the government has no intention of scrapping its multimillion dollar synthetic program developed during the war.

Crossland said "substantial amounts" of synthetics would continue to be made, altho there might be a cutback in production after a war production board "survey of domestic and world needs," now that military requirements have slackened.

The disclosures, made in telephone conversation with THE TRIBUNE in Chicago, followed reports that the government was canceling all orders for alcohol, which is one of the ingredients that can be used along with petroleum for the manufacture of butadiene, a hydrocarbon from which synthetic rubber is made.

Confirms Alcohol Cutbacks

Crossland confirmed reports that the defense supplies service had ordered cancellation of the alcohol orders as of Aug. 1 and gave as the reason abundant supplies of alcohol maintained in the pool operated by DSS for the federal synthetic program.

The first intimation such orders were being halted came from the Ontario Paper company, a Tribune subsidiary at Thorold, Ont., where the world's first plant of its kind had been built as a war aid measure to convert waste sulphite liquor into alcohol for synthetic tire manufacture. Arthur A. Schmon, president of Ontario, said he was notified last week by the war production board that the firm's contract with the government for further alcohol deliveries had been canceled.

Cutbacks to Be Expected

Crossland said some cutback in the synthetic program must be expected now that the war is over and raw rubber will be available from the Dutch East Indies and other rubber centers.

The fact alcohol used in synthetic rubber manufacture cost the government around 70 cents a gallon and raised the butadiene cost to approximately 38 cents a pound was cited by one rubber man as a possible explanation for cancellation of alcohol orders.

He added that butadiene made from petroleum could be processed for less than 15 cents a pound.

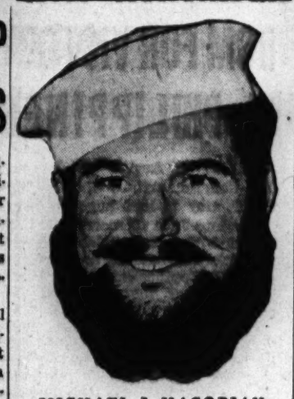
The wholesale alcohol cancellations, he maintained, were probably the result of an economy move to take the synthetic rubber program out of what he termed an "emergency category" and place it on a more businesslike basis.

Crossland insisted, however, that in future synthetic rubber production both petroleum and alcohol processes would be used.

Syria to Join Other Arabs in Opposition to Zionism

DAMASCUS, Syria, Aug. 28 (AP)—Premier Faris el Khoury said today his new Syrian government would collaborate with sister Arab states against "any new Zionist ambitions in Palestine." The premier also told the chamber of deputies he planned to seek evacuation of foreign troops from Syrian soil.

Home with Beard



MICHAEL J. HAGOPIAN

Petty Officer 2d Class Michael Hagopian, 30, of 2151 N. Parkside av., who has been in the navy since Nov. 11, 1942, yesterday visited old friends in the county building, where he had been employed for three years as a deputy under Clerk Frank Lyman in the Probate court. His face was adorned with a 10 month growth of beard, which, after showing his friends, he shaved off. Next week he is scheduled to report to the west coast for duty in the Pacific. Hagopian is one of four brothers in the service. The others are Sgt. George, Corp. Charles, and Chief Petty Officer John.

GULF HURRICANE DAMAGE RUNS INTO MILLIONS

Houston, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP)—An enormous task of relief and rehabilitation occupied a 300 mile stretch of the central Texas coast tonight as one of the most destructive hurricanes in Gulf coast history blew itself out in east Texas.

Early estimates placed crop and property damage in the millions of dollars. From some of the hardest hit sections, still isolated, there had been no word. Battered sea level communities down the fertile, well populated coast sent fragmentary reports that drew a bleak picture of wrecked towns, hundreds homeless, crops destroyed. Three persons were dead, and at least 12 injured.

Damage to the western end of the Texas rice crop was estimated in millions of dollars. Thruout the stricken region the Red Cross fed and cared for thousands of persons. From Victoria, 90 miles southwest of here, came a report that seawater had risen over Matagorda island in some places, and that 10 enlisted men and an officer marooned on the island fought off hundreds of rattle snakes that sought safety on high sand dunes.

Congressman Refuses $2,500 Expense Allowance

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Weiss [D., Pa.], who voted against the $2,500 annual expense allowance for house members, waived his right to it today. Replying to a letter from House Sergeant-at-Arms Kenneth Romney asking him to sign and return monthly vouchers in order to receive payment, Weiss instructed Romney to return the money to the treasury instead. Weiss said the tax exemption features of the allowance are "special privilege" for congressmen.

DEMAND PUBLIC GET 'REAL' STORY OF PEARL HARBOR

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—Demands for immediate public disclosure of the facts of the Pearl Harbor disaster were made on Capitol hill today after publication of reports that secret documents exist proving President Roosevelt knew the Japanese planned an attack on American forces.

The reports were contained in "Human Events," a Washington news letter which predicted "shocking disclosures" regarding the Pearl Harbor story would result if army and navy investigation reports were made public, or if a congressional investigation were undertaken.

Members of the house and senate military committees, commenting on the news letter—contents of which were published by THE TRIBUNE today—said the facts should be made known either at a public court martial of the officers involved, or before a special congressional investigating committee.

Officials Refuse Comment

Requests were made today to War Secy. Stimson, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Marshall, and Navy Secy. Forrestal, who was undersecretary at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, for statements on the "Human Events" reports. Each request brought a terse "no comment."

The news letter said the documents alleged to show the late President's prior knowledge of the Japanese attack—altho it was said he did not know it would be at Pearl Harbor—were in the hands of the Republican party during the last Presidential election, but that party leaders withheld them for security reasons.

"I know for a certainty that the information was at hand," Rep. Shafer [R., Mich.], member of the house military committee, said in an interview today.

Asks Public Trial

"The only way to bring the matter out in the open now is by a public trial of the Pearl Harbor commanders."

The Pearl Harbor commanders were Rear Adm. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Short. Both were relieved of their commands and both have unsuccessfully sought trial by court martial.

Rep. Short [R., Mo.], another house military member, told a reporter he was "not at all surprised" to hear of the reported existence of documents indicating President Roosevelt was aware an attack was planned.

Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.] of the senate military committee told a reporter the information in The Tribune story made an immediate congressional investigation necessary.

'Jap Suicide Plane, Seized on Okinawa, to Be Shown

A Jap suicide plane, the first released by the navy for public inspection, will be an attraction aboard the LST 512 beginning at noon Sunday when a free, 10 day exhibition of the LST begins near the Michigan av. bridge. The plane, captured on Okinawa, is a high speed, rocket propelled flying torpedo which carries its pilot to death, whether or not he strikes his target.

MOVE FOR PACT TO GIVE PLANES LANDING RIGHTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 28—The council of the provisional International Civil Aviation organization today took the first step toward getting commerical landing rights guaranteed for trans-oceanic air liners. On a motion by Dr. F. H. Copes Van Hasselt of the Netherlands, the council agreed unanimously "that each member state be asked to supply its general views on the granting of commerical rights and conditions incidental thereto." This information is to be used for the guidance of the council's air transport committee which will begin sessions in Montreal Oct. 3.

Dr. Van Hasselt's motion confirms the fact that the council intends to reopen the knotty problem of international air rights which was bypassed at the International Civil Aviation conference in Chicago last fall.

Great Britain insists on drastic reservations on the number and size of aircraft to be allowed on the international routes, with the idea that such restrictions will allow the United Kingdom to "catch up" with America in air transport production. The United States pledged itself to complete freedom of the skies.

Moscow Announces Trade Agreement with Hungary

WAINWRIGHT TO SEE SURRENDER ON BATTLESHIP

Corregidor Hero Will Join MacArthur

commander in China, was the first to greet him.

"Gen. Wainwright, welcome," he said. "I'm Wedemeyer."

Wainwright replied: "How do you do, sir?"

After a pause Wedemeyer asked, "How do you feel?"

"I'm all right," replied Wainwright.

Then the returned hero was handed a radioed photograph of his wife bearing the inscription in her handwriting, "I am very happy today. Waiting impatiently for your return. We are all well. Best love to you. Kitty M. W."

The general was obviously moved. But his only sign of emotion was a happy smile as he walked to a waiting car, clutching the picture. Every now and again he glanced at it.

Hopes to See Jap General

Told of Gen. MacArthur's invitation to him to witness the surrender of Japan, Wainwright said he hoped Japanese Gen. Masaharu Homma, to whom he capitulated at Corregidor, will be present when the Japanese sign the final documents.

Wainwright also will be allowed to supervise the surrender of Gen. Yamashita when the commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines gives up in northern Luzon. NBC's Merrill Mueller reported in a broadcast from Okinawa.

Seven other American generals whose names cannot yet be disclosed, seven British generals and about 16 other American, British and Dutch military and civilian internees arrived in Chungking with Wainwright.

Expresses His Gratitude

F. Tillman Durdin of the New York Times said that shortly afterward Wainwright appeared at a press conference newly garbed in regulation army summer khaki with which he had been hurriedly outfitted, and expressed his gratitude for the way the United States had accepted his surrender in the Philippines.

"I have had little contact with the outside world but what little I have had has caused me to believe that the administration, the war department, and the American people have accepted my dire disaster with a forebearance and generosity greater than any in the experience of any other defeated commander," Wainwright said. "My gallant troops carried out their defense in perhaps more overwhelming and dismal circumstances than troops of the American army have ever confronted in the history of that army."

Worries About Son

Referring to the radioed photograph and message from his wife, the first news he had had of her in a year and a half, he said: "It has made me very happy. I have a sea captain son I haven't heard anything about. I hope he is all right, too."

Stefen Andrews, NBC correspondent, quoted Wainwright as saying he felt "10 years younger than I did 10 days ago," before his rescue from the prison camp.

"My heart goes out to President Roosevelt, to the war department, and to the American people for their kind understanding of the misfortune that befell me on Bataan and Corregidor," Andrews quoted the general as saying. "I am most sorry that I cannot thank President Roosevelt in person. To the American people I say—thank you with all my heart."

Bataan Generals Safe

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 28 (AP)—More than three years of waiting ended yesterday for Mrs. Edward King and Mrs. W. E. Brougher when they learned that their husbands—both generals—were alive and well in a liberated Japanese prisoner of war camp at Hoten, Manchuria.

Mrs. King, wife of Maj. Gen. Edward King who was on Bataan with Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, said both she and Mrs. Brougher received calls from the chief of staff in Washington that their husbands' names were on the list of prisoners at Hoten.

No other details were given, except that they will be brought back to the United States by ship, Mrs. King said. King was MacArthur's artillery commander on Bataan. Brig. Gen. Brougher was commander of the 11th division of the Philippine army on Bataan.

AMERICAN FLAG IS RAISED OVER BY-PASSED MILI

HONOLULU, T. H., Aug. 28 (AP)—By-passed long ago when American forces swept into the western Pacific, bomb pitted Mili atoll in the Marshall Islands flew the American flag today and its 2,400 half naked Japanese soldiers and sailors welcomed the end of the war. Navy and marine planes circled overhead during the flag raising ceremony.

The navy announced the atoll's surrender was accepted by Capt. H. B. Grow of Greenville, Mich., commanding officer of near-by Majuro Island, who turned it over to Rear Adm. W. K. Harrill, commander of the Marshalls and Gilberts.

ALLIES TO NAME HIGH NAZIS HELD FOR WAR CRIMES

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP)—The list of 25 to 40 Germans who will be placed on mass trial as arch war criminals at Nuernberg after Sept. 1 will be made public in a few days, a responsible American source said today.

The group of Nazi party bigwigs, military chiefs, and former diplomats will face the four-power international tribunal as soon after Sept. 1 as preparations can be made.

More than 30 of the probable defendants or key witnesses, among them Hermann Goering and former Foregin Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, are in Nuernberg jails. They have lost the status of war prisoners and are booked as civilian criminals.

JAP EXPECTS NO OPPOSITION TO U. S. LANDING

ABOARD TRANSPORT BRAXTON, Sagami Bay, Aug. 27 [Delayed] (AP)—A Japanese naval lieutenant said today he was certain there would be no resistance of any kind to American occupation landings on Japan and added: "We don't believe you Americans will mistreat us."

Discussing his nation's acceptance of the allies' unconditional surrender terms, Lt. Hiroshi Tamaki, who came aboard this marine-loaded transport to guide it thru mined waters to landing beaches near Yokosuka, naval base, said:

"The Japanese people will be patient and disciplined. The Emperor ended the war. Therefore, the people believe it is a good thing, altho they are unhappy because it was defeat for us." There were no dissident groups, he added, and no opposition to the Emperor's action in terminating hostilities.

M'ARTHUR WINS DSM FOR VICTORY IN PHILIPPINES

OKINAWA, Aug. 29 [Wednesday] (AP)—Gen. MacArthur, who flew here on his way to lead huge air borne forces into Japan tomorrow, is to be awarded the distinguished service medal for his planning and direction of the Philippines campaign. It was learned today that President Truman has approved the award.

MacArthur already holds three such medals—the distinguished service medal with two oak leaves. The supreme commander of the allied powers also holds the congressional medal of honor, two distinguished service crosses, seven silver stars, two Purple Hearts, and numerous foreign decorations. The new citation says:

"As supreme commander of allied air, ground and sea forces in the Southwest Pacific, General of the Army Douglas MacArthur planned personally and directed the campaigns which resulted in liberation of the Philippine Islands. Strongly entrenched, superior [numerically] enemy forces were overwhelmed and completely destroyed in a series of decisive operations exploiting the United States air and sea superiority coupled with the resolute, courageous fighting ground forces.

"The immediate result of the campaign was control of the China sea, isolation of Japanese forces in Burma, Malaya, and Indo-China, and termination of coastwise traffic supporting Japanese armies in central and south China."

8,000 MOROTAI JAPS SURRENDER TO NEGRO UNIT

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 29 [Wednesday]—(AP)—More than 8,000 Japanese on Morotai and Halmahera Islands south of the Philippines have surrendered to the United States 93d division, headquarters announced today. The 93d is composed of Negro troops.

The surrender took place on Morotai, where Maj. Gen. Harry W. Johnson, Texan, received two ranking enemy officers, a Lt. Gen. Ishi and a navy Capt. Fufita. Ishi effected the surrender of 3,170 army troops and Fufita 5,000 navy personnel.

The Japanese are turning in their weapons and are being billeted in a concentration area.

JAPS ON ISLE ADMIT KILLING CAPTIVE FLYER

GUAM, Aug. 28 (AP)—The killing by a Japanese officer of an American B-24 airman who parachuted last May onto Koror Island, in the Palau group of the Carolines, was disclosed in negotiations for surrender of the Palus garrison of approximately 4,000 Nipponese, Col. G. L. Fike, marine who carried on the negotiations with a Col. Tada, said:

"Tada said the American parachuted on May 4 and was taken prisoner, then had unfortunately been killed by a Japanese officer between May 10 and May 15. He stated the American was not killed as the result of the carrying out of the sentence of a military court, and added that altho the loss of life was 'regrettable' it was the opinion of the Japanese the incident was insignificant in comparison to the loss of innocent women's and children's lives caused by the atomic bomb."

Col. Fike said he did not expect the garrison to surrender until after Japan signs a peace treaty.

ARMY TO FREE OFFICERS ON POINT SYSTEM

Plans to Cut Quotas GIs Need for Discharge

BY LAURENCE BURD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28—Plans for a point system for the release of officers from the army on a basis similar to that applying to enlisted men were revealed today as army chiefs carried before congress their fight for an indefinite extension of the military draft.

Rep. Howell

The army spokesmen, appearing before the house military affairs committee, also disclosed plans for an early reduction in soldiers' discharge point scores.

Maj. Gen. Stephen G. Henry, assistant chief of staff for personnel, outlined the new programs, which he said would take effect as soon as Gen. MacArthur occupies Japan and reports that "there will be no more fighting."

Officers Were Badly Needed

Gen. Henry said that up to now officers have been needed so much that they could not be released on a general point system, but that releases had to be purely on an individual review basis.

"Now that hostilities have ceased," he said, "there no longer exists the necessity to review officers on an individual basis. From now on officers will be released on the basis of point score, in a manner similar to enlisted personnel.

"There will be more than one score for the release of officers. Each of the major commands—air, ground, and service—will operate under scores necessary to achieve a fair and orderly reduction of its officers down to its projected requirements."

These scores, as in the case of the enlisted scores, will be under the supervision of the war department, Gen. Henry said, and added:

"We are exploring the need for a provision whereby officers may be released who are purely surplus to the requirements for their particular skill or specialty, and whom it is wasteful to retrain.

6,050,000 by July 1.

The discharge plan for officers will allow credits for length of service, overseas duty, dependents, battle stars, and decorations, the same as the system for enlisted men. Gen. Henry said details will be announced later.

Discussing the prospective cut in the point score for release of enlisted men, Gen. Henry said that present schedules call for the discharge on points of 6,050,000 soldiers by next July 1, and the discharge of an additional 300,000 for disability, leaving an army of 2½ millions, assuming there will be 500,000 new draftees and 300,000 volunteers in the next 10 months. The present strength is 8,050,000 officers and men.

Rep. Howell [R., Ill.] meanwhile prepared a bill for submission to congress next week calling for immediate suspension of the draft for one year and discharge upon application of any one in the army and navy with 18 months' service. The bill calls for recruiting of volunteers for German and Japanese occupation forces with 30 per cent extra pay for such duty.

Army Plan Outlined

The army's plan for relaxing its discharge standards, as outlined by Gen. Henry, is:

1. All points for enlisted men and WACs will be recomputed as of the date of the new plan. Present points are computed as of last May 12. The new system will thus permit use of points piled up in the last four months.

2. All enlisted men with 80 points or more and WACs with 41 or more will be discharged. The present figure is 85 points for men and 44 for WACs.

3. No men with 60 or more points will be sent overseas. The present figure is 75 points.

4. The age limit whereby enlisted men may automatically get discharges on request, regardless of points, will be lowered from the present 38. Informed congressmen expect the lower age limit to be around 35.

Gen. Henry said the point relaxation from 85 to 80 is greated than the 5 point drop would indicate. He explained that the four months' change in the effective date for figuring points will add 4 points to each soldier's score in this country and 8 points for those overseas.

Defend Army's Demand

The point discharge level will be progressively reduced in future months as the need arises, he added.

Both Gen. Henry and Maj. Gen. I. H. Edwards, assistant chief of staff for training, defended the army's demand for 50,000 new draftees a month for the next 10 months.

Gen. Edwards said the 2½ million man army planned for next July 1 includes 900,000 in the Pacific, 500,000 in Europe, and 1,100,000 in the United States.

Rep. Kilday [D., Tex.] asked whether the army could not meet its needs from volunteers and draftees 20 years of age or older if congress cuts off the induction of 18 and 19 year olds. Gen. Henry replied that the army is already counting on what it believes to be the maximum number of volunteers, and said draft calls would net only about 10,000 a month from the group of 20 or older.

U. S. GIVEN PLAN FOR SHAKEUP IN NAZI INDUSTRY

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 28 (AP)—A pattern for decentralization of German industry in payment of reparations and the shape of the "minimum economy" under which the Germans will sustain themselves emerged today at the second day of conferences of United States officials administering the American zone of occupation.

E. S. Hogland, former General Motors executive in Germany now deputy chief of industry for G-4 [supply], suggested at the afternoon session a program for decentralization of industry. While not official, it was believed to represent views of highest allied executives and a blueprint for immediate action.

Under the program war industries and those engaged in production of metals, chemicals, and machinery are earmarked for transfer or destruction. All synthetic petroleum facilities would be removed.

Steel Cut 50%

Production of finished steel would be limited to 50 per cent of prewar normal usage. Production of only enough metallurgical coke required to produce the steel would be permitted.

Except for controled minimum domestic requirements, facilities for production of locomotives, steel forgings and castings, machine tools weighing more than 20 tons, heavy trucks and other vehicles, and all high temperature and high pressure equipment essential to the manufacture of synthetic materials are ticketed for complete removal in payment of reparations.

Because of Germany's need to maintain agricultural production no removal of existing farm equipment is contemplated. Existing hydroelectric generating plants will remain.

No Outside Assistance

Regarding the "minimum economy" for the German people, Col. L. W. Jefferson, United States group control council executive, said it was necessary that the German people have enough resources and facilities to enable them to subsist without external assistance.

"While the United States does not expect much material gain from any payments Germany can make, it is our firm policy that we will not directly or indirectly pay for reparations received by other nations as we did by assisting the Germans after the last war," he said.

New and heavier taxes were outlined, with Capt. H. R. Reuss, who formerly worked with Leon Henderson in the OPA, saying that the Germans could stand an increased tax load because they would not be required to support big war industries.

FIND EX-NAZI AID WOUNDED; GUN AT HIS SIDE

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 28 [Reuters]—Dr. Hermann Kappner, former cultural attache to the German legation in Stockholm, was found shot today in a hotel room on the eve of being sent back to Germany. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Kappner took the room with his wife, who was not being sent back to Germany, and the shooting took place while she was out. A revolver was found at his side.

Well known in Sweden as a lecturer in schools and colleges, Dr. Kappner was the first German diplomat to disassociate himself from the Hitler regime in October, 1944, when he applied to Sweden for asylum as a political refugee. Two months later he was sentenced to death for treason in absentia by the Berlin people's court.

Two Wheel Trailer for Use on Farm

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

THE Fox river farm has been using a home-made trailer this season, and it has proved a valuable piece of equipment. With the help of a local blacksmith the trailer was made out of wheels, axle, and lumber lying about the farm.

The trailer is built close to the ground and is 8 feet wide and 14 feet long. It can be attached behind a truck or tractor. It currently is being used to haul tanks of water for the boiler on the steam engine used in threshing. The manager also has used it to carry water to the spring pigs now on pasture at the far end of the farm.

Heavy Loads Possible

The width and extreme sturdiness of the trailer have made it possible to carry such loads as a 10 foot power binder or two 10 foot tandem disks. As yet the trailer has not been used to carry tractors, but as soon as it is equipped with four wheels it will be ready for this job.

The wheels and tires used are pre-war. They were part of a stock of equipment on hand when war time restrictions cracked down. It would have been almost impossible to get the tires during the war.

The trailer may be used on the highway as soon as license plates are obtained because it conforms to state regulations as to size. The state truck law sets the maximum length of a vehicle at 45 feet and the maximum width at 8 feet. The only exceptions permitted on the width restriction are for loads of hay, straw, fodder, or similar farm products.

Easier Times Ahead

The manager was remarking the other day that, now that most war time restrictions have been lifted, the farmer will have an easier time. He will notice the relief especially in the amount of paper work he has to do. No longer does the farmer have to fill out multiple forms to get gasoline for his tractor. Also, farm tires no longer are rationed.

During the war farmers often burned their lights far into the night doing the paper work required to keep the farm running. Now they will be able to get a little more sleep and be in better condition for their field work, the manager said.

Altho farm machinery is not rationed, it still is hard to get and the equipment dealers virtually are handling the rationing themselves. The manager is planning on putting his name on the list for a one man hay baler as soon as balers are available. The fine performance of the machine at the Wheaton farm has convinced him he needs one for his own hay.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

[This is the third of a series of articles on autumn reseeding of lawns.]

RESPADING and raking a lawn for complete reseeding was described yesterday in this space. Homeowners who have an established lawn, but wish to thicken the turf, also need to prepare a seedbed on the lawn surface to insure maximum germination.

A heavy steel garden rake should be used to rake thoroly the present turf. This raking will bring to the surface dead and poorly established grass tufts, which should be placed in a compost pile. The raking also will loosen the soil surface and help to create a seedbed.

The next step should be the application of a loamy black dirt as a top dressing. This dirt should be distributed evenly to a depth of at least half an inch over the roots of the present turf. After lawn depressions are filled, the turf is ready for reseeding.

DUTCH PAINTER DOES A 'VERMEER' TO PROVE FAKING

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Aug. 28 [Reuters]—The Dutch Nazi painter, Hans van Meegeren, whose alleged confession last month that he had forged paintings by the Dutch masters Vermeer and De Hooch caused disagreement among art experts, is now painting another so-called Vermeer to prove the truth of his statement.

The painting represents Christ with his pupils in the temple and, altho not quite completed, is said by an expert to leave little doubt that Van Meegeren painted the "masterpieces" he claims.

[Van Meegeren, now under arrest, is said to have confessed to the forgery of nine paintings attributed to the two masters.]

U. S. CENSORSHIP IN EUROPE ENDS WHEN JAPS SIGN

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—American army censorship in the European theater, except for continued army information control within the defeated countries, will end automatically with the Japanese signing of surrender documents, the chief American censorship office at Wiesbaden, Germany, said today. British and French censorship is expected to terminate then or within a few days thereafter.

Censorship has existed on European news for almost six years. Under regulations prevailing since V-E day, United States censorship has been limited to security matters.

RAGGED CLIENTS MAKE MANILA'S BANKING HUM

BY JOSEPH HEARST
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Aug. 28—Money is something of which every one in Manila seems to have plenty. And one of the best places to see stacks of pesos being crammed in pants' pockets by men who may not possess a decent pair of shoes is the lobby of the National City Bank of New York.

The bank isn't the ornate establishment it once was, with tile floors, marble counters, and iron grilled tellers' cases. Instead, the tellers work in crude, unvarnished, wooden stalls with a barrier of chicken coop wire between the customers and the piles of currency. The windows have no glass and when the wind is from the right direction the odor from Japanese bodies in the ruins of the adjacent building offends the nostrils of the bank manager, E. J. LeJeune, Bronxville, N. Y.

Open to Rush of Business

LeJeune arrived in Manila late in May, got the rubble shoveled away, the shell scarred walls and ceiling whitewashed, and the tellers' cages built. He put up a picture of President Truman and opened for business on June 28.

"Some persons didn't believe we'd do any business, but we were mobbed from the first day on," he said. "Every morning there'd be two or three hundred persons waiting for us to open. And for the first three days we were open day and night because we didn't have any doors."

Much of the bank's business has been as agent for the government and cashing war bonds, LeJeune said.

Ex-Captives Get Pay

Much of the money flooding Manila and skyrocketing prices of commodities, he said, is coming from the army, navy, and United States government. The government decided that all persons who were on its pay rolls when the Japs took the islands should be paid in full for the three and a half years they were under Jap domination. The navy, however, paid 10 per cent in cash and 90 per cent in E bonds.

"The bonds had to be held 60 days before they could be redeemed but when the time elapsed this place looked like a gold rush was on," Le Jeune said. "Some persons stuck great stacks of bills in their pockets or blouses and walked out. We closed the bank daily at 2:30 p. m. but many days the tellers worked into the night before the hundreds jammed into the lobby had been waited on. But the teller selling war bonds had an easy time, as he made few sales."

Some Filipinos lost their entire bankroll in one night's gambling, it was reported.

DISCLOSES NAZIS DEVELOPED NEW U-BOAT, TORPEDO

Weapons 6 Months Too Late, Forrestal Says

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 [Special]—Reporting on German development of war weapons, Navy Secretary Forrestal said today the Germans had a submarine which could stay under water almost indefinitely, had perfected a "spider" torpedo guided by a thin wire and were using hydrogen peroxide—the common bleach—as a rocket propellant.

The secretary said he examined these German developments in his inspection trip to Europe between July 26 and Aug. 7 and asserted that in general the Germans were "about six months too late in the development and mass production of new weapons."

He predicted any new war will be fought with "fantastically new weapons." He urged a substantial and alert post-war research program in military fields and said it should be carried thru to the actual production of pilot models.

Use Subs to Send Japs News

He reported the Germans had used submarines to send technical information to Japan, sometimes sending along technicians.

Forrestal described the newest German submarine—Model 21—as a vessel capable of remaining submerged for long periods of time and of traveling under water at 18 knots an hour, markedly faster than any previously known undersea craft.

Conventional submarines, the secretary said, might more accurately be described as submersibles, that is, vessels which can submerge but which spend most of their time on the surface. He said the German goal was a "true submarine" which would "almost never operate on the surface" and that they had achieved "considerable success."

Built 1,158 Subs During War

When surrender came, he said, Germany was building Model 21 submarines exclusively, with the output organized on a mass production basis capable of turning out 360 a year. They finally produced 116 of these advanced vessels but never made a war patrol with them because of minor mechanical bugs. He said Germany built about 1,158 submarines during the war and that the allies sank approximately half of them.

The "spider" torpedo, he said, was a missile attached to its firing point by a thin wire which unreeled behind it as it traveled. Impulses sent over this wire enabled persons controling it to change its course or depth and even make it jump out of the water "like a porpoise."

Forrestal said the Germans had obtained "surprisingly good results" in harnessing power from disintegrating hydrogen peroxide. They had designed turbines to be driven by energy released by the disintegration of the hydrogen peroxide molecule. The German navy started the experiments, but they were taken over for rocket launching devices.

High Pressure Steam

German propulsion machinery involved use of steam at extremely high temperatures and pressures, he said, but faulty applications of their knowledge brought them results less efficient than obtained by the allies at 50 per cent of such temperatures and pressures.

He described wind tunnels built by the Germans in experimentation with speed faster than sound as "far in advance of any we have in this country."

Such tunnels were used in perfecting the V-2 rocket, which traveled at supersonic speed. He added the navy is dismantling one of these tunnels and will bring it to the United States for experimental work.

SCHEDULE HEARING ON LIBERALIZATION OF JOBLESS BENEFITS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The house ways and means committee voted today to open hearings Thursday on President Truman's proposal to liberalize unemployment payment benefits.

Rep. Knutson [R., Minn.] senior committee Republican, who had headed an effort to have the tax initiation group take up first the writing of a broad tax reducing measure, withheld a motion to shelve the jobless legislation temporarily.

He decided against his plan, he announced, after he learned that the governors of some 15 states would be in Washington later this week to give their opinions of Mr. Truman's proposal that unemployment benefit payments be boosted to a maximum of $25 for 26 weeks.

Knutson today supplemented his own individual income tax cutting program with a proposal to end the war-time excess profit tax as of Sept. 1 and to cut the corporation normal income tax probably by 20 per cent, effective with 1946 incomes. Yesterday he proposed a 20 per cent cut in individual income tax rates.

AMERICAN TALKS TO REGENTS ON BULGARIAN RULE

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Aug. 28 (AP)—Discussions believed aimed at reorganizing the government on a broader democratic basis were opened by Bulgaria's regents today with Maj. Gen. Crane, United States army official in Bulgaria, attending. Premier Kimon Georgiev and Foreign Minister Petro Stainov also conferred with the regents.

Approximately 100 followers of Nikolai Petkov, former minister, staged demonstrations before Petkov's house, but they were dispersed at his request. Petkov, an Agrarian party leader, signed the armistice with the allies in October, 1944.

46,842 JOBS OPEN; RECONVERSION'S TOLL DIPS TO 93

Jobs for 46,842 persons in 14 manufacturing and seven nonmanufacturing classifications in the Chicago area were reported available yesterday by Lester Brown, area war man power commission director, while the number of discharges due to reconversion fell to a new low of 93. This was the first day since Aug. 10 in which fewer than 500 discharges were reported.

Manufacturers of machinery have 5,700 unfilled jobs, Brown said an incomplete survey disclosed, and food manufacturers and processors want to employ 5,622. In other manufacturing fields, he said, apparel makers have 1,298 jobs; furniture, 1,332; chemicals, 1,743; electric machinery, 1,386; miscellaneous, 1,032; paper, 778; printing, 1,663; leather, 524; stone, clay, and glass, 529; transportation equipment, 872, and non-ferrous metals, 705.

Nonmanufacturing job openings reported included: In transportation, communication, and public utility work, 3,892; wholesale and retail trade, 6,414; service industries, 4,989; miscellaneous, 2,477; finance, insurance, and real estate, 992, and government, 338.

POLES CHARGE LONDON EXILES ABUSED THEM

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune]

LONDON, Aug. 28—At a press conference arranged by the National Council for Civil Liberties, several Polish soldiers charged today that they had been mistreated by military authorities of the former Polish government in London. Pvt. Michulac Wladislaw said he was imprisoned after he signed a declaration saying he desired to return to Poland.

The soldiers are staying at a London Y. M. C. A. and are remaining away from their units, they said, with the permission of the Warsaw government.

Wladislaw charged that in a guardroom at a camp in Doune, Scotland, Aug. 13, he saw a soldier struck several times, bound, and dragged away to a stable used as a detention place. Other soldiers, all sympathizers with the Warsaw government, alleged similar ill treatment.

BRITISH READY TO SEIZE JAPS' MERCHANT SHIPS

BY E. R. NODERER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Aug. 28—The British are ready to seize Japanese ships to strengthen their post-war merchant fleet and replace war losses, it was revealed in shipping circles here tonight.

Among the first British civilians to land in Japan, informed sources disclosed, will be ministry of war transport shipping experts. Their job will be to survey all Japanese merchant vessels available for surrender. They will have military aid in preventing scuttling of troop ships and cargo vessels by the Japs.

Japanese passenger ships reportedly will be used to help repatriate war prisoners, internees, and troops. At the same time, it was indicated these vessels may be employed to ship Jap forces from liberated territories back to their homeland.

See Similar U. S. Action

While the British were frank to admit their intention of seizing Japan's merchant fleet, they said they assumed that America's war shipping administration also would enter the picture since both countries needed troop ships and liners.

Under present plans final distribution of enemy vessels will be the subject of discussion among all countries adhering to the united maritime authority's agreement covering the operation of all allied merchant vessels, including those of Sweden, until six months after the cessation of hostilities.

Replacements for war losses are being built in British shipyards but it will be a considerable time before the first liner is launched. Meanwhile British propagandists suggest America is well off for ships despite heavy war losses.

Germany had more than 100 merchant vessels available when it surrendered, but many of these were so badly bomb damaged they are regarded as not worth reconditioning. Of 35 German liners operating in 1939 only five are seaworthy at present. They are the Europa, which was taken over by the United States government after American troops captured her at Bremerhaven, the Hamburg-South America liner Patria, and three others of her class.

British shipping quarters believe the Europa will be handed over to United States lines to replace the old Leviathan, prize of the first World war, which was scrapped in 1938.

World War I gave British liner companies at least five famous German ships, including the Majestic, formerly the Bismarck; the Homeric, ex-Columbus; Berengaria, ex-Imperator; Empress of Australia, ex-Tirpitz, and the Empress of Scotland, ex-Kaiserin Augusta Victoria.

JOB BILL FOES FACE UNFRIENDLY SENATE HEARING

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—Exponents of free enterprise began presenting their case against the administration's so-called full employment bill before the senate banking committee today—under difficulties.

Ira Mosher

Examination of witnesses favorable to the bill has been principally confined to glowing tributes to the witnesses, after their testimony, by committee advocates of the legislation. Senators Murray [D., Mont.], Wagner [D., N. Y.], and Taylor [D., Idaho] have been extremely complimentary.

Things changed, however, with testimony against the bill today by Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, and William L. Kleitz, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

Kleitz Protests

They had been invited to give their views on providing jobs, but the interruptions about bread lines and depressions blamed upon business were so frequent and persistent that Kleitz once protested:

"If I'd known I was expected to defend the banking system, I'd have sent a more able speaker."

The committee also heard staid William Green, gloomy John L. Lewis, and sunny Henry Wallace, none of whom was cross-examined much.

Mosher said he believes in full employment, but a full employment based upon healthy American prosperity, not upon government "made" work.

Calls Prosperity Normal

"The bill," he said, "seems to assume that full employment and prosperity is an unusual phenomenon; that our normal economic status is to have a great deal of unemployment which must either be prevented by emergency stimulation of private enterprise or offset by the deficit expenditure of government funds.

"NAM believes that full employment is a normal attribute of our economy . . . the sponsors of this bill seem to look upon mass unemployment as a cancer that is inherent in our private enterprise economy."

Mosher said the President, under the bill, "is given a blunt mandate to proclaim officially to congress that the nation faces either a 'boom' or a 'bust' when necessarily inaccurate figures so indicate."

Predicts Boomerangs

Mosher warned that proclaiming a "boom" would bring unwarranted optimism that would later result in a "bust." And proclaiming a "bust," Mosher said, would so depress the nation's economy that a "bust" would follow.

Ridiculing the opinion that the government can make a reliable forecast of national production and employment, as required by the bill, Mosher cited the treasury department's estimates of anticipated federal expenditures, which he said had been as much as 46 per cent in error during the years 1923 to 1941 inclusive. Mosher said the probability of error in the estimates required by the bill was much greater than that of the treasury.

If the full employment bill had been on the books the last 15 years, he said, and the same percentage of error had been in estimates under it as the treasury made, the cost of the mistakes would have been 525 billion dollars.

Offers NAM Plan

After frequent pleas to be permitted to finish his prepared statement, often interrupted with senatorial attacks on business which Mosher said he had not come prepared to answer, he was allowed to present NAM's plan for providing jobs and leave the stand. It included:

Ending all monopolistic conspiracies, whether by management, labor, or any other element. Abolishment of all subsidies except those necessary for military security. Gradual reduction of protective tariff duties without permitting the lowering to end protection of American workers and industry against dumping of foreign goods in American markets. Legislation to end special privileges for labor by providing responsibilities for labor and management alike. Adjustment of tax rates so they will no longer discourage private investment.

Dictator Could Do It

Asserting that private enterprise can supply the jobs if given a chance, Kleitz said of full employment by government investment and expenditure:

"A Hitler, a Mussolini, a Stalin, or a Hirohito can do it, but that does not answer our question. The American people do not want dictators. Full employment without free competitive enterprise would be intolerable."

Commerce Secretary Wallace solemnly announced he is in favor of free enterprise and against planned economy, but thinks the bill makes a living reality of the late President Roosevelt's "economic bill of rights."

Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, got smiles when they indorsed the bill. Lewis didn't smile back.

Innocent Man Gets Pardon

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

CONNAUGHTON GIVEN PROMOTION BY WOLL IN CRIME DIVISION

H. N. Connaughton

United States Atty. Woll announced yesterday the appointment of one of his assistants, Harry N. Connaughton, as temporary chief of the criminal division of the office.

Connaughton, who takes over the duties of the late Francis J. McGreal, has been in the prosecutor's office since 1934.

He obtained his law degree in 1927 from Georgetown university in Washington, D. C., where he won all-American honors as a football player. After entering private law practice in Washington he joined the federal bureau of investigation as a special agent, leaving that post in 1933.

During the war Connaughton was in charge of the internment of enemy aliens in this area. He is 39 and lives with his wife at 1250 Stone st.

MAN CONVICTED FOR ANOTHER'S CRIME PARDONED

Dewey Plans to Ask Liberal Compensation

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 28 [Special]—Gov. Dewey today granted a full pardon to Bertram M. Campbell, 59, of Floral Park, who served three years and four months in Sing Sing prison for a forgery recently confessed by another man.

The governor, who was district attorney of New York county at the time of Campbell's conviction, June 3, 1938, also announced he would recommend to the legislature next winter that Campbell be "liberally compensated" for the time he spent in prison.

Accompanied by Lawyer

Campbell came to the executive chamber accompanied by his attorney, James C. Webster. Also present was Lt. Col. Joseph E. Brill who, as an assistant district attorney in 1938, prosecuted Campbell.

Dewey underscored the completeness of the pardon by changing the traditional form which reads "he being represented unto us as a fit object of our mercy" and substituting for them "he being represented unto us as innocent of the crime."

Real Forger Confesses

The innocence of Campbell, who is 59, was brought to light with the arrest of Alexander D. L. Thiel, an alleged professional bogus check writer. Thiel, whose appearance is similar to Campbell's, confessed he forged a check for $4,160 drawn against the Central Hanover Bank of New York. Three witnesses identified Campbell as the man who cashed the check.

Campbell professed his innocence thruout the trial and the whole time he was in Sing Sing prison. At the time of his arrest he was a stock brokers' customers' man, living with his wife and three children: Harry, 16; Joan, 13, and Bertram M. Jr., 12.

SHIPS RETURN 7,779 GI'S, 150 ARMY NURSES

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Twelve troop carrying ships today returned 15,274 veterans of the European theater of operations at three east coast ports.

Bulk of the arrivals, 9,769, were aboard six vessels entering the New York port. At Newport News, Va., 3,145 others debarked from three transports and at Boston 2,360 came off two additional ships.

Exchange Brings 1,950

More than 70 per cent of the troops arriving at New York were aboard two transports diverted from the Pacific, most of them on the navy transport Gen. Alexander E. Anderson, which carried 5,311 army personnel and 150 army nurses.

Also diverted to this port from a scheduled Pacific trip was the Exchange with 1,950 troops.

Army personnel on both ships largely included quartermaster, engineer and medical corps units.

Other incoming ships were: The Caldale Victory with 1,980 men; the Edgar Clarke with 55; and the C. Bullfinch with 26.

Today's Arrivals

The following army units were scheduled to arrive tomorrow from Europe:

AT NEW YORK—[Aboard Abraham Lincoln] 775 troops, a rotation [over age] group; [Aboard John Dickinson] 423 reassignment troop; [Aboard Athos II.], 3,762 troops, including 189th and 330th ordinance depot companies; 102d 110th, and 124th quartermaster bakery companies; headquarters detachment, 87th ordinance battalion; headquarters 150th military police battalion; 1st, 57th and 136th ordinance bomb disposal squadrons; headquarters and headquarters detachment, 94th, 2424d, and 446th quartermaster battalion; 411th ordinance medium maintenance company; 668th medical ambulance company, 602d and 672d medical collecting company, 90th quartermaster railhead company; advance detachment, 719th railway operating battalion; 2d medical laboratory; battery B, 75th field artillery battalion; headquarters and headquarters companies, 19th and 39th engineer combat groups; 517th engineer water supply company; headquarters and headquarters company, 8th replacement depot; 180th signal repair company. [Aboard Claude Kitchen], 24 miscellaneous troops, [Aboard Golden Fleece], 10 miscellaneous troops, [Aboard Richard D. Lyons], 7 miscellaneous troops.

AT BOSTON—[Aboard F. A. Muhlenberg], scheduled to arrive today, 609 low score personnel and personnel slated for discharge. [Aboard Frederick Lykes], 2,788 troops, including infantry reorganization detachment; 254th general hospital, including 89 nurses; 393d engineer special service regiment, 438 port company, 1099th engineer utility detachment, and 4225th quartermaster car company. [Aboard Jean Lykes], 39 casuals.

AT NEWPORT NEWS, VA.—[Aboard Joseph G. Cannon], scheduled to have arrived last Monday. 101 miscellaneous troops.

BULK OF YANKS STILL IN IRAN TO BE WITHDRAWN

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The war department said today it has been informed by its Persian Gulf command that all except approximately 2,600 American troops in Iran, will be withdrawn by Nov. 1.

Those who remain will maintain and guard military installations, and some army air transport command personnel will be left to continue operation of plane routes thru the country.

At peak operation of the vital supply route to soviet Russia, the United States had more than 27,000 service forces in Iran.

The Iran government has requested the allies to withdraw their forces and today's announcement apparently fixed a definite time for American withdrawal.

URGE CATHOLICS TO TAKE PART IN ITALIAN ELECTION

Bishops to Instruct the Nation's Electors

ROME, Aug. 28 [Reuters]—Catholic church authorities revealed today that a circular from the "sacred consistorial congregation" had been sent to all Italian bishops telling them to impart instructions to the electors concerning the coming election in Italy. The circular said:

"Firstly, in view of the perils menacing religion and the public welfare, the safeguarding of which requires the collaboration of all good men, all those entitled to vote, whatever their sex or condition, are in conscience bound to exercise their voting right.

Instructions on Voting

"Secondly, Catholics can vote only for lists which will respect the observance of divine law and the rights of the church.

"Thirdly, to the extent to which the program and practical behavior of candidates guarantees such expectation, Catholics may vote for them."

According to Vatican circles, the circular issued by the "congregation," which has authority in political matters over all bishops, represents the first exercise by the Catholic church of the liberty of action in Italy gained by the lateran treaty between Pope Pius XI. and Benito Mussolini in 1929.

Curbs Gradually Removed

Previous to that treaty, the church had not recognized the legitimacy of the Italian state, altho prohibitions against Catholics participating in national politics had been gradually and unofficially withdrawn.

While fascism lasted there were no elections and therefore no occasions for guidance of this nature.

Bombay Village Must Pay $1,500 Fine for Terrorism

BOMBAY, India, Aug. 28 [Reuters]—The Bombay government has imposed a collective fine of $1,500 on the village of Bhikwadi Khurd in the Satara district, where terrorists have been active in the last two years. British troops are now being brought in to restore order. Government servants and those who assisted police investigations are exempted from the fine.

EXPECT 80,000 AT MARSEILLES TO SAIL SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Aug. 28—Full conversion of the port of Marseilles as a gateway for American soldiers going home, with the probability that about 80,000 Yanks will leave there during the first two weeks of September, was announced today by headquarters. The Marseilles deployment area was formerly used in shipment of veterans to the Pacific.

Most of those leaving from Marseilles for home will be high score personnel ready for discharge on arrival. However, units formerly scheduled for the Pacific which are standing by will be embarked whenever there are not enough high score units on hand.

It is announced that some 6,000 high score troops will be flown home in September.

OPA SUES OVER BROKERAGE FEES

Siegfried H. Becker, Wholesale fruit and vegetable dealer at 1425 S. Racine av., was charged with excessive brokerage and procurement service charges in an office of price administratoin suit for $6,297.15 damages filed in federal District court yesterday.

Luxurious Home in Paris Ready for the Windsors

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP)—The luxurious house at No. 24 Boulevard Suchet in the smart Vassy section of Paris is ready for the arrival of its owner, the duke and duchess of Windsor, "probably some time next month," the couple's housekeeper said today. Dispatches published here said that the couple's home on the French Riviera is also being prepared for the return of the former British monarch and his American wife.

MY WORD! HERE'S COL. BAGBY IN CHURCHILL SHIP

Evanstonian Back with Lots of Medals

Col. Ralph B. Bagby, assistant to chief of operations, supreme headquarters allied expeditionary force, and head of combined air transport operations, arrived in Chicago yesterday with a basket of medals and riding in style. He clambered out of former Prime Minister Churchill's plane, piloted by an English crew, at the Chicago airport and headed for his home at 1047 Forest av., Evanston.

"We gave him the best," said Wing Commander Craddock-Watson, who has been working with Col. Bagby, "the former prime minister's plane."

Passes Up the Hock

"The steward asked me this morning what I wanted for breakfast," said Col. Bagby, "and I asked him what the prime minister usually had. He said a bottle of hock, but I couldn't go for that."

With Col Bagby were members of his staff, Maj. Roderick [Pinky] Stewart of Downers Grove and Capt. Rufus Thompson, a Texan with 72 missions to his credit.

When he became involved in this war, Col. Bagby had only a handful of medals—the distinguished service cross, silver star, Belgian order of the crown, and croix de guerre with palm. In the recent conflict he added the air medal for participation in the air borne invasion of Sicily while chief of staff, 12th troop carrier command; oak leaf cluster to silver star for jump with pathfinder contingent of paratroopers D-day in the Normandy invasion; bronze star for preparing plan for carrying war prisoners by air. He also became a commander of the order of the British empire, officer of the Legion of Honor, and received the World War II. croix de guerre with palm.

Greeted by Family

Col. Bagby was greeted at the airport by his wife; son, Robert Jr., air force cadet home on leave; his daughter, Betty, 14, and son, Jim, 12. In Europe he had met another son, Pvt. John, bronze star holder now in Germany with the 333d Infantry, 84th division.

A serious problem was solved quickly at the airport when Col. Bagby apologized anxiously to Jim for being late for the ball game. James explained, however, that the Cubs were not playing. Then the colonel gathered up his family, souvenirs, English guests, and went home.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The address of John Fontana, 19, sentenced to the Bridewell for contributing to the delinquency of a minor in his basement apartment at 1415 N. California av., was given incorrectly in THE TRIBUNE yesterday as 1425 N. California av. The erroneous address was supplied by the City News bureau.

IT DOESN'T ADD UP, BUT THERE'S A QUIZ KID DOG

A man's best friend is his dog. Especially if the man is poor at arithmetic and if the dog's name is Brownie.

Brownie is a 15 month old female toy collie that was reported by south side residents to be a canine quiz kid. A reporter, who went skeptically to the home of the animal's owner, Miss Florence Burke, 4456 University av., came away with a red face and figures scrawled all over the scratch pad she used in a futile attempt to keep up with the dog's adding, subtracting, and multiplying.

The dog was trained by Miss Burke and Lt. Norman W. Hahn of Stevens Point, Wis.

It wasn't so bad at first. Brownie barked out the square of three. But when Lt. Hahn ordered the dog to take 33⅓ per cent of 3 and add 4 and add 2 and then subtract 2, the reporter took to paper and pencil to verify Brownie's barked answer—5.

To prove that no signals were used, Lt. Hahn blindfolded the dog and asked the reporter to hold up any number of fingers to indicate a number. At the lieutenant's order, Brownie barked three times, the correct number.

VACATIONER'S APARTMENT LOOTED

Hyman Ditkowsky, 6214 N. Washtenaw av., reported to police yesterday that when he returned from a vacation trip he discovered burglars had entered his apartment and stolen furs and jewelry valued at $725.

SON, 12, AGREES TO BE ARBITER FOR HIS PARENTS

Carroll Hood Jr., 12, listened thoughtfully yesterday to proceedings in the Superior court of Judge Charles E. Byrne, where his mother, Mildred, 33, of 5216 Harper av., was seeking temporary alimony from his father, against whom she has pending a divorce bill, charging cruelty.

When he heard his mother's attorney, Samuel M. Starr, suggest that perhaps the couple could be reconciled, Carroll said he didn't believe a reconciliation would be successful. But, at Judge Byrne's suggestion, he agreed to act as arbiter for his parents to keep them from quarreling.

Judge Byrne admonished the couple, who are parents of two other children, to heed their son's efforts to preserve harmony. They promised, and all three left the courtroom together.

Civilian Rehabilitation Gets New Midwest Chief

John H. Lasher of Minneapolis, Minn., has been appointed regional representative of the office of vocational rehabilitation with an office at 188 W. Randolph st., it was announced yesterday. He will supervise the agency's operations in 11 states, formerly divided into two divisions. The OVR is responsible for the administration of the federal and state program for the rehabilitation of disabled civilians.

SALVAGE DRIVE BY WPB WILL BE ENDED SEPT. 30

William L. McFetridge, salvage director for the Chicago metropolitan area, was notified yesterday by S. J. Campbell, deputy director of the war production board, that all WPB salvage drives will terminate Sept. 30.

Campbell said that the WPB is stepping out of the picture in line with its policy of permitting private industry to operate without government restrictions whenever possible.

He emphasized, however, that certain materials, chiefly waste paper, fats, and tin, remain critically short, and urged volunteer salvage committees to stay on the job.

John R. Robinson, representative of the Chicago Newspaper Publishers association, said that his organization would conduct paper collection drives thru October. The Chicago waste paper salvage committee, a volunteer organization, will continue its operations for at least one year.

CHILDREN'S ROOM IS FURNISHED IN COUNTY BUILDING

Establishment of a room on the 11th floor of the county building for children of warring parents was announced yesterday by Judge Edwin A. Robson of Superior court.

The room will adjoin his court, Judge Robson said, and will be equipped with children's furniture, toys, books, games, and a crib for infants. The room will serve a double purpose, the judge said, in keeping children out of courtrooms and corridors, where they create a disturbance, and shielding them from hearing unsuitable testimony.

Judge Robson said that he had conferred with Henry Sonnenschein, clerk of the Superior court, who had agreed that such an accommodation for children would be desirable. Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court, Judge Robson said, has agreed to provide a Juvenile court worker to remain with the children.

CITIZENS WALK BEATS AT NIGHT AT EVANSTON

Help Police War on Sex Crimes

Evanston called on its 200 emergency city policemen last night to combat a wave of sex crimes in the suburb after the city council Monday night made available $1,000 reward money for the arrest and conviction of rapists.

Chief of Police Carl Ekman said that about 35 of the citizen policemen, wearing stars and legally deputized, will patrol the city's streets nightly, on foot and in cars, to supplement the vigilance of the regular police.

In addition, seven extra emergency policemen have been assigned to patrol duty, Chief Ekman said.

Offers to Pay Rewards

Chief Ekman last night expressed the opinion that the Negro who stabbed an 18 year old girl with an ice pick Sunday night is not the same one who raped an Evanston school teacher in her home on Aug. 15. Simultaneously, he announced "suitable" rewards, from the $1,000 provided by the council, for the arrest and conviction of sex offenders.

Chicago police yesterday worked to solve three new rape cases and one of attempted rape, as Anton Berg, 54, of Forest Park, was sentenced to a year and a day by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court on his plea of guilty to contributing to the delinquency of a 13 year old girl. It was testified that he molested the girl after enticing her into his barn.

A 28 year old housewife, mother of a 14 months old baby, reported that a Negro seized her and thrust a screw driver into her mouth as she was waiting for a street car at 71st st. and South Chicago av. She kicked his shins and screamed when she saw a truck approaching, she said, and he fled.

Threatened with Knife

A 24 year old Negro woman told police that she was awakened by a Negro intruder who raped her after threatening her with a knife.

A 15 year old Negro girl told Wabash av. police that she was seized in broad daylight on the street near her home by a Negro who dragged her into an alley and raped her.

A 23 year old married woman was taken to St. Francis hospital in Evanston Monday night by her father, who told hospital authorities his daughter had been raped by an armed prowler who entered their home in Chicago.

Police held Indred M. Askegard, 47, of 949 Madison st., for investigation after a 10 year old girl said he gave her a dollar in a theater at 2046 Division st. Monday, put his arm around her, and asked her to meet him again yesterday.

CHEESE DEALER PAYS $20,000 'FOR OPA CONFUSION'

Attilio Castigliano, president of the Stella Cheese company, 20 N. Jefferson st., charged with exceeding ceiling prices on gorgonzola, pecorino toscana, incanestrato and reggiano, settled a $185,808 treble damage suit by the office of price administration yesterday for $20,000. The stipulation was approved by Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan, who found that the price violations were not willful. "In the confusion of OPA rules and regulations," Castigliano said, "it was inevitable that mistakes should occur."

George M. Hoveke, owner of a meat market at 8200 Stony Island av., consented to stop dealing in rationed meats for 15 days, after the OPA charged he turned in 1,800 counterfeit red ration points.

Hunter Herds Squirrels with Trusty Sheep Bell

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 28 (AP)—Pat Lane, who is 75 and can't dodge around trees to shoot squirrels like he used to, says he rings a sheep bell. The squirrels come around to his side of the tree to see what the noise is. The story was relayed to the state game and fish commission by W. H. Buchanan, its area supervisor at Barbourville.

MOTORIST SHOT TO DEATH FROM ANOTHER AUTO

Benny Leonardo

Benny D. Leonardo, 31, described by police as a minor hoodlum, was shot and fatally wounded last night while driving a car in Steger rd., in Steger. The shot came from a maroon automobile in which a man and a woman were riding. Leonardo, father of six children, lived at 1502 Portland av., Chicago Heights.

The victim was riding in a car borrowed a few minutes earlier from Louis Guiliani, alias Julin, of 55 Illinois st., Chicago Heights. The assassins fired only one shot. The bullet struck Leonardo in the throat, but he managed to drive back a few blocks for help. He died later in St. James hospital, Chicago Heights.

Lt. Arthur Jelinek of the Homewood county highway police later seized Guiliani and Anthony Notoriano, 35, of 1603 Buena Vista av., Chicago Heights, as they were washing blood from the car. Police said Leonardo had been arrested various times.

A FOX UPSETS A HOUSEWIFE'S CANNING PLANS

Wabash, Ind., Aug. 28 [Special]—Mrs. Howard K. Sundheimer, wife of the deputy postmaster, was on her way to the basement with 13 quarts of canned corn when something jumped over her shoulder.

She screamed, dropped the corn, and ran back upstairs. Sundheimer called a neighbor, William Dunn, who came over with a shotgun. Dunn discovered that the intruder was a fox and let fly, killing the fox and wrecking 30 cans of food.

Sundheimer sent his son, Dave, to the auditor's office yesterday to collect the $3 bounty for the fox, but he still figured he was the loser.

Poor Digestion? YES NO
Headachy? ☐☐
Sour or Upset? ☐☐
Tired-Listless? ☐☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 25¢.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometime, shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

DRUNKENNESS is a disease . . . which responds to treatment

BROOKS URGES CITY OPTION ON DOUGLAS FIELD

Asks Stimson for the Chicago Property

Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] took action yesterday to make certain that Chicago will have priority in getting title to Douglas airport. He wrote to Secretary of War Stimson asking that nothing be done with the plant near Park Ridge until the new Chicago airport selection board is consulted.

Brooks described the Douglas airport as outstanding in its future possibilities for development as Chicago's main landing field and port of entry for international air transportation in the post-war era.

"It is apparent that Chicago is badly in need of a greatly improved and enlarged basic airport, and a committee of citizens has been designated to survey the possibilities of the various existing and potential airport facilities," Brooks wrote.

Priority for City Asked

"I, therefore, am writing you concerning this matter, which may be of very great importance to the city of Chicago, as well as the entire midwest. I am informed that the Douglas Aircraft company is concluding its war contracts, and before this plant and airport are disposed of I respectfully request that this committee, appointed for the city of Chicago, be consulted so that the people of this great area, as we embark on the new era of air transportation leading to all points of the world, may have the first opportunity of obtaining it if they so desire."

Brooks is a member of the senate commerce committee, which deals with aviation matters. The Douglas flying field and factory, used during the war for construction of C-54 Skymaster planes, is the property of the army air forces. The senator also has written to the Reconstruction Finance corporation and the federal surplus property board.

Great Future for Chicago

The surplus property board informed Brooks that its policy is to give municipalities priority in the disposal of air facilities.

"Chicago is destined to be one of the busiest air transportation centers in the world, and the present airport here is not adequate even today for the density of travel already handled," Brooks said in an interview.

"As the planes of larger size and greater speed are developed to handle the increased domestic and international air traffic, both passenger and freight, Chicago will need a modern major basic airport with several runways 7,500 feet long and at least one or two runways of 10,000 feet.

"Douglas airport has the greatest number of economic factors in favor of its development as such a basic port. Most of the hazardous obstructions have been removed, and the present runways could easily be extended to meet all possible demands for handling planes capable of transoceanic flights."

Owlish Okinawan

Miss Margaret Bauer holds Bogey, an Okinawa owl, at Chicago Natural History museum.

The zoology department of the Chicago Natural History [Field] museum is brightened these days by the presence of a live Okinawa screech owl. The owl was brought from the Pacific theater by Ensign Robert Kursess, a friend of the museum, as a gift for Miss Margaret Bauer, secretary for the department of zoology.

Another bird, which earlier was identified as an owl, but yesterday was said by museum authorities to be a sparrow hawk, still was a guest of Mrs. Cora T. Black, owner of an apartment building at 713 Rush st.

Mrs. Black fed the bird more meat yesterday and invited it into her home, where it was content to remain.

MAJ. VAN OOSTEN IS LIBERATED FROM JAP CAMP

Taken Prisoner at Bataan's Fall

MAJ. ADRIAUS J. VAN OOSTEN, 34, who was taken prisoner when Battan fell, has been liberated from the Jap prison camp at Mukden, Manchuria, his wife, Helen, 13 E. Lake st., Elmhurst, learned yesterday. Maj. Oosten entered army service in 1933 after graduation from the University of Michigan. He left for the Philippines in January, 1941, to help train the Filipino Scouts. He has a son, Mark, 6.

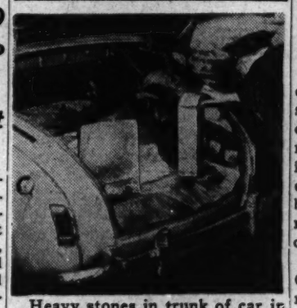
CAPT. ACHILLE TISDELLE JR., 35, of 527 S. Taylor av., Oak Park, who was aide to Maj. Gen. Edward P. King Jr. at the fall of Bataan, has been found alive in a Japanese prison camp in Mukden, Manchuria, his cousin, Mrs. Madeleine Dwyer, was advised by the war department yesterday. A graduate of Loyola university, Capt. Tisdelle went to the Philippines in May, 1941.

TECH. SGT. ALFRED A. LEHMANN, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arno Lehmann, 1247 Rosedale av., who was reported missing on a bombing mission Aug. 16, 1944, over Dessau, Germany, is presumed to be dead, the war department notified his parents. He was a graduate of Crane Technical High school. Memorial services will be held at 10 a. m., Sept. 9, in Emmaus Evangelical Lutheran church.

CAPT. GEORGE B. MOORE JR., 31, who was captured with the fall of Bataan, was among the Jap prisoners released at Mukden, Manchuria, his father, a member of the state war finance committee, and his mother were notified. Capt. Moore is a graduate of Lane Technical High school, where he was active in the R. O. T. C.

PVT. HAROLD L. WHITMER, 25, captured at the fall of Corregidor, has been found alive in a Japanese prison camp in Mukden, Manchuria, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold T. Whitmer, 4943 Lake Park av., were advised. It was their first news of their son in two years.

Slain Man's Car



Heavy stones in trunk of car in which Joseph Randozzo was found murdered yesterday, believed to have been used as ballast in fast driving.

The estranged wife and other women in the life of Joseph Randazzo, 27, of 2526 Emerald av., slain hijacker and police informer, were questioned yesterday and told to appear at the inquest in the county morgue at 9:30 a. m. today. Randazzo was found shot dead in an automobile in Lexington av., near Loomis st.

Joseph Randazzo

The automobile's owner, Miss June Giacola, 3841 Division st., said Randazzo gave it to her. She said they were to be married.

Also questioned were the widow, Adeline, 26, of 3220 Adams st., who has a 9 year old daughter; Mrs. Julia Dvorak, 19, wife of a sailor, who resides in Randazzo's parents' home at the Emerald av. address and said she formerly lived with Randazzo, and Mrs. Betty Riley Brown, 23, of 4322 Maypole av., wife of a navy deserter, who said Randazzo was only a friend.

TOSCANINI SAYS HE WILL STAY ON AIR FOR YEAR

Arturo Toscanini, NBC Symphony orchestra conductor, said yesterday that he would complete his 1945-'46 season of radio concerts before returning to Milan, Italy, to conduct in the La Scala opera house. The army newspaper Stars and Stripes had reported he would conduct the opening performance at La Scala next February. Toscanini, who hated fascism, left Italy in the early years of Mussolini's tenure. Toscanini will conduct the NBC orchestra next Sunday and Sunday, Sept. 9. His regular fall season starts Oct. 28.

Autograph hunters had a field day yesterday in the Merchandise Mart studios of NBC and ABC. Bob Hope dropped in to make a recording and was promptly besieged. Hope, who has just returned from a summer of entertaining overseas, will be back on the air Tuesday, Sept. 11. At ABC Dick Haymes, the radio and movie singer, and Carole Landis were busy signing cards.

Adm. Halsey is to be heard in a special short-wave pickup on the First Line broadcast over WBBM-CBS at 9 p. m. tomorrow. Adm. Halsey will speak from his flagship, the Missouri, off Tokyo, on which the official surrender document is to be signed.

BACK TO SCHOOL, MAYOR ADVISES WAR ABSENTEES

Mayor Kelly last night urged children who have dropped out of school during the war to return to classes with the opening of schools next Tuesday. He spoke over W-G-N in behalf of the back to school drive sponsored by the children's bureau of the United States department of labor and the United States office of education.

"A great future lies ahead for Chicago," Mayor Kelly said, "It must retain its position as the leading city in our nation. But if we are to take advantage of this—Chicago's greatest opportunity—it means that our young people must have the education, the knowledge, and the understanding to help solve problems."

COMPANY FIRES UNION BOSS AND 5 AIDS IN STRIKE

Invites 500 Workers to End Their Walkout

The Cribben & Sexton company, 700 N. Sacramento blvd., manufactures of gas appliances, yesterday discharged Frank Powers, president and chief steward of the United Stove Workers' union, and five other union officials, and invited 500 union members who were called out on strike Monday to return to work.

Powers and the other leaders were discharged for "wanton violation of the union's contract with the company," the company said.

The discharged leaders immediately met in the union offices, 2946 Grand av., and later announced: "The case is in our attorney's hands. We will have a statement tomorrow."

Plant's Entrance Picketed

Meanwhile an informal picket line was maintained in front of the company's entrance.

The strike was called by Powers after the company refused to fire three employes who had been denied membership in the union because they previously had been foremen in the plant. The union has a closed shop contract.

The regional war labor board ruled last Friday that altho the closed shop contract existed, the three foremen downgraded to hourly paid workers need not join the union to be eligible to work. Their work service with the company ranges from 13 to 22 years.

The company sent a communication asking the strikers to return to work and notifying them that Powers, and the other union officials, Raymond Ulm, Robert Bambrick, Walter Totos, Jack Dublinski and John Halligan, had been discharged.

Company's Position Explained

"It was with great reluctance that it became necessary for the company to take the action of discharging these employes," Frank J. Hoenigmann, vice president and general manager wrote the strikers, "but the company believes in all sincerity it has no alternative."

The company letter pointed out that its contract with the union established grievance procedure because "no contract could be so perfect that no disputes would arise," and further provided that there should "be no suspension or interruption of work" because of any grievance arising under the contract.

The company manufactures stoves and gas ranges. It was engaged in war work last March when Powers called a strike to enforce demands for a 5 per cent wage increase. Powers told the WLB that the strike was called because he wanted to hurt management." This strike paralyzed the production of 105 millimeter shells.

KELLY WILL GO TO WASHINGTON ON MURRAY BILL

Mayor Kelly will leave this afternoon for Washington, D. C. where he will testify before a senate committee considering the Murray-Wagner full employment act. He also will press for designation of Chicago as permanent headquarters for the world security organization. In the latter connection, he said, he hopes to see President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes, as well as senators and congressmen. The mayor yesterday scouted reports that Police Commissioner Allman is considering resigning, or that he will be replaced. He called the reports "ridiculous."

Chicago Yank, Pacific War Vet, Dies in Plane Crash

Pvt. Robert L. Stetson, 23, stationed at Fort Logan, Colo., was killed Monday evening when a private plane he was piloting crashed on the Rocky Mountain arsenal grounds, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Aug. 29—Begin 2d Bull Run Battle

THE assault launching the second bloody battle of Bull Run began Aug. 29, 1862, after preliminary skirmishing was over and Gen. John Pope had been led to believe the Confederate forces were retreating. Tho the battle was indecisive. Gen. Pope lost heart and the Union forces later withdrew.

Gen. Thomas J. [Stonewall] Jackson, who was in command of a corps under Gen. Robert E. Lee, had deliberately revealed the position of his troops when two divisions attacked Union soldiers near Groveton, Va., the day before. Pope believed Jackson had been intercepted by other Union troops. He ordered his forces to assemble on the Warrenton pike for an attack the next morning.

Only a corps and a division were available. Pope had lost touch with several of his units in the night, and five attacks failed because of lack of coördination. Jackson held a strong position along the embankment of an unfinished railroad, and his artillery was on a ridge 500 yards in the rear.

Attacking Jackson's left flank, Pope expected aid from other Union forces on Jackson's right flank and rear. But the Union forces encountered Confederate troops under Gen. James Longstreet, and no aid came.

Another Union force was advancing from Manassas toward Gainesville when it encountered a division of Confederate troops, and it became plain to Pope that he had misjudged the situation. Other Union forces joined Pope on the Warrenton pike that night and Gen. Fitz-John Porter retired to Manassas from Longstreet's front.

When Gen. Lee did not assume an offensive the morning of Aug. 30, Pope believed he was retreating and ordered a general pursuit. This left the Union flank exposed. It was determined to take Bald hill and Henry House hill to remedy this.

Other Union forces attacked Jackson so furiously that he signaled Lee for help. Longstreet brought up more divisions and enfiladed Union lines, quickly halting the attack. Longstreet's attack was made too late, however, for Lee to achieve a complete victory, and, after a series of battles, Pope drew back across Bull Run toward Centreville.

JUDGE AND GORMAN WILL WATCH CHECK OF DRIVERS' ALIBIS

Judge John T. Zuris of Traffic court and Edward J. Gorman, city public vehicle commissioner, will visit the automobile testing lane at 31st st. and the Outer dr. at 2 p. m. today to watch tests of 50 automobiles whose owners testified they did not apply for safety stickers because their cars did not need them.

Gorman said 4,935 cars were tested on the city's six safety lanes Monday, compared with 2,041 a week earlier. Fifty-two per cent of the cars taken to the lanes in the last few days failed to pass the tests. An average of 250 motorists have been arrested daily recently for lacking stickers, Gorman said.

Judge Zuris said many accidents are caused by too many stickers on windshields. Motorists, he said, are required to show only three: the city vehicle tag, on the right corner of the windshield, and the federal vehicle stamp and the safety sticker, which should be pasted behind the mirror.

2 HELD TO JURY IN THEFT OF 640 PAIRS OF SHOES

Donald Enright, 33, of 4820 Chicago av., and Thomas Becker, 38, of 3458 Chicago av., who were arrested July 26 while loading 300 pairs of shoes into Becker's taxicab, were ordered held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge William V. Daly in Felony court. Enright was charged with burglary and receiving stolen property and Becker with being an accessory after the fact. The men were in a garage at 4223 Monroe st., when they were seized, after a burglary of 640 pairs of shoes from a store at 1939½ E. 71st st. Becker pleaded he merely had answered a call for a taxicab to the garage. Judge Daly dismissed a charge of accessory after the fact against Frank McMahon, 30, owner of the garage.

U. S. WILL SHUT OFFICES IN CITY ON SATURDAYS

All federal agencies and the District court will be closed Saturdays, beginning this week, in compliance with the new 40 hour week rule for government employes, officials in charge of the Chicago offices said yesterday.

The five day week order will apply to federal judges, the clerk of the District court, the United State's attorney's office, the United State's marshal's office, internal revenue department, and all treasury department agencies. Sunday skeleton staffs will work Saturdays in the federal bureau of investigation and similar offices which have Sunday staffs.

Postoffice officials are awaiting an interpretation of the order, and they expect an arrangement will be made to permit mail to be handled on Saturdays. The office of price administration will work 40 hours a week. The order will give federal employes the eight legal holidays off; during the war they took off only on Christmas.

THOUGHTS that HEAL and PREVENT DISEASE

THE GROWING recognition among physicians and others of the value of thought in the treatment of disease, Christian Science shows to be a development of much significance and promise.

It is a step toward the universal adoption of a healing practice like that of the Founder of Christianity. For, as Christian Science shows unmistakably, a scientific method of thought was responsible for the superb healing work of Jesus. The same method, fully explained in this Science, accounts for its own remarkable cures today.

What often remains as a problem in medical practice after it has been seen that improvement in thought can improve the body, is the apparent impossibility of improving thought. This problem is solved by Christian Science, which discloses and proves that the kinds of thoughts which overcome and prevent disease are really natural for everyone.

The complete explanation of Christian Science and its method of healing and preventing disease is given in SCIENCE and HEALTH with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy

TWO NEW POLIO CASES AND ONE DEATH IN CITY

Two new cases of infantile paralysis and one additional death in Chicago were reported yesterday to health authorities, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said. The new cases brought the total number reported thus far this year to 84, with seven deaths. Last year's figures for the corresponding period were 70 cases and two deaths. Dr. Bundesen said that he considers this a normal year, and that he expects the peak to be reached in the first week in September.

TEN MILLIONS READY TO BOOST AVIATION SKILL

United Air Lines is prepared to spend 10 million dollars for purchase, development, and adaptation of electronic devices and other technological aids to air navigation evolved during the war, W. A. Patterson, president of the company, announced yesterday.

As possibilities for air transport use, Patterson mentioned traffic monitors on the radar principle; automatic position indicators; radio devices warning pilots of other planes flying near-by; automatic landing devices, and equipment for automatically recording radio information from ground stations.

J. R. Cunningham, director of communications for the line, said the first improvement in radio for air transports will be high frequency, static free radio-telephone communication by short wave between planes and from planes to the ground.

THE EIGHTY ASTONISHING YEARS

Japan hears the tramp of enemy soldiers in its streets, the sound of engines of warcraft overhead and on the ground, and sees anchored in its home harbors the greatest armada ever launched. Except for token representation by other nations these forces are American., It will be no satisfaction to the Japanese to reflect that they called this power into being.

Within 80 years Japan has performed two miracles. It rubbed two lamps. One skyrocketed it out of primitive feudalism into the modern world from a hermit nation content with almost ceaseless war at home to recognition as a great power. The other raised the military might of the United States to which Japan now bows in utter defeat, returning to the confines from which it emerged.

Japan learned too much too quickly and now learns that it was not enough. Its apprenticeship was too short, its program insanely pretentious. The shortness of the going-to-school period is vividly illustrated by the fact that when they first saw American warships, the frigates Susquehanna and Mississippi and the sloops Plymouth and Saratoga of Commodore Perry's squadron, in 1853, the Japanese were living under an ancient law limiting the construction of ships to seventy-five feet in length and forbidding them to go abroad. We asked them to change their habits, to be civilized in dealing with shipwrecked sailors, to open a port where American whalers could obtain necessary supplies and, better still, to accept American trade. Fifty years later the Japanese had a modern fleet. Its commanders were competent and its sailors had more experience in battle, at the Yalu, than the crews of any other navy.

The mushroom growth, which overtaxed the common sense of the nation and destroyed its mental sobriety, gave Japan modern industry, modern science, technical skill, a new form of government, widespread trade, and a respected place in the world without eliminating certain attributes which we call ferocity and duplicity, for which the Japanese may have better names. In keeping some of their own worst characteristics they learned some of the worst European, including the love of conquest and expropriation, mastery over other peoples and possession of others' resources, glory in imperial domain and the pleasure of governing by viceroys. They may not be able even now to distinguish between their taking of Korea, the British taking of Hong Kong, or the French of Indo-China. The rapidity with which a pupil learns may confuse him. The Japanese learned good lessons and bad lessons.

The experience these people are about to undergo is not the first of the sort in their contact with the whites, altho the earlier one, after Perry's negotiations, was brief. However, it was convincing. The Japanese gift for assassination was displayed against their new guests after the legations were established. The Satsuma and the Chosiu clans rebelled against the concessions to foreigners. A British fleet survived a monsoon to knock out the Satsuma fortifications, and an allied fleet finally disposed of the Chosiu blockade of the strait into the Inland sea. Civil war enlivened the land's political disorder and its divided leadership from which the emperor emerged as a personage of authority with the shogunate abolished. That, about 1865, started the eighty years of an era now ending for Japan.

We have only the Tokyo radio for information of Japanese internal events and conditions. The feeling here that there was stalling and trickery in Tokyo is gradually giving way to the understanding that there may have been a most difficult problem for the peacemakers. As one of our admirals observed, the nation was forced to ask for terms while the greater part of its army was intact. Much of it had not even been in action. Tokyo may not know how to handle the frantic young officers who have frequently used assassination as a means of political protest, killing cabinet ministers in their rage against government policies.

There is less reason now than there was 10 days ago to suspect the intentions of the emperor and the peace party. We may not know what all their intentions are. Nevertheless the evidences of good faith increase. The emperor's party appears to understand the consequences of the steps taken and we need not exclude the idea that there is an acceptance of the Japanese future as it appears in current events. Eighty years ago an emperor getting rid of the governmental organization which had prevailed for centuries accepted the conditions of a new life for the people. They were to learn of the outside world, deal with it, and adopt its ways. The revolution in Japanese habits was as profound as anything which ever struck a section of the human race.

From internal wars the military caste with a quick acceptance of occidental procedure turned to external wars with successes which only paved the way to final ruin. We can say for these warlike gentlemen that they were not very sensible men. They were arrogant, cruel, and vainglorious. They thought they knew what they were doing and didn't.

Eighty astonishing years have been brought to a new stage of national destinies. Americans appeared on the Pacific coast about the time Japan was forced to make its appearance in the world. A young nation was looking out over the Pacific, seeing some advantages, but with no national urge to hurry across. An old nation was determined not to wet its feet. The new nation had new ideals. The old nation had indurated habits. Yet their conflict did not seem inevitable.

The young nation was concentrated on development at home. It had only a brief, and accidental, experience in expansion from its own boundaries. Then it began its retreat. The old nation developed a crafty scheme of conquest. These are the days of its humiliation and atonement and, possibly, of another regeneration.

BARNEY HAS HIS POINTS

Barney Kessel runs a restaurant out on the west side and serves steaks. Barney has been in trouble since a year ago February with the OPA over those steaks, which it was estimated at one time brought him a gross income of $4,000 a day. He was charged then with having exceeded his red point ration by more than a million points. Part of the shortage he undertook to explain as a "bookkeeping error," which was loyally attested to by his sister-in-law, the bookkeeper. He never did explain how he managed to overdraw his account with his ration board by 400,000 more points.

He was enjoined from serving rationed meat four months later by Federal Judge Barnes, when OPA agents produced in court two steaks which Barney wasn't supposed to be serving but had served. The first of this year he was back in court with a plea to get out of the OPA doghouse, which was granted, altho originally he had been suspended for the duration of rationing.

Five months later, in June of this year, he was cited for contempt of court because of an illegal deal to obtain red ration points. When he came up for hearing his attorney got a change of venue from Judge Barnes because the judge had recalled aloud that Barney was an old time bootlegger who had had a way of making his stays in jail more pleasant than the federal courts had intended when he was sentenced. Federal Judge Shaw, who then heard the contempt charge, let Barney off with a $1,000 fine, saying that, while he may have deserved a jail sentence, he was so fat that it might endanger his health.

A couple of weeks ago Barney was brought up again for suspension of his right to buy rationed meat because of the same violation that resulted in the contempt sentence. His lawyer pleaded that he couldn't be both fined and deprived of rationed goods because that would be double jeopardy and Federal Judge Igoe suspended the ration suspension until Barney appeals to the OPA headquarters in Washington. By that time, his attorney hopefully indicated, rationing probably will be over anyway.

That is the record and we pronounce no judgment on it. All we have to say is that the OPA has a lot of nerve pushing around little butchers who were shy a few thousand red points when it hasn't been any more successful than it has in handling a fellow who, by its own account, got away with a million or more.

UNRRA AND A FREE PRESS

The united nations relief and rehabilitation administration says that it needs another billion dollars from the United States to relieve suffering in the war-torn areas of the world. Whether it needs the money we don't know. The best way to find out is to require UNRRA to adopt the simple rule proposed by Rep. Brown of Ohio—no free press, no relief.

Mr. Brown is not proposing to use the distress of other nations to force on them American constitutional freedoms, however laudable such a procedure might be. He takes the position, quite correctly, that unless American reporters can go into the country receiving aid from UNRRA we in this country cannot possibly know whether the aid is needed, whether it is getting into the proper hands, or whether it is being used as an instrument of power of a political faction.

Most of Europe is facing short rations, if not actually starvation. Food is the most powerful political weapon on that continent. If you are trying to set up a dictatorship and have control of foreign food supplies you can feed your party and starve your opponents. That isn't this country's idea of relief, but it is what is going to happen behind the wall of censorship and a controled press, if we let it happen.

The leader of the Communists in Hungary recently told those people that they would have to depend upon the generosity of Russia to carry them thru a hard winter. He said that "reactionary elements" were circulating reports that food would be forthcoming from the United States, but these reports he discounted. In communist eyes, anybody who does not like Communists is, per se, a reactionary. Obviously, the Hungarian Communists hope to have a monopoly of the food supply which they would use to enforce their political control of the nation. Food from America would break that monopoly and they do not want to see it happen, even if Hungary should suffer. The incident could be multiplied in every one of the nations behind the iron curtain of silence of which Mr. Churchill recently complained in parliament.

UNRRA is a pretty poor thing and it may be better to dissolve the whole thing and leave distribution of American relief to our own Red Cross. Since we are already supplying about three-fourths of the support of UNRRA, costs would be greatly increased in this country and we should have the satisfaction of getting rid of an international burocracy which to date has shown itself to be neither very competent nor very trustworthy.

However, if congress should grant UNRRA's request for additional funds, it should be done on the proviso that the organization shall operate only in those countries which grant full freedom to the reporters of this and other countries to enter and report what they find.

ATOMIC POSTSCRIPT

The Japanese seaport of Nagasaki, target of the second atomic bomb, should be familiar, by name, to American opera audiences. It is the scene of "Mme. Butterfly," a popular item of the standard repertory until the war caused it to be quietly shelved. [We have said this before, but the atomic bomb has given a new aura of interest to the Nagasaki tradition.]

Another opera of Japanese atmosphere, "Mme. Chrysanthème," which has been staged at least once in Chicago and is remembered by the old guard of subscribers to operatic seasons, also tells a story of Nagasaki. In both stories a foreign naval officer, American in "Butterfly," French in "Chrysanthème," forms a temporary alliance with a Japanese girl, and then sails away, breaking the heart of the cute little number in the kimono.

Why this operatic fondness for Nagasaki, when there are bigger and prettier cities in Japan? This question is rhetorical; we're going to tell you.

It is the first port of entry for ships coming to Japan from the south and west. The Chinese, the Portuguese, and then the Dutch, seeking to trade with the isolated Japanese, steered for Nagasaki. In the 17th century European commerce got its first toe-hold on the country when a small Dutch trading post was permitted to occupy an island in Nagasaki harbor. Missionaries followed the traders, and converts to Christianity were numerous.

In the age of steam, Nagasaki became a coaling station of importance. Naval squadrons on far eastern assignment often put into the harbor for long stays, and officers' wives who wouldn't stay at home occasionally became Nagasaki residents. White duck characters such as Lt. Pinkerton, U. S. N., of "Mme. Butterfly" were common there a few decades ago.

American opera-goers are notoriously hazy about what they are seeing on the stage. They excuse this mental dimness by exclaiming, "Isn't the music wonderful?" But the next time they see "Mme. Butterfly," we hope that a few of them will chirp: "The playbill says the scene is Nagasaki. Why, that's where we dropped an atomic bomb!"

RECESSIONAL

Not now in pride we gauge our triumph's height
Nor boast in jubilance the battle's goal;
The trumpets sound, the victory is bright,
But grateful hearts still know the priceless toll.
The dawn is silver and the promise sure,
But still we wait till swords are forged to plows;
Not yet exultance, till the truce endure
And gentle decades softly prove our vows.
We shall remember thru the quiet years
The lonely ones for whom no ships returned,
And pray the healing of their hidden tears
May comfort them; and in the peace they earned
May dawn's swift silver in its flame requite
Each star of gold that helped to quell the night!

Can You Sing It with Gestures?

Here, according to my memory, are the words of Fred Stone's old "Itchiban" song [Aug. 24]:

Jap, O, Jap, O Japanee,
I'd rather fight than drink my tea;
Brown as a berry, busy as a bee,
Itchiban, itchiban Japanee!
My flag it floats on every sea;
The Russian and the tough Chinee
Can tell some things regarding me.
Whoopla! Banzai! Japanee!

E. W. F.

Fred Stone may have participated in the "Itchiban" song, but it was Dave Montgomery's dish, and I can still see his wide grin while singing it.

Arthur Boettcher

The words to "Itchiban" were written by George Ade; the music by Gustav Luders.

LINES ON REMEMBERING

He said she would forget, that time would take Away the vestiges of agony
Made manifest when hearts decide to break
And years no longer look to destiny.
A young spring wind, a campanile's chime,
A book of Browning, or perhaps a star,
A lacy roadside leaf, a little rhyme,
The frogs' nocturnal song might touch the scar.
Where can she go that mad remembering
Will not pursue and haunt the healing heart?
Can there be mountains where no thoughts can wing?
Can there be jungles that no dreams can part?
He said she would forget, but does he know
The distances a memory can go?

Friend of the Yanks

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0800, gives personal interviews.]

P. V. asks: "When a soldier is convicted by a court martial and fined a portion of his pay, can any part of the $22 he contributes to family allowance be taken? If it can and the family allowance is paid in full, then the enlisted man might be placed in debt to the government. If a man is discharged in the middle of a month is deduction made for the full contribution [$22] to his family allowance?"

Class F deductions—The $22 or $27 contributed by the enlisted man to family allowance—may not be taken as part of a court martial fine. If an enlisted man is discharged at any time during a month, the class F deduction is made for the full month. Where his pay is not sufficient to cover the deduction, as much of the $22 as possible will be collected from his final pay.

T. G. asks: "Can an enlisted man who is separated from his wife and family and who is living with another woman at the time of his induction into service get a family allowance for her and their child?"

No, not for the woman, but he can for the child. If a man applies for family allowance for the mother of his child, claiming her as a wife when he already has a wife, he may be prosecuted for fraud and upon conviction fined up to $5,000 and sent to prison for up to two years. Allowance may be obtained for an illegitimate child the same as for legitimate children.

CLIMATE AND RHEUMATIC FEVER

AN OUNCE of prevention is worth a pound of cure. This, of course, is the best treatment we have against any disease and, were it applicable to all disorders, the medical man would become a mere policeman, enforcing the rules of health.

Rheumatic fever is notorious as a repeater. Attempts to ward off the initial attack have been none too successful but considerable work has been done toward prevention of subsequent episodes. We know that the ailment is usually associated with bacterial invasion of the nose, throat, or tonsils and it is generally believed that the streptococcus is the offender. It is conceivable that were colds to be minimized the possibility of a second bout would be slim. One plan is to remove diseased tonsils and adenoids after the acute illness has subsided.

Another method that has been tried is the daily administration of one of the sulfa compounds over a period of months and, in some cases, years. So far, the results have proved quite successful, but the real answer awaits only time. Since small doses are used, reactions are kept to a minimum. Once this regime has been started it is continued unless a cold occurs. It is then stopped temporarily for two to three weeks during which time salicylates are substituted. The sulfa drug is also discontinued if, in spite of these precautions, rheumatic fever returns.

Several surveys have been performed on the relationship of weather conditions and rheumatic fever. For many years we have realized that regions in which cold and storms prevail furnished a large percentage of cases. This applies also to mountainous areas, particularly where there is great variation between night and day temperatures. The disease is more prevalent among Indians living in the mountains of Wyoming than in southern Arizona and, as a matter of fact, it is more common in the northern part of that state than near the Mexican border.

Coburn at one time sent a group of school children who had previously been afflicted from New York City to Puerto Rico. During their six month stay none showed evidence of renewed rheumatic activity, but after their return home, recurrences were encountered.

Recently Sampson and his colleagues studied its incidence in three different sections in California—the damp seashore in and about Eureka, the mountains in Susanville, and the warm, dry atmosphere of the Redlands. None of the cities was immune, but there were more victims in Susanville and Eureka. What does this mean? Altho rheumatic fever is universal, it is more widespread in certain sections. Those wishing to escape a second siege are advised, if possible, to avoid these localities. Should natives who have had rheumatic fever decide to remain on their own grounds, the chances of developing another attack are greater.

The climate plan is not foolproof as, unfortunately, the disease may reappear even under ideal circumstances. But it certainly is a step in the right direction.

PRESSURE VARIATIONS

E. S. writes: Why does blood pressure register higher on the left arm than the right?

REPLY

Should differences exist, the right is usually higher than the left. Altho the cause is not known, it is probably due to anatomical variations in the two sides.

FLUID INTAKE

I. O. writes: I drink 12 glasses of water daily. My friends tell me that this will develop my stomach. Is this true?

REPLY

This amount is not necessary but it will do no harm so long as the excess is eliminated.

SKIN DEFECT

T. A. writes: What can be done for a keloid?

REPLY

This overgrowth of scar tissue is best treated by X-ray but in long standing cases the blemish should be removed surgically before starting the exposures.

BONE INFECTION

J. K. writes: What is sinus of the spine?

REPLY

In bone infections [including the vertebrae] the discharge drains to the surface thru a tiny tract called a "sinus."

IMPOSSIBLE

J. S. writes: Is there such a thing as arthritis of the bladder?

REPLY

The bladder has no joints.

Who Is Next, General?

It is perhaps just as well that Gen. De Gaulle selected Ottawa as his final stopping place on the North American continent. Ottawa is next to Quebec, and Quebec is French. The men of Quebec are fully accustomed to have other men kiss them on the cheek. The stalwart males of the United States are not. The progress of the president of the provisional French republic thru only half of the United States has unleashed a nation-wide wave of trepidation. The farther west the affectionate Frenchman moved, the more embarrassed our male citizenry became. It was very nice to have you here, mon generale, but our relief is great that you stopped your American hegira at Chicago. We well bred Americans simply could not have been responsible for your welfare in, say, Montana, had you stooped from your amazing height to implant an accolade on the cheeks of the city father of, say, Butte.

What you possibly do not know, general, is that many an American male goes years between kisses of his own wife's cheeks. This man to man stuff, charming tho it may be to the Gallic mind, is not to his taste. If the kiss is brief enough and official enough and rare enough, as the French kiss of state is, coming to Americans as it does usually only after a world war, it can be tolerated, but, sir, the embarrassment is still there.

This is not imagination. The vignettes introduced from here on are proof. The camera never lies, etc. This picture shows a side of our Gen. Marshall you probably missed. You are the kisser, he the kissee. Note the look of patient resignation under affliction.

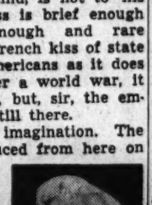
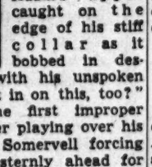
Unfortunately we do not have the space to show the faces of the spectator Americans. Adm. King, in profile, his Adam's apple caught on the edge of his stiff collar as it bobbed in desperate rhythm with his unspoken words: "Do I get in on this, too?" Gen. Arnold, the first improper curve of a snicker playing over his lips. And Gen. Somervell forcing himself to look sternly ahead for fear he would smile.

That was Washington. The next day you went to the naval academy at Annapolis and caught white haired Adm. Fitch in the middle of the parade grounds, a stocky little man in his dress whites. You had just draped the French Legion of Honor around his neck.

The picture here shows Adm. Fitch as you were working up steam. Note the closed eyes. He knows it is coming. The Associated Press photo of this scene made an unfortunate error in its credit line. It stated: "Gen. De Gaulle [left] hisses Adm. Fitch . . ."



President Truman, a Missourian who believes a man is a man, apparently got it in first. Instead of letting you give him the Legion of Honor and the kiss, he reached out and pinned our Legion of Merit [which looks something like an Elk's pin] on you. This picture shows how deftly he inserted his arm between himself and you. The gesture looks a little stiff. That is because the arm is held rigid.



The only kissee who seemed to relish it was that inimitable New Yorker, the Little Flower. He obviously was an old hand, for he reciprocated. The result, general, was un-American. In this country we charge admission for wrestling matches.

"HI-BALL" GAS

Chicago, Aug. 20—Several days ago you printed a half column from Midland, Mich., quoting Dr. William J. Hale on alcohol as a "boon to United States farmers." It is now 11 years since Dr. Hale wrote "The Farm Chemurgic." Ever since then he has been seizing occasions to promise the American farmer that very soon it will be possible for him to grow his motor fuel on his farm.

At the first Dearborn Conference of Agriculture, Industry and Science held at Dearborn, Mich., in 1935, Dr. Hale said: "We of the fermentation industries promise the selling price of anhydrous ethyl alcohol at 15 cents per gallon within three years and at a good profit. Within five years we shall be selling at near 10 cents per gallon." Alcohol made from vegetable matter today actually costs about 43 cents per gallon, according to the figures you present, obtained presumably from Hale.

Certainly "alcohol can be made from corn, wheat, rye . . . and many other agricultural products." The whole point is that it cannot be made at a price to compete with gasoline.

Discussing the "vitameter" Dr. Hale manages to convey an impression that the use of an alcohol-water combination in this gadget is an indication of the coming importance of alcohol as a motor fuel. As a matter of fact, the purpose of the alcohol is not primarily to supplant or supplement gasoline as a motor fuel, but simply to make it practicable to use water as a knock suppressant. Dr. Hale might have gone on to say that, at ordinary summer temperatures, water, which costs nothing, is as satisfactory for this purpose as alcohol, which costs 43 cents a gallon. Alcohol is used in combination with water only to prevent the water from freezing.

In this connection it is of interest to recall part of what Rear Adm. Ralph Davison, then assistant chief, bureau of aeronautics, said in a letter to the Hon. Guy M. Gillette under date of May 4, 1943: "For emergency powers for short periods of time the use of alcohol, alcohol-water solution, or of water alone has been shown to be advantageous. Since only short periods of time are involved at such emergency powers, the effect of heat content of the fuel is of minor importance, and the tests showed that water alone was as effective as alcohol and that the main advantage of alcohol solutions is to prevent freezing of the water under low temperatures encountered in flight."

HALF-SIZES

Chicago, Aug. 11—Dress manufacturers know that a good portion of the American women are so-called "half-size" figures, and they make dresses and even undergarments in these sizes. The popularity of these is shown by the fact that I have to step lively to get the 16½ that I wear, as they leave the shops as fast as they come in.

This being the case, among the millions of paper patterns made, why in the name of common sense isn't there even one half-size pattern for those of us who like to make our own clothes, or, more important, those who are economically compelled to do so?

RITA ELDRED

PARTY FOR AMERICAN-AMERICANS

Chicago, Aug. 23—A lot of banquets are going to be held to celebrate this and that during the next few months. Hyphenated Americans are going to promote the greatest grab on the nation since lend-lease was foisted upon them.

Now I have an idea which the banquet trotters would call a stinker. This is that we have a banquet for the American-American and that dress suits be barred. If any one shows up in the soup and fish, the idea is that he be made to wait on the rest of the guests. Of course, this has nothing to do with the treatment that Sgt. Hendrix received in Washington the other day when he went into a hotel with his folks.

I often wonder whether if we had had no dress suit gang in America would we have been involved in these foreign wars. So maybe it is about time that we recognize those Americans who pay most of the taxes and produce most of the casualties in foreign wars. I mean the American-Americans, the Joe Doakes of this great land.

UNDERPRIVILEGED PREMIUM WAGE EARNERS

Chicago, Aug. 18—It seems to me that the plan to pay unemployed war workers $25 a week is unwise and unfair. White collar workers have been obliged all thru the war to remain at their regular jobs at salaries frozen at a low level. The war workers have been making very high wages. Out of these they ought to have been able to save enough to tide them over a short period of unemployment. I have heard of some war workers who have saved thousands of dollars and done very well by themselves during the war.

DE GAULLE GIVEN WARM WELCOME IN LOOP PARADE

Mayor Presents Him with Scroll at City Hall

A warm, but far from feverish, demonstration of welcome was staged in Chicago's loop yesterday for Gen. Charles de Gaulle, president of the French provisional government, who came to the United States seeking further aid for his people.

The tall French leader, who carried on from England after his country was defeated, rode in a parade from the Blackstone hotel to the west entrance of the city hall, and there received from Mayor Kelly an illuminated scroll welcoming him to Chicago.

Crowd Watches Parade

During the parade, the sidewalks of State st. were lined with watchers, two and three deep, and a larger crowd was assembled in the block between Madison and Washington sts.

In front of the city hall, every foot of space was filled by a crowd estimated by Mayor Kelly at 20,000 persons.

Gen. de Gaulle and his party went to the Palmer House for a luncheon sponsored by the Chicago Association of Commerce and attended by a capacity crowd of 1,250 persons.

Speaks of U. S. Help

He was welcomed by Thomas B. Freeman, president of the association, who praised the general's gallantry and the patriots of France. Gen. de Gaulle, replying in French, said:

"What would become of America if Europe dissolved into chaos? What would become of Europe if America's help was not forthcoming as it always is at the most critical times? We shall fulfill our duty together."

In the afternoon he left by plane for Ottawa, Canada. He arrived there last night.

WAR OBJECTOR, AIDING IN POLIO RESEARCH, DIES

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 28 (AP)—Yale university announced today that a conscientious objector had died of infantile paralysis after doing experimental work on the disease as a technician in one of its laboratories.

A university spokesman identified the victim as Warren G. Dugan, 27, of Sugar Grove, Ill.

Warren G. Dugan

The university announcement said Dugan became ill Friday night and was taken to New Haven hospital, where he died Sunday afternoon. He was one of three conscientious objectors working at the Yale school of medicine.

Dr. John R. Paul, professor of preventive medicine, who is in charge of the work, said "there is no specific accident or incident in connection with his [Dugan's] acquisition of the disease."

GRADUATE OF ILLINOIS

Warren G. Dugan was a graduate of engineering of the University of Illinois and for a time was employed in research at the university.

After being classified as a conscientious objector in the army he was assigned to forestry work in Michigan before going to the Yale university laboratories.

URGES 5 MILLION AIR ACADEMY AS BONG MEMORIAL

Superior, Wis., Aug. 28 [Special]—Rep O'Konski [R., Wis.] today announced plans to ask congress for a $5,000,000 appropriation to establish a United States aviation training academy here as a "lasting and living memorial" to the nation's ace of aces, the late Maj. Richard Ira Bong of Poplar, Wis.

"A West Point of the air at Superior, where Maj. Bong first got his start in flying, is the most fitting memorial the federal government could provide," O'Konski said.

The Superior airport, which would be expanded into an important federal base under the congressman's plans, was named last January in honor of Maj. Bong. He was killed Aug. 6 in the explosion of a jet propelled plane during a test flight at Burbank, Cal.

O'Konski said in a statement that he had written all members of congress to obtain support of the bill he will introduce when congress reconvenes, and that 85 congressmen pledged support of the measure and none refused.

MORESCHI, BOVE NAMED IN SUITS; 3 MILLIONS ASKED

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 [Special]—Joseph V. Moreschi, president of the International Hod Carriers' union; James Bove, former vice president, and the union itself were named in damage suits filed here today by the Sand Hogs union, local 147, of New York, and 264 members of the local.

The suits, filed in the United States District court, seek a total of $3,140,000, including $500,000 from the international union.

The actions are an outgrowth of a union scandal which led to Bove's conviction on an extortion charge and the indictment of Moreschi last spring in connection with the use of funds of a Washington local.

HE'S SLEUTHING FOR EVIDENCE, SAYS FUGITIVE

Jail Breaker Promises to Come Back

Elizabethtown, Ill., Aug. 28 [Special]—Somewhere tonight—authorities don't know just where—an escaped prisoner is searching for evidence to disprove the charges of every one who has accused him of being a holdup man. When he gets the proof, he'll give himself up—he says.

The fugitive is George Baker, 37, of Herod, Ill. It's his contention he is the victim of a case of mistaken identity in being accused of taking $75 and gasoline coupons April 24 at the point of a sawed-off shotgun from William Oglesby in Oglesby's general store at Hicks Branch.

He also contends it isn't true that Sheriff Ivy Joyner permitted him to escape from the Hardin county jail here last Wednesday night by leaving him alone in the jail with the door unlocked. State's Atty. Clarence Soward disagrees with him on that, however.

Newspaper Gets Letter

After he walked out of the jail, however he got out, the sheriff reported finding a letter from him in which Baker said he was "sorry he had to leave," but that he would "be back later with my attorney."

Today the Harrisburg Daily Register received a letter from the fugitive denying the charges against him and promising that "when I get all the evidence I want, I will turn myself over to the proper authorities."

"I had nothing to do with the robbery and will prove that in time," Baker wrote in letter in pencil mailed yesterday from his home town of Herod.

"I will not give in for a trial before Soward and his kangaroo court . . . Mr. Joyner is the only honest one of the lot . . . He did not let me out, as he is accused, and I am not one to see an innocent person stand under an unjust accusation."

Identified in Holdup

Baker has been identified by Oglesby as the man who held him up. Two women, Mrs. Ruby Sullivan Palmer of Carrier Mills and Miss Olive Blanche Griffith of Harco, told police they sat outside in a car while Baker entered the store. The women were arrested Friday and are held on bonds of $1,500 each as accomplices. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Davis, Harrisburg restaurant operators, identified him as having been in their restaurant with the women.

MISSING SEVEN YEARS, HIS WILL GOES TO COURT

A petition to probate the will of James Gordon, former Lake Forest police chief who disappeared in 1938 in Palm Beach, Fla., was filed yesterday in Lake county Probate court in Waukegan.

Gordon, who was chief from 1918 to 1925, has not been seen by Lake Forest acquaintances since he left his Palm Beach hotel for breakfast.

William Scott, 292 E. Granby rd., Lake Forest, executor of the will which Gordon made April 1, 1936, stated in the petition that Gordon must be presumed under Illinois law to be legally dead. He said the will left an estate of about $1,500 to a sister, Mrs. Jane Nesbit, Flushing, N. Y. Judge Martin C. Decker set the hearing for Oct. 1.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED BY WOMAN'S AUTO

An unidentified man, about 60, was fatally injured yesterday when he was struck in front of 1400 Augusta blvd. by an automobile driven by Mrs. Ruth Levy, 27, of 1711 N. Mead av. He died en route to North Avenue hospital.

Joseph Backovitch, 58, a fuel oil company manager who lived two miles north of Grayslake, Lake county, was killed when his truck was struck by a Soo Line freight train in Grayslake. Witnesses said crossing signals warned that the train was approaching. Fred Peters of Fond du Lac, Wis., was the engineer.

Carbon Monoxide Blamed in Death of Sailor's Wife

Carbon monoxide poisoning was indicated in a coroner's report yesterday as the cause of the death of Mrs. Mildred Bollenbach, 21, of 3846 Diversey av., a sailor's wife, whose partly clad body was found in her basement apartment Aug. 14. Police said they found a gas jet open in the kitchen when Mrs. Bollenbach's body was found on the living room floor with her hands tied loosely behind her back with a stocking.

LIBERTY AHEAD, ARGENTINA TOLD BY U. S. ENVOY

Braden Pledges Aid at Washington

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 28 (AP)—Spruille Braden, United States ambassador to Argentina, said today in a speech bristling with attacks on fascist governments that he intended to continue without interruption "the task which I was discharging here" when he takes up his duties in Washington, D. C., as assistant secretary of state.

Braden said the Argentine people could count on his support at all times.

'Voice of Liberty' Heard

"Let no one imagine then that my transfer to Washington will mean I am abandoning the task I have been discharging here," he said. "The voice of liberty is making itself heard in this country and I do not believe any one will be able to smother it."

The speech was accepted as having direct application to Argentina's military regime.

Braden was the honor guest at a luncheon given him by Argentine and American cultural institutes as an atonement for a campaign against him which has been traced to certain government offices.

Foreign Head Named

President Edelmiro Farrell announced that Juan I. Cooke, a member of the Radical [Liberal] party had been named foreign minister to succeed Cesar Ameghino, who offered his resignation last week. Cooke is the third member of the Radical party in the cabinet. Ameghino's resignation was accepted earlier in the day.

A high government official said that Farrell "had not changed his desire to withdraw from the government." Farrell's desire to give up the presidency was first reported last week. He was said to have resented the inroads made by Vice President Juan Peron on the presidential duties.

Miss Gardner's Engagement to Ensign Is Told

BY JUDITH CASS

INTERESTING romantic news is contained in the announcement Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Gardner of Winnetka are making today of the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn, to Ensign Warren Carstensen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans L. Carstensen of Cambridge, Mass. Mrs. Gardner and her daughter now are at the family's summer home in Hyannisport, Mass., but are expected to return to Winnetka shortly after Labor day.

Miss Gardner was graduated from the Masters' school at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., and attended Connecticut college. She was introduced to society at a tea at home in Winnetka in September, 1940, and is a member of the Chicago Junior league. She has served as a Red Cross nurses' aid at County hospital for the last three winters.

Ensign Carstensen was graduated from the Belmont Hill school in Massachusetts and attended Harvard university until 1943, when he entered the naval air forces.

Other Engagements

The engagement of Miss Cynthia Jeanne Howe to Lt. Joseph Warren Brown of the army air forces, son of Mrs. Harold L. Brown of Evanston, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Halsted Homer Howe of Highland Park. Miss Howe and her fiancé were graduated from the Highland Park High school. She attended Bradford Junior college, and Lt. Brown studied at the University of Illinois before entering the service. He and his brother, Lt. Robert C. Brown, also of the army air forces, are at home on leave following their release from a German prison camp in which they both were interned.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. McKeever of Evanston of the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn, to Ensign Joseph A. Oeming of the naval reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Oeming of Saginaw, Mich. Miss McKeever is attending the University of Michigan, from whose college of engineering her fiancé was graduated last year. Ensign Oeming received his commission at the Columbia university naval reserve midshipmen's school and is on duty in the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter J. Weber of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Jean, to Flight Officer William C. Rees of the army air forces, son of Mrs. William Rees of Winchester, Ky. Miss Weber attended Grinnell college and Northwestern university. Her fiancé has returned from duty overseas as a glider pilot. The wedding is planned for early fall.

White Elephant Party

Rain or shine, the mannequins modeling in a fashion show during the annual White Elephant stock raising party Sept. 6 for the benefit of Children's Memorial hospital will parade the latest fall fashions against unusual settings. If the weather man coöperates, the show will be held around the azure-painted swimming pool adjoining Miss Gwethalyn Jones' Lake Forest home. In case of rain, the show will be moved to the classic colonnaded bathing house at one end of the pool or into Miss Jones' home.

Modeling in the 4 p. m. show, which will be followed by tea, will be Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., Mrs. Lester Armour Jr., Miss Mervyn and Miss Kyle Adams, Mrs. John P. Bent, Miss Jean Carney, Miss Patricia Cathcart, Miss Ruth Cummings, Miss Nancy Clement, Miss Beth Coleman, Miss Betty Swift, Mrs. Alanson Donald, Miss Naoma Donnelley, Mrs. Joseph Green, Mrs. James Getz, Miss Pamela Kelley, Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Miss Patricia and Miss Hollis McLaughlin, Mrs. George W. Merck, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine, Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted, and Miss Helen and Miss Barbara Priebe. Admission will be by a gift of merchandise which can be sold in the White Elephant Rummage shop at 27 E. Ohio st. Mrs. T. Philip Swift and Mrs. William H. Mitchell are in charge of the party, which will start at 3 p. m.

Miss Elizabeth Anne Stoll

Miss Elizabeth Anne Stoll is among the young women entering Manhattanville College of the Sacred Heart in New York who will be entertained at a tea Sept. 8 in the Winnetka home of Mrs. Arthur M. Hoffman, president of the Manhattanville Alumnae association. Miss Stoll, daughter of the John O. Stolls of Northbrook, attended Sacred Heart academy in Sheridan rd.

Thru the Looking Glass

Those three-way mirrors in the dress shops can prove something of a shock, particularly now if you're trying on the new fall fashions with the deep-cut, full sleeves and the hip-revealing lines. If you're posture isn't up to par, you might leave with an inferiority complex and the conclusion that the new styles just aren't for you. And they're not if you haven't the gumption to pull yourself up to full height, tummy and hips tucked in, shoulders held straight and proud, because most of the new styles simply aren't kind to the slouchy figure. But they can be immensely flattering to the woman who carries herself well.

Good posture is merely a matter of habit and it's easier, really, to stand up straight than it is to droop down in a bulgy, homely heap. When you're in front of the all revealing mirror, take a long look, not just at the dress but at your figure, and decide just what is wrong. More than likely you'll discover that it's your bad posture that makes the clothes hang badly and look so funny.

Then take a deep breath, pull yourself up and together and notice the improvement. You'll be amazed at the difference and will be able to see and appreciate the cut of the dress and the becomingness of it. Just to prove your point, let yourself sag down again and determine that it's the last time you're going to let it happen.

When bad posture has been a long standing defect, you may need some exercises to help whip you back into shape and strengthen neglected muscles. There's nothing quite like the old routine of touching the floor with the fingertips, knees unbent, to slim hips and stomach and form a natural girdle. The standard shoulder exercise of swinging the arms in small, backward circles is simple to do and effective in developing a good shoulder line. These will help you to stand straight without effort and wear the new clothes to better advantage.

Parties Planned for Chicagoans Off to School

BY HARIETT PRIBBLE

Their smart new luggage packed with favorite cardigans, moccasins, and party trimmings, young Chicagoans will be off within the next week or so to take up their textbooks at eastern colleges. Among the parties planned for incoming freshmen before their departure from Chicago is a tea which Mrs. John R. Nicholson, president of the Evanston-North Shore Smith College club, will give Sept. 5 in her Glencoe home for new north shore students at Smith.

Among the Smith freshmen who are invited to meet some of the college's upperclassmen are the Misses Elizabeth Swift, Harriet Stuart, Elizabeth Siefkin, Elizabeth Ann Ruggles, Alice Mumford, Marion Moore, Hollis McLaughlin, Helen Louise Kiddoo, Elizabeth Anne Cook, Alice Barnes, and Sara Jane Anderson. Miss Cook received the Evanston-North Shore club's 1945 scholarship.

One of the largest groups of freshmen drawn from the Chicago area is reporting tomorrow in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for entrance to Vassar college. The group includes the Misses Charlotte Eliersgaard, Joan Farwell, Katharine Ann Kittleman, Ellen Ryerson, Laura Broeksmit, Joyce Cummings, Mary Louise DeLong, Constance Dunham, Fanny Day Farwell, Jo Ann Shorney, Josephine Swett, Joan Mari Fiedler, Mary Martha Johnson, Margaret Hayes, Barbara Ann Blunt, Katharine Dawes, Barbara Rycroft, Barbara Jean Hoehne, and Nancy Lourie. Miss Hayes holds a scholarship from the Chicago Vassar club.

Freshmen entering Bryn Mawr college will have a chance to meet undergraduates and some of the school's recent graduates at a luncheon Saturday in the Lake Forest home of Mrs. William Burry. Mrs. Burry is president of the Bryn Mawr College club of Chicago.

The annual tea held each September for young women entering Wellesley college and their mothers will be given Sept. 9 in the Kenilworth home of Mrs. Herbert Zipprodt. Among the freshmen who will report to the Wellesley, Mass., campus late in September are the Misses Margaret Goodman, Dorothy Jenney, Claire Pfaelzer, Wynn Mason, Barbara Daniels, Marilyn Pearson, Patricia Taylor, Mary Bannerman, Jane Curtis, Katherine Heald, Mary Jane Latsis, Odette Hatch, Barbara Cody, and Jerol Jones.

Campaign to Keep Nursery Schools Open Is Planned by Parents

More than 125 parents met in the Columbus park fieldhouse last night to outline plans for a campaign seeking the continuation of war time nursery schools, supported by federal funds, which are to be closed on or before Oct. 31. They represented seven schools on the west side.

Petitions bearing several hundred names and appealing to congress to continue the schools, at least thru the reconversion period and preferably permanently, were turned in. Others were given out to workers who will seek signatures. Committees were appointed. Mrs. Theresa Freelove, 5334 Harrison st., was named temporary chairman of the group.

Similar meetings have been held or are planned for other sections of the city. Among the meetings scheduled is one at 64 W. Randolph st. tomorrow, at which an attendance of 100 or more nursery school teachers is expected.

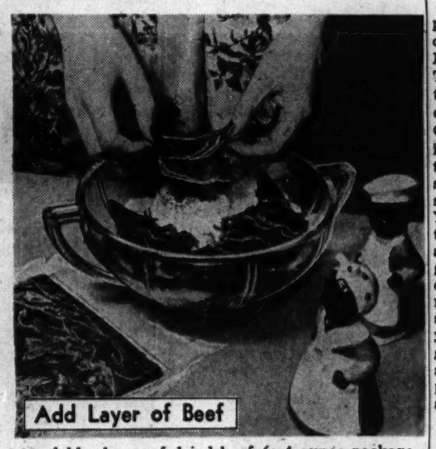
Scalloped Potatoes and Dried Beef Make Tasty Dish

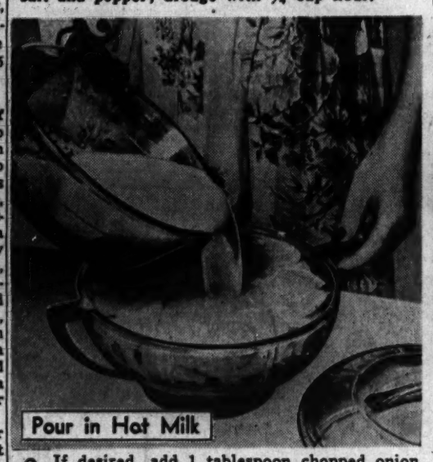
Slice Potatoes Thin

1. Pare six medium sized potatoes and slice thin; place half in greased casserole deep enough to prevent overflowing. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; dredge with ¼ cup flour.



Add Layer of Beef

2. Add a layer of dried beef (a 4 ounce package will do). Place remaining potatoes over the top. Add 2 teaspoons of margarine or butter to 3 cups of hot milk; stir to dissolve.



Pour in Hot Milk

3. If desired, add 1 tablespoon chopped onion to milk; then pour over potatoes. Bake, covered, in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees) for ⅓ hour; uncover and bake 10 minutes longer.

Serve with Green Beans

4. When a delicately browned crust has formed on top, remove from oven. Serve with fresh green beans and radish rosé garnish as shown in picture. Makes approximately six portions.

Butter Supplies to Rise Slightly; Points Cut to 12

A little more butter will be available for civilians starting Saturday, when the department of agriculture terminates an order which required creameries to set aside butter for military use, the office of price administration announced yesterday. A previously announced reduction of the ration value of butter from 16 to 12 red points a pound will become effective Sunday.

About 100 million pounds of butter will be put on the civilian market in September, the agriculture department estimated. Twenty per cent of the August production was taken by the government, but the increase to civilians will be less than this percentage because butter production declines thru the fall and winter. The war department yesterday refused, "for reasons of military security," to tell how much the army has on hand.

Effective tomorrow, grapefruit will cost 2 cents less at 11 cents a pound, Idaho russet and long white potatoes will be down 2 cents at 27 cents for five pounds, and green peas will be 2 cents less at 18½ cents a pound, James F. Riley, Chicago area director of the OPA, said yesterday.

Other changes in the OPA's weekly price list were: Wealthy apples, 14½ cents a pound, up ½ cent; greening apples, 14 cents a pound, up ½ cent; peaches, 13½ cents a pound, down ½ cent; carrots, 5 cents a pound, down ½ cent; onions [dry-yellow and red under three inches], 22 cents for three pounds, down 2 cents; onions [dry-yellow and red three inches and over], 25 cents for three pounds, down 2 cents.

Arizona and California small oranges were added to the list at 8 cents a pound.

Chicago area OPA officials renewed their warning to housewives to save the green stamps in ration book 4, even tho they temporarily are of no value. The stamps, they explained, will be designated for meats and fats on the ration program when the red stamps in the present ration book have been used up.

Pendulum of Luck Swings from Ruinous to Fabulous As Musicians Hear of European Homes

There are two kinds of luck in the matter of recovering European property, and Edith Mason Ragland's friends are hoping that when news comes of her villa in the Dolomites it will incline toward the Trapp Family's rather than that received by Rosa Raisa and Giacomo Rimini. The Riminis, who before the war spent a good part of each summer at their villa near Verona, finally heard what happened to it first during occupation by Mussolini's Italians and later when taken over by the Germans. What they heard closed a door not to be reopened. Furnishings vanished, silk stripped from the walls, wool ripped from upholstery, gardens and fruit trees destroyed by trenches—it is a ruin. Yet it had been so lovely a place that when Marion Claire decorated a WGNB studio its green gauze glass curtains came straight from cherished memories of that now ravished home at Verona. I never saw it, but I can never forget the year Raisa was in such a hurry to get there. They had some live stock on the place and it was multiplying. Raisa confided, "We expect a baby veal."

But the pendulum can swing just as sharply in the other direction. The Trapp Family, now celebrated for its touring choir, left its Salzburg home when its heads decided they couldn't go on indefinitely refusing to comply with such regulations as the hanging of the swastika at their door. They now live on a big Vermont farm and intend to stay there. But two of the sons, sergeants in the 9th army, investigated their old home, now in protective custody but destined to revert to the Trapps, and found it approximately tripled in value. It was headquarters for Heinrich Himmler, who had added, among other things, guest houses, luxurious marble baths, electric installations, greenhouses, and, partial explanation for all this, a palatial suite for Adolf Hitler. Maybe the Trapps can use it for a hotel when the Salzburg festival gets back in stride.

And, who knows, perhaps Goering or Goebbels took a fancy to that place in the Dolomites, where Mrs. Ragland may find marble swimming pools, an air field, and a gallery of the world's rifled treasures. Or, with less luck, desolation.

Notes

Abe Cohen telephoned to confirm his resignation as local general manager of the Shubert theaters, but the Shuberts still think he can be persuaded to stay. . . . Otto Kruger will play on the stage the "Laura" role Clifton Webb played with such waspish skill in the movie. In the book the character looks like Orson Welles and talks like the late Alexander Woollcott. . . . Tickets for single events in the two series of History and Enjoyment of Music concerts go on sale Sept. 7. . . . Sidney Blackmer will play opposite Eugenie Leontovich in "Caviar to the General." . . . Paramount is helping finance Elmer Rice's "Dream Girl," which the Playwrights' company will produce with Betty Field [Mrs. Rice] in the title role and possibly with Jed Harris directing. . . . Several New York producers are reported interested in a musical about an honest Chicago gambler, which they appear to consider unusual. It's called "Danny Boy."

An Old Color, Gray, Again Is Fresh, Young

BY REA SEEGER

Gray, long considered an "old" color, is triumphantly young and smart in the first significant fashion showings introducing a new season. The college girls are buying gray and then more gray, from silver grays to the classic suits of men's wear gray flannel, almost steel gray in shade. Separate skirts, separate jackets, short or full length coats, trimmed or untrimmed as to fur, also rate high in popularity value judging by the sales volume. Even the sweater addicts are buying gray, so gray takes the spotlight for any and every wardrobe.

Soft suits, some with bows and some with intricate band applique, are outstanding buys for the suit collectors. These usually are a soft flattering definite gray without any overtones or undertones of yellow, pink, or blue—just the effective half and half mixture of black with white or the yarn dyed gray, becoming to every one. Coat dresses of this subtle neutral tone are other smart models, some with sideswept drapery or shirrings, some with the button down the front march of buttons and buttonholes. Afternoon dresses of pewter gray, soft gray wool, or clinging crepes have the new long sleeves of fall and winter, the much wider armholes, and the graciously curved and sloping shoulders.

Snappy short coats that swing just clear of the kneeline, are most effective when trimmed with brown furs, for this brown with gray of any shade or tint is just as high fashion as brown with black—for some women just a bit more subtle and flattering than the black with brown. Gray wool coats trimmed with black braid, and lined with black are ideal finds for the career girl, for such a coat or one of all-gray is an all-purpose model that is equal in fashion to the all blacks as a foundation coat.

'This Nettle Danger'

By William MacLeod Raine

(Copyright: 1945: By William MacLeod Raine)

SYNOPSIS: In the feud between homesteaders and cattlemen Bruce Sherrill, leader of the homesteaders, is wounded. Trapped, he rides to the ranch of Cliff Applegate, his chief enemy. Linda Applegate hides him because he is wounded. When Linda and her father tell Jeff Randall what they have done Cliff and Jeff quarrel bitterly. A former Rough Rider, Bruce goes to Washington and gets the President's promise to investigate the feud. After a quarrel with his father Ben Randall visits the Applegates. He suspects Linda has more than a humane interest in Bruce. Two government men arrive. While Bruce is rounding up cattle a shot misses him. In self-defense he shoots Wally Jelks. Randall witnesses the shooting and reports it to the government men. To Linda and Ben, Rod admits Jelks got what he deserved. Linda says Bruce is unfortunate, and Rod realizes she is too independent to be his wife. Jeff conspires with Cairns for a frame-up raid. Bruce persuades Sheriff Humphreys that Cairns could have planned the raid to prejudice the government men against the homesteaders. Fearing Flack may talk under pressure, Jeff pays Milroy to kill him. Flack's diary shows he was paid by Randall for spying. The government orders all fences including government land taken down. Linda is spied upon by Cairns when she is bathing in a swimming hole. Her brother rescues her and beats up Cairns. Cliff adds a lashing. Jeff suggests to Cairns to hit Linda thru Bruce, with whom she is in love. There's a rumor Humphreys has found a witness to Flack's murder. Posing as his deputy, Tepley makes a tour of inspection with Humphreys. Word gets around that Tepley is the witness. Bruce fears for their safety, and is joined by Cliff in an attempt to warn them. By signal Tepley identifies Milroy at Randall's ranch. As the sheriff and Tepley are leaving Bruce and Cliff arrive.

PURSUIT

Jeff had been angry at Cliff, still was in fact, but his anger did not run to a deep hatred. "Since you are here, Cliff, you'd better get off and rest yore saddle," Jeff said. "I haven't had a chin with you for a long time."

"Some other day, Jeff," Cliff said. "I'm too busy to stop now."

"You weren't too busy to ride all the way over here with this scalawag Sherrill," Jeff told him.

"I didn't want him to come along," Cliff said bluntly. "If your invitation holds we'll come over some other time."

"Don't bother. It's now or never."

"Just as you say." Cliff turned to the sheriff. "If you're ready we'll start, Tim."

Jeff watched them go. Half an hour later he hunted Rod.

"Boy, slap a saddle on yore bronc and ride after your uncle," he said. "I'm scared something will happen to him. Bill Cairns may have seen him come and be watching to get him. Cliff gave him a terrible quirting the other day and he wants to get even."

"Why didn't you tell me sooner?" Rod demanded.

"I kept gettin' more worried, thinking it over. Likely there's no sense in worrying. Still, if that fool Cairns did take a crack at him there would be the devil to pay."

Five minutes later Rod broke out of the yard at a gallop.

Sheriff Humphreys waited till they had topped the ridge at the lip of the valley before he burst out with the indignant question he had been holding back.

"What have you to say to me, Bruce, so danged important it brought you busting into the Diamond Tail?"

Applegate answered for Sherrill. "Word came from Redrock that yore new deputy is an important witness in the Flack case, and that you had brought him along to identify the killer. He was so het up I got to worrying, too. I ought to have had better sense."

Bruce explained apologetically. "I was playing a hunch, Tim, that the fellow who killed Flack lives at the Diamond Tail. If he does—and if word had reached him that you were bringing Tepley to identify the murderer—I thought you two wouldn't be good insurance risks."

The sheriff stared at him, but his eyes were looking at details that began to piece themselves together in his mind. What had been a vague sense of danger sharpened to a certainty.

Humphreys said sharply, "You're right, Bruce. If you hadn't warned us, neither Tepley nor I would have reached the Bar BB alive."

"Now you've gone crazy with heat, too, Tim," scoffed Applegate.

"Tell him your story," the sheriff said to his deputy.

The cowboy repeated what he knew. He was willing to take oath that Quint Milroy was the man he had seen riding from Flack's cabin just after the shot had been fired.

Applegate was unhappy. He did not doubt that Tepley was telling the truth, and he was sure that if Milroy had killed Flack it had been done at Jeff's order. He understood now why Randall had tried to detain him at the ranch.

"If they mean to bushwhack us, what spot would they pick?" Humphrey asked.

"The only good place would be at the gulch the other side of Tucker's Prong." Applegate answered. "The ground is hilly, with plenty of brush, and a trail winds up the gulch by which they could get back to the Diamond Tail without being seen."

"That trail leads two ways," Bruce drawled.

The cattleman caught his meaning. "So it does. If we strike it above us here it will take us to the gully where they are lying, assuming that it is true they are out to get you and Tepley, Tim."

"You mean we could surprise them and capture Milroy now," the sheriff said.

"That's what I mean," Applegate replied.

"I'll have to swear you in as deputies," Humphreys said.

Bruce remembered his promise to Linda.

"Three of us will be enough," he said. "I don't think Mr. Applegate need go. Randall will regard this as a personal fight on him, and we don't want to start trouble among relatives."

Cliff turned on him, resentful antagonism in his bleak eyes. "If you will kindly let me run my own business, sir," he said.

Bruce had nothing more to say. He knew his attempt to exclude Applegate had been crude, but it was the best he could think of at the moment.

They passed thru a gate into a Diamond Tail pasture. This they crossed, ascending by a grade that got steadily sharper to the plateau above. After leaving the pasture they struck a trail and followed it. This was ground that Applegate knew. It was still open range, and his cattle mingled with the Diamond Tail stock to feed on it.

Applegate drew up in a cluster of pines and swung from the saddle. They were on Trucker's Prong. The other three dismounted, tying their horses to young trees as Cliff was doing. He led them into the upper neck of the gulch.

"No talking," he ordered. "And don't make any noise. When we get far enough down so that I can see them I'll give you a signal. You'll have to be very careful how you move. We'll spread out. Lie low till you hear me give the order to Milroy to drop his gun. I don't know how near we can get to them without being seen."

The sheriff added a word. "We are here to capture Milroy. If we can do it without any shooting, fine. We must not hurt either Milroy or Cairns, except in absolute self-defense."

"If they make a break to escape when I throw down on them, don't kill them," Cliff said. "Shoot their horses."

Applegate took the first quarter of a mile at a steady walk. As he got lower he moved more slowly. One of the Diamond Tail men might be stationed higher than the other, to make sure a chance range rider did not drift down on his way to the road. At a bend in the gulch he raised a hand in warning. The others joined him. If their guess about the ambushers was correct, the men were concealed somewhere in the deep carpet of vegetation.

"We'd better separate here," the sheriff directed. "You creep down close to the left wall, Tepley. I'll be next you, with Sherrill on my right. Then Applegate. We must try to keep abreast of one another. We're going to have a heck of a time getting thru the brush without being heard.

Child Behavior Is Affected by Lack of Sleep

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS
[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Peggy Jane was such a sweet tempered, roly-poly little baby, but now she whines and misbehaves most of the time. I wonder what's wrong?" questioned the child's aunt.

"I know where the trouble lies," answered the little girl's grandmother, "but Paul and Margaret don't find it convenient to believe it when I tell them that Peggy Jane doesn't get enough rest. Any hour at night is a suitable bed time for that child and it's ruining her disposition and her health."

You know what loss of sleep does to you or, if not to you, to most persons. It affects their disposition, their nerves, their energy for work or their zest for play.

It does the same thing to children. Yet how often some of us fail to trace crossness, irritability, lassitude, lack of appetite, loss of weight to insufficient sleep! Sometimes it seems as tho sleep is the most neglected factor in the care of children. Children who are well fed, kept immaculately clean, and have plenty of outdoor sunshine and air often are allowed to go short on sleep.

Yet sleep is as important as any one of the others. If we stop to think what it can do for us in times of mental or physical stress or in actual illness we can get an inkling of its importance to children. Then, when we consider their constant activity and the inroads that their growth makes on their energy, we begin to realize just the physical need alone that our children have for adequate sleep, not to mention the mental and emotional surcease it gives them.

Look about you and you'll notice a great variation in the amount of sleep children of the same age get. Summer in the country provides more opportunity to notice this than winter. Some children of 3 will be tucked in by 7:30, while others can be seen to wander around at 9:30. Some of 11 years will go swinging along the roads at 10:30 at night, while others will be in the house at 8:30. Some parents who really mean to take good care of their children of 9 and 6, we'll say, make a practice of letting them stay up until they themselves go to bed.

To be sure, some children need more sleep than others, as we see with the sluggish child, the overactive child, the mentally alert child, but there is not a great variation in the amount of sleep that will keep them fit. Certainly sleep is "tired nature's sweet restorer."

WAVE Officer Is Recent Bride of Lt. Watrous

Announcement is made of the marriage Aug. 18 of Lt. [j. g.] Carol Roig of the WAVES, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Roig of New York, and Lt. David Gapen Watrous of the naval reserve, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius A. Crowell of Evanston and Chicago. The ceremony took place in Christ Episcopal church, Coronado, Cal., with a reception following at the North Island naval air station at Coronado, where both Lt. Watrous and his bride are stationed.

The bride, a member of the New York Junior league, was graduated from the Shipley school and Smith college. She made her debut at a dance at the Piping Rock club in Locust Valley, N. Y. Lt. Watrous, son of P. J. Watrous of New York, attended the Shattuck Military school and Northwestern university and followed a business career in Chicago and New York before enlisting for naval pilot training in 1942. Lt. Watrous also is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parker of Janesville, Wis.

Two wedding announcements, one in the conventional French style, the other according to American custom, have been received by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Plath of Giddings st., announcing the marriage of Mlle. Heliane Charlotte Camus to the Plaths' son, Sgt. Warren Karl Plath of the army air forces, on June 15 in Paris. The bride is the daughter of Mme. Max de Lagrevol of Paris. The ceremony took place in the church of St. Louis d'Antin, Sgt. Plath, who attended Nork Park college, has been overseas for three years. He expects to return home at Christmas time and hopes to bring his bride with him.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Emil L. F. Heinrich of Oak Park of the recent marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to the Rev. H. W. Schweppe of Alma, Wis. Both the Rev. Mr. Schweppe and his bride are graduates of North Central college. The Rev. Mr. Schweppe, son of Mrs. H. F. Schweppe of Prairie du Sac, Wis., also was graduated from the Evangelical Theological seminary at Naperville.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Quebbeman of Walkerton, Ind., announce the marriage June 23 of their daughter, Catherine, to Earl Greensley, son of Mrs. Leroy Greensley of S. Laflin st. and the late Mr. Greensley. The marriage took place in St. Sabina's church. Following a wedding trip to Wisconsin, Mr. Greensley and his bride are at home in S. Marshfield av.

Ensign and Mrs. Richard I. Kell are at home in Melbourne, Fla., following their recent marriage in Atlanta, Ga. Mrs. Kell, the former Evelyn Sturtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Sturtz of N. Laramie av., received her master's degree from the University of Iowa. Ensign Kell attended the University of Kansas and is an instructor in the naval air forces. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Kell of Topeka, Kas.

Inquiring Camera Girl

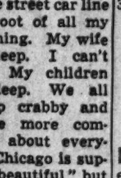
By Maryon Zylstra

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by Clyde W. Ehrhardt, Murfreesboro, Tenn.]

THE QUESTION
What do you complain most about frequently?
WHERE ASKED
Continental hotel.
THE ANSWERS

James Lewis, illustrator, 142 E. Ontario st.—The fact that I only own four dozen shirts and I never seem to have a clean one back from the laundry is what I complain about most. Witness these dirty cuffs! A guy in a uniform takes my shirts away with all sorts of promises and comes back with some of them and more promises.

Sam Ziv, waiter, 1321 Lawrence av.—Sleeping near the street car line is the root of all my complaining. My wife can't sleep. I can't sleep. My children don't sleep. We all wake up crabby and do some more complaining about everything. Chicago is supposed to be "the city beautiful" but why all the noisy street cars?



Florence Hoffman, salesgirl, 2600 Lawrence av.—My sisters, two of them, and I all wear the same size clothes. I take my clothes to the cleaners, wash and iron my blouses, and press the dress I intend to wear the next day. It walks out of the house on some one else. I even have put a padlock on my clothes closet.

Mrs. Walter Reuleaux, model, Indianapolis, Ind.—It's that confounded refrigerator of mine! It's an old model and quite small. Each time I want to get something out of it I have to stoop way over. Then to get at the food I want, I have to haul everything else out of the refrigerator. I could design a better one myself.

Leonard Diebold, bell captain, 3001 Gunnison st.—The bobby soxers in this city are driving me to a life of seclusion. They're all over, like ants. I like to dance or go out and enjoy myself but it isn't safe on a dance floor. One of them kicked my wife in the shins and didn't even apologize. They are a little bit too boisterous.

Steve Cohen, 13, Green Bay, Wis.—Right now I'm complaining about the heat. In the winter it's the cold. When school starts it's school. I can always think of something I'd rather be doing than going to school. But, then, when school lets out comes the hot weather and after that comes school again.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 28—I'm not surprised Joe Pasternak's given John Carroll the singing lead in "The Kissing Bandit." John has a beautiful voice, when he feels like singing — and Nacio Herb Brown's music should make him want to. . . . don't be surprised if Martha Scott, who did "Soldier's Wife" on Broadway, comes out to make the screen play which Eddie Buzzell will direct. . . . Bob Cummings bought Chaplain John Grant's "Answer Us from Heaven," the story of an army chaplain who returns from the front minus both legs. Bob will make it as his first independent, and will set back the Dumas story. A picture such as "Answer Us from Heaven" is a mighty lift to those boys who've lost an arm or leg in this war.

A Hearty Welcome Home, Major

Maj. Allen [Dry] Martini's back working at R-K-O. He turned down an acting job to go into production, and is now assistant in the studio's production management department. Martini's famous plane, the "Dry Martini," was credited with bringing down 38 enemy planes over Europe. Atta boy! . . . "Time for Two" gets Lloyd Nolan as the New York detective. Also in the cast will be Lucille Ball and John Hodiak. The picture starts at Metro in December. . . . And "Sentimental Journey" gets Glenn Langan along with Maureen O'Hara and John Payne at 20th Century. . . . Well, I swan! Spring Byington's going to sing in "Song of Broadway." Name of the ditty—"She Was a Good Girl." This is a debut for Spring—first time in her career they've let her sing and dance in a picture. . . . Lt. Bob Stack called up to say hello. He's here on 30 days' leave from the navy.

About Dark Sea Horses

Our producers on the lookout for new talent should have been at the swimming meet Sunday—it was full of dark horses. Pat Geary, 15, is a natural. What a figure! So's Ann Curtis. . . . I was interested in the swimmers' headdress. They've copied Esther Williams' braids in "Bathing Beauty." . . . Eddie Cantor was there. Tells me he's signed up Victor Moore, Billy Gaxton, and Marilyn Maxwell for his play "Nelly Bly"—that's giving himself competition! . . . Col. Darryl Zanuck's small son, Dickie, made an impromptu speech with more than a touch of savoir faire. Pop and some of our top-drawer diplomats would be in luck if they had his poise. Hear he used to sell magazines at the studio—did it up with his customary thoroness. Carried a conductor's money clip and flipped the change out like lightning. Always left a magazine for his regular customers whether they were on hand to pay him or not. That kid's going places. . . . Sammy Lee, one of our spectacular divers who's put on swim exhibitions at all the camps where they have pools, burns the midnight oil studying medicine. Tells me about Diver Miller Anderson who was shot down during his 102d flight over Germany, but now is on the mend and soon will be able to swim again.

Truly a Gentleman, Suh!

You've heard of that good old southern hospitality. Y. Frank Freeman has it to a degree. He not only feeds you at his new San Fernando home, but you find a box of oranges in your car when you start home. . . . Commentator Radie Harris and Actor Alan Ward of R. K. O. are worth an item. . . . John Dall, who's starting a road tour of "The Hasty Heart," missed his train to New York by four minutes. . . . Barbara Bennett's been living with sister Joan since her husband, Ad Randall's, sudden death. Now Joan's found her a New York apartment, and she goes east Sept. 10.

Jimmy Cain Is at It Again

James Cain, who wrote "The Postman Always Rings Twice" and scads of others, is in New York arranging for two more novels. One, "The Butterfly," he's had in his noggin for seven years. The other, "Past of Dishonor," is laid in California of 1863. The latter will be published first. . . . Harold Grieve, one of our favorite decorators, has been promoted to lieutenant commander after three years in the navy. . . . Esther Dale, who had a vacation in the mountains complete with fishing, wading, campfire stories and wild game at Kanab, Utah, while making "Smoky" there, arrived home and was given a two week vacation with pay by her studio. . . . And Helen Broderick tells me her son Brod's mighty grateful to Mike Todd, who gave his wife a month's vacation from "Up in Central Park" when Brod returned from Europe. He expects to be out of uniform in about three months.

show, which was started 23 years ago by Carter P. Brown of Castle Park and Tryon, N. C. Mrs. Louis F. Swift has taken a station wagon full of young friends of her son, Bumpy, to the show, in which she and Bumpy will ride in the parent and child class. They have a tent with them which they will pitch on the beach so the youngsters will have a place to sleep, as all the accommodations in The Castle are taken. A horse show dance tonight at The Castle's outdoor dance pavilion will close the horse show festivities.

Mrs. Kenneth G. Ives will entertain at luncheon today in the Exmoor Country club for Miss Elizabeth Ann Kerber, who will make her debut during the Christmas holidays. Miss Kerber has been visiting Miss Patricia Gerhard in Fish Creek, Wis. She will enter her sophomore year at Rockford college this fall.

While residents of the Netherlands observe a national holiday Friday to mark the birthday anniversary of Queen Wilhelmina, Chicagoans of Dutch descent will hold their own celebration, a victory dinner at 7:30 p. m. in Tracy's restaurant in the Michigan Square building to celebrate the liberation of the Netherlands and of the Netherlands East Indies. Jan A. Schuurman, Dutch consul general, who will be present with Mrs. Schuurman, will speak. Arrangements for the dinner have been made by a committee headed by Victor de Bont, midwest regional chairman of American Relief for Holland.

The relief group is busy completing its clothing drive and within the next few weeks will ship its 12th carload of clean and mended used clothing to Holland.

Double Ring Weddings Reported Most Popular

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The bureau of mines turned style reporter for the jewelry industry today and announced that as a result of the war the double ring ceremony now predominates at United States weddings. The reason for the increased preference for rings for both brides and bridegrooms is that "the service husband desires a link with his far-off wife," the bureau said in a report on the uses of metals.

Evanstonian Named to Head Methodists' National Conference

Adrian, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP) — George Harper of Evanston, Ill., today was elected president of the national conference of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, representing nearly 2 million young people of the denomination.

Other officers elected at the group's fifth annual meeting at Adrian college included Paul G. Berger of Vallejo, Cal., vice president; Miss Norma Green of Detroit, secretary, and Miller C. Lovett of East Lynn, Mass., treasurer.

To represent the national conference at the United Christian Youth Movement meetings the organization chose Miss Mirabel Hansen of Evanston and Theodore W. Quelch of Asbury Park, N. J.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

The Quiet Life

I like the placid life I lead.
I never have a date.
Most every night I go to bed
A little after eight.

I rise up with the morning sun
To press my collars white,
Work at the office all day long
And go straight home at night.

I read the latest novels.
I've lots of time to think.
I've caught up on my knitting.
I never take a drink.

I love this quiet life I lead,
It really is "a daisy!"
I tell this to myself all day
To keep from going crazy!

P. S.
But things will all be diff'rent when
The boys come marching home again!

The Finishing Touch

Then there was the otherwise irreproachable WCG who yesterday morning spent every bit of 25 minutes on the "L" giving herself a complete beauty treatment. She began with face cream and makeup, then took her hair out of curlers and combed it. Merely to polish things off, she was applying nail enamel when I came to my station. NOSEY PARKER II.

Bell Ringer

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S 1941 Music Festival launched June Albright on an unusual feminine first career—that of arranger of carillon music for the largest manufacturer of carillons in the world. Miss Albright was discovered by her future employer at the music festival, in which she was a member of the orchestra. She was young, flexible enough to grasp new ideas and methods, and had a solid musical background. She holds a degree in music, plays piano, organ, and marimba, and has had seven years' experience as a music teacher in her high school and college days.

In addition to arranging carillon music in manuscript form, she cuts and edits the rolls for the automatic player. And, after a carillon is installed in a church or university, this bell ringer spends one to two weeks instructing the organist in the technique and art of playing the bells.

Just Maneuvering

There is sadness in my heart. Just as we are winding up a big war, the WCGs start a little war with this "handsomest boss contest." As I understand it, it is to be held on the basis of what a WCG thinks about her boss. And when she tells what she thinks, out will come the hatchet, and Mrs. Boss will shriek, "I'll fix that redhead!" BILL GLOER

Movie Closeup

Arrangements have been completed between the Oriental theater and United Artists Pictures whereby the Oriental will become the first run loop outlet for movies released by United Artists. The new policy calls for the Oriental's retention of its stage shows, along with United Artists' first run features, but in the future the stage attractions will be engaged for the run of the picture, instead of on a weekly change basis as at present. The first Oriental picture under the new policy will be the Ernie Pyle "Story of G. I. Joe," starring Burgess Meredith. It is scheduled to start Sept. 21.

Group to Tour Dairy

The Children's circle of St. John's Lutheran church of Wilmette will sponsor a tour of the Bowman Dairy company plant, 4125 N. Kostner av., at 1 p. m. Friday. A bridge party in the building is scheduled afterward.

Oak Park Club Party

The Oak Park Country club will hold its final out-of-doors dinner-dance of the summer season Monday night.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	3 hearts	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of spades.

That the place for the ace is on the king is almost an axiom of good card playing. However, there are certain important exceptions to this fundamental principle. As a general proposition, when you see tricks you ought to take them, and if you refuse to win a heavy trick you should have a very clear reason for doing so. Tricks should never be turned down "on general principles."

The most frequent excuse for not winning a trick, is the desire to disrupt communication between two hands. If you are a defender you may be trying to break the contact between declarer's hand and the dummy so that a long suit may not be run. If you are the declarer, you may be making it impossible for one defender to transfer the lead to his partner at a crucial point in the play.

Today's hand offered the declarer an opportunity to destroy the lines of communication between the enemy's two hands. When he failed to take advantage of his position, they promptly assaulted him where he was most vulnerable to attack.

South led the four of spades and North followed with the king. East took this trick and after extracting trumps took the club finesse. This lost and North was able to put South in with the queen of spades in order to get a diamond lead thru. This scuttled the declarer's ship and brought forth sad plaints about the misfortune of finding the two key cards of the hand, adversely placed.

Declarer could have insured the success of the contract by taking the precaution to see that South never obtained the lead, for then the king of diamonds could not be attacked. The only card with which South could possibly get the lead was the queen of spades. The precautionary measure was simplicity itself. Just refuse the first trick. North will no doubt continue the spade, which East will win and pull trumps. When the club finesse loses to North, he will have no means of communication with partner. There is now no way for him to obtain two diamond tricks.

TOMORROW'S PROBLEM:

As South you hold:
♠ 10 7 5 3 ♥ A 9 ♦ A J 10 ♣ K 9 6 8
The bidding has proceeded:

670 NEW BUSES, 600 TROLLEYS IN YEAR PROPOSED

$20,000,000 Program

Set Up by Surface Lines

Announcement of a proposed program which may give Chicago 670 new buses and 600 new street cars within a year was made yesterday by E. J. McIlraith, acting general manager of the Chicago Surface Lines.

McIlraith said that the street car company would ask Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal District court to approve the purchase of an additional 480 buses and 400 street cars. The lines already have on order 190 buses and 200 street cars. Cost of the new rolling stock, he said, would be roughly 20 million dollars. This would pose no problem, for the surface lines have on hand more than 24 millions of renewal funds, tho technically in bankruptcy.

Want to Get Orders In

"We want to get our orders in early with the manufacturers so we won't be beaten by other cities," said McIlraith. "Bids have been asked on the new equipment."

It was regarded as unlikely there will be any opposition to the big improvement plan, which is made possible by the impending final lifting of restrictions on local transportation agencies by the office of defense transportation. Banishment of the curbs also will permit restoration of several bus routes eliminated during the war.

Authority Plans Purchases

The new metropolitan transit authority, which proposes to buy the surface and elevated lines, and unify and operate them under public ownership, is on record as planning 1,000 new street cars and 2,200 buses.

After ODT lifted its order to shift traffic from rubber tired vehicles to rails whenever feasible, the surface lines announced that they intend to restore bus service Oct. 1 on three heavily traveled routes which were discontinued late in 1942—Kimball av., Kimball-Homan avs., and Ogden av.

VET WINS WRIT FOR CHANCE TO GET CHILDREN

Judge William J. Lindsay in Superior court yesterday granted Rudolph Szur, a discharged sailor, a writ of habeas corpus for his two children, Sharon, 5, and Dennis, 4. Szur charged his divorced wife, Florence, of 4549 N. Albany av. with detaining them illegally. The writ, directed against Mrs. Szur, was made returnable this morning. Mrs. Szur obtained a divorce in June, 1943, from Judge John J. Lupe. Szur contested the decree on the ground that he was in the navy and was not given proper notice of the action. Altho the decree was affirmed, the same grounds formed the basis for Szur's habeas corpus action.

DRIVER ACCUSES TWO TRAPPED IN CAB OF ROBBERY

Robert Bobien, 44, of 837 Wrightwood av., a taxi driver, last night identified two men who hailed his cab at Clark and Ontario sts., and asked to be driven to the bus station, as the same two who held him up and robbed him of $26 at Congress and Throop sts. on Aug. 7.

After taking them to the bus station, he summoned Detectives Butler and Thomas Barton, who arrested the men on Bobien's complaint on a charge of robbery.

They gave their names as William Jones, 40, and George Browning, 19. Both denied robbing Bobien.

U. S. Waives Passports for Travel in Americas

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—So far as the United States government is concerned, citizens may travel to any country or territory in North, Central, or South America or adjacent islands without American passports. State Secretary Byrnes made this possible today by amending the passport control regulations. The state department added that relaxation of travel controls did not assure adequate transportation.

15 in Tavern Are Shaken as Bomb Is Exploded

A black powder bomb was exploded last night at the rear of the vacant store at 4749 N. Seeley av. Police estimated damage at $5. Some 15 patrons in the tavern at 2027 Lawrence av., in the same building, were shaken but nobody was hurt. Police are investigating reports the bombed store has been used as a bookie.

PLAN GIVES VETS AT WORK CREDIT FOR ARMY SKILL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The war man power commission disclosed tonight that it is preparing a "master plan" under which returning veterans entering industry would receive full credit for army acquired skill.

The program, Chairman McNutt said in a statement, should reduce in many cases the length of apprenticeship required of veterans entering various crafts.

The master plan is being drafted by the WMC apprentice training service in coöperation with management, labor, and veterans' organizations. It will be subject to modification by state laws and trade conditions in various areas.

21 ALIENS DENIED WRITS IN FIGHT ON DEPORTATION

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—Federal Judges Samuel Mandelbaum and John Bright today denied applications of 21 aliens, all illegally in the United States, who sought writs of habeas corpus to delay their deportation.

They were scheduled to sail later today on the Gripsholm with 798 aliens, the largest group ever to be deported on one ship. Included were 110 Greeks and 688 Italians, interned since the beginning of the war. They will go to Naples, Italy, and Piraeus, Greece.

John Ryan, assistant United States attorney, said the deportees included Ralph Liguori, 40, who, Ryan said, formerly was associated with Charles [Lucky] Luciano, convicted racketeer. Liguori was serving a seven and one-half to 15 year state prison sentence on his conviction of charges of taking proceeds of prostitution when released for deportation, Ryan said.

FREE FORTIER ON CHARGE OF RAMMING AUTO

Judge J. M. Braude in Boys' court yesterday dismissed charges against William Fortier, 17, of 4428 Wallace st., who was alleged to have driven his automobile intentionally into the rear of a car driven by Rosario De Lesio, 18, of 5439 Aberdeen st., causing $35 damage. A passenger in De Lesio's car was John Comise Jr., whose father, personal bailiff to Municipal Judge Francis Borrelli and former president of the Cafe Owners association, is appealing a conviction on a charge of assaulting Fortier with a deadly weapon. He was placed on six months' probation.

CABS RETURNING TO PEACE BASIS; EVEN LINING UP!

Chicago taxicabs are delivering passengers in adjacent suburbs, responding to some telephone requests, and now and then even are reviving the pre-war habit of lining up to wait for customers, Michael M. Sokol, president of Checker Taxi company, and Benjamin Samuels, vice president of Yellow Cab company, said yesterday.

Samuels and Sokol estimated that it would be almost a year before they would be able to replace their present fleets of rebuilt pre-war cabs. Samuels said 80 per cent of the full quota of 1,595 Yellow cabs are operating with rebuilt motors, altho not all are on the streets at the same time. Sokol said all 1,000 Checker taxis are in service on a one shift basis and that the second shift will be restored when war veterans come back.

"We're going to scatter our fleet by adding three or four more garages in the outlying districts," Samuels said. "Home owners in such areas are our best customers next to the railroad station and hotel trade."

NAVY, MARITIME SERVICE SEEK MORE RECRUITS

Anticipating early release of many men more than 30 years old, the United States maritime service said yesterday it would continue recruiting men between 17 and 50. This is necessary to keep supplies moving to occupation forces, an official explained.

The navy is recruiting men between 17 and 25 for the V-5 air force training program and for radar training. The coast guard is taking 17 year old recruits for regular service.

Col. George A. Sanford, director of military training for the 6th service command, announced the final class of the army specialized training program will begin next month. The last day for enlistment is Friday.

ALL-STARS READY TO DUEL PROS TOMORROW

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD

PRE-GAME ceremonies at the All-Star contest in Soldiers' field tomorrow night will begin at 8:20. . . . Introduction of players is scheduled for 8:25 and the kickoff for 8:30. . . . Fans who leave the loop later than 7:30 o'clock in all probability will miss the kickoff. . . . Concentration of 90,000 in the approaches to the stadium invariably develops a traffic jam, despite the expert services of the park police and Andy Frain's ushers. . . . There will be parking space for thousands of cars in the area south of the field. . . . While the attendance cannot reach the 101,100 figure for 1942 because of a slight decrease in seating capacity, the ticket demand for this year's game exceeds any previous All-Star event. . . . If accommodations were available, the crowd would number more than 135,000. . . . Various explanations are advanced for the increased requests for tomorrow night's contest — cancellation of gasoline rationing; the popularity of All-Star headliners, notably Charley Trippi and Tom Harmon; Green Bay's extensive following, and the abundance of spending money. . . . More likely it's the recollection of the last two games, most thrilling of the 12 year series. . . . Chicago tonight will be host to the widest array of football personalities probably ever assembled in this city. . . . In addition to athletic directors, coaches and officials of the Big Ten conference, almost every college and university in the middle west will be represented. . . . All clubs in the National Football league, as well as the All-America conference, have executives here for the game. . . . The Packers take their nourishment at the Green Bay Y. W. C. A., but save your yoo-hoos. . . . Real he-man food is dispensed there. . . .

Only two hitters in the western division of the National league have opportunity to knock home runs in each park in the league. . . . With the last eastern trip concluded, Cincinnati's Eddie Miller and Frank McCormick, who have poled circuit smashes in all four eastern parks, remain in the running. . . . Whitey Kurowski, who hit 'em all around the league last year, missed out this season in the Polo Grounds, sofest touch of all. . . . The Redbird third baseman made up for that lapse by whacking six at Ebbets field, more than he has hit all season at St. Louis. . . . Pittsburgh's Johnny Barrett hit seven in Boston. . . . Jimmy Powers, who recently was honorably discharged from the navy with the rank of lieutenant commander, has returned to the New York News as sports editor. . . . He will cover the All-Star game. . . . Pete Jonas, former Coast league pitcher, has won eleven consecutive victories for the San Diego Navy Training Center.

In the Twilight

days that used to be
As we wandered by the brooklet hand in hand,
And you told me of the fairyland
that you had dreamed for me,
And the castellated mansion you had planned;
O, my heart was overflowing with the rapture of young love
As I looked into the depths of your blue eyes,
And I wondered then if heaven
was so very far above
And if all the angels lived up in the skies.

I am musing in the twilight of the happy days I knew
Ere you vanished like a shadow
at the dawn,
'Twas a little squall that swept me from the shielding arms of you,
And before the mists had settled
you were gone;
Yet I can't help thinking sometimes what the future might have been
If our pathways never had been swept apart,
And if you still held within your arms your little rustic queen
As I have ever held you in my heart. —T. E. B.

BY EDWARD BURNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 28—Harry Lowrey's 365 foot home run with two on and two out in the fourth inning and Chicago trailing 2 to 0, tonight reconverted the Cubs from a meek and jittery outfit to the ripsnortin' pennant contender it was before a five game losing streak shaved the Cubs' lead over the Cards from 7½ games to a 2½ game margin in five playing days. After Harry's swat Hank Borowy and the new lineup frisked to a 6 to 3 victory before 23,335.

The triumph, coupled with the Cardinals' defeat by the Reds, increased Chicago's pennant race lead to 3½ games. It was the first of six singleton night games won by the Cubs. They previously had swept two twilight-night double headers.

The ending of slump was in the nature of a birthday present for the erstwhile sad skipper, Charley Grimm, who became 47 years old today, according to the best available records.

Lowrey Makes Party Success

Even before the form reversal, a midnight birthday party had been planned for coaches and scriveners. It might have been a soggy fiesta, but Lowrey et al, who didn't go to the party, assured its success.

The victory was the fifth for the former Yankee, Borowy, "who can't complete a game after midseason," according to New York explanators after his transfer to the Cubs. It was Hank's seventh complete game in as many Cub starts. His two losses have been by 2 to 1 and 1 to 0 counts, the second being Friday by the Cardinals on a three hitter, in which the game's lone run was unearned.

The Cubs tied their victory record of all last season, and have 35 games to play, excluding a suspended game with the Dodgers.

Nicholson, Hack on Bench

The game was played with two sterling absentees on the bench for the first time. Bill Nicholson previously hadn't missed an inning this year or a game in three seasons and his roomie, Stan Hack, hadn't missed a game this season. Capt. Phil Cavarretta replaced Nick in right field and Roy Hughes went to third to give Hack a rest. Hack did not make a hit in the recent Cardinal series, trying for a pair that would bring his lifetime total to 2,000.

Lowrey's homer was his sixth of the year and followed singles by Heinz Becker and Cavarretta. Becker was out at the plate and Cavarretta and Andy Pafko, whose grounder had sunk Becker, scored ahead of Lowrey. Lowrey, by the way, had been dropped from third to sixth in tonight's new batting order.

Two of the later runs were scored by Len Rice, following singles, and the other by Len Merullo, who walked, advanced on Rice's sacrifice, and scored on a single by Hughes.

Pirates Gain Early Lead

The Pirates' offense swung into action shortly after the Cubs had been retired in order in the opening inning. Lee Handley bunted with one down and Jim Russell singled to center. Bill Salkeld was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Frank Gustine then lined a single to left, scoring Handley and Russell.

Double plays slowed down the Pirates in the second and third innings. With one out in the second Pete Coscarart singled. Then Fritz

CAPT. TRIPPI SETS OUT BEHIND A BRILLIANT BLOCKER

Trippi and Kennedy are just two of the many sparkling backs who give the fans reason to believe they will be more than match for Green Bay's powerful National league champions.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

The White Sox had their first glimpse of the post-war Bob Feller last night but weren't able to turn the occasion into the ending of the losing streak that now has them in its grasp. Instead Feller and his Cleveland mates turned Bill Dietrich as well as Johnny Johnson into a tonic for batting averages, the tonic being so effective that the visitors triumphed by 8 to 2, making the sixth successive setback for the James Dykes boys.

Feller, on what happened, probably didn't look like the pre-war variety to the 26,084 spectators but flashed just enough to indicate the old skill was there if really needed. He had a slim lead as early as the second inning and after the fifth had nothing to worry about. His mates made him comfortable with a four run blast the finished Dietrich for the night, the comfort probably helping to contribute to the total of eight hits and seven passes harvested by the Sox.

A Pair of Disastrous Hits

Dietrich was tricky enough to restrict the Indians to two hits in the first three innings but one of the hits happened to leave the park. It was Dutch Meyer's No. 5 homer into the left field seats with one out in the second. The next hit yielded by Dietrich was equally disastrous. That was a No. 2 homer by Les Fleming, selected when he detected a 2 to 0 pitch drifting up to the plate. He planted it into the right field first story with one out in the fourth.

The Sox had only one hit and two passes to show for three innings of work so felt they had accomplished the unusual with a pair of hits in the fourth. Floyd Baker

Fear Twilight Tear's Career Ended by 2d Hemorrhage

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Twilight Tear, Calumet farm's great filly which won 14 of 17 races last year and was acclaimed the horse of the year, probably never will race again. The Bull Lea-Lady Lark speedster made her first start of the season yesterday at Washington Park in the $5,000 Escoba purse and suffered a hemorrhage.

She finished last in a field of five, pulled up by her jockey, Doug Dodson, after trying courageously to keep the torrid pace set by Miss Gertrude Donovan's Fighting Don, a three length winner over John Marsch's Occupy in the fast time of 1:10 2-5 for the six furlongs.

Suffered Hemorrhage Last May

Twilight Tear's last race was a brilliant six length victory over Devil Diver and Megogo in the Pimlico Special run last Nov. 1. She finished the season with earnings of $167,555 and a total of $202,165 in two campaigns. The government ban on the sport interrupted her bid for Top Flight's money-winning record of $275,900. This spring she was ready to begin all over again, but a hemorrhage forced Trainer Ben Jones to retire her in May. She'll be on her way back to the Kentucky farm of Warren Wright as soon as possible.

Fighting Don's triumph followed a record-breaking five and one half furlong dash by his stablemate, Fighting Frank, which took the secondary feature, the $5,000 Minute Man purse, in 1:04 2-5, a fifth of a second better than Free For All's mark set last year. Marsch's entry, Mighty Story, took second money. Hal Price Headley's Gadola was third in a five-horse field.

Now that Twilight Tear appears definitely out of further contention, Louis B. Mayer's Busher stands almost alone in the battle to reach Top Flight's mark. Today the 3 year old daughter of War Admiral has a chance to add $25,000 to her earnings, which stand at $204,920, as she goes against Brownell Combs' 4 year old filly, Durazna, in a $25,000 winner-take-all match race at a mile.

Busher passed Twilight Tear's score by $2,755 when she finished third to Durazna and Letmenow in the Beverly handicap. Previous to that race, Busher had won the Cleopatra handicap and the Arlington handicap at Washington Park. While she was campaigning at Santa Anita earlier in the season she won the Santa Susana stakes, the San Vicente handicap and the Santa Margarita handicap, in addition to finishing second to Bymeabond in the Santa Anita Derby.

Longden, Woolf to Be Aboard

Durazna has given a series of distinguished performances during the current meeting. She won the Clang handicap, the first division of the Sheridan, and then the $30,000 Beverly.

Two of the nation's better jockeys, masters of judging pace, will ride in the big race today, Johnny Longden on Busher and George Woolf aboard Durazna.

Yesterday's daily double was worth $63.60 on victories by Hurry East [$20.60] in the first race and Sweep In [$5.40] in the second. Steve Brooks and Doug Dodson were the winning riders.

The day's mutuel handle was $968,769.

PACKERS MOVE IN TODAY; PLAN DRILL TONIGHT

They'll Eat Well

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 28—The Green Bay Packers will eat a hearty meal Thursday afternoon before taking the field against the College All-Stars that night. The professional champions will take along choice Wisconsin steaks when they depart for Chicago tomorrow morning. The meal, with the usual vegetable complements, will be served at 4 p. m. in the Knickerbocker hotel. "We pooled our points for the steaks," said one Packer, "and hope we are successful doing the same against the All-Stars."

BY EDWARD PRELL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 28 — The Green Bay Packers went to bed tonight with Chicago on their minds, particularly that portion of the city embracing Soldiers' field, where on Thursday night the professional champions will bump into the College All-Stars.

They'll be on their way south an hour before noon tomorrow and at mid-afternoon will be settled in their Knickerbocker hotel quarters. A quick workout in Soldiers' field in the evening and the Packers then will have naught to do but await the opening whistle.

After tonight's practice in City stadium it was evident that the veteran starting lineup virtually will match the 11 who started last December in the National league title game against the New York Giants in the Polo Grounds. There may be only one change. This would place Joel Mason at right end instead of Harry Jacunski, whose brief training chores with the champions have been slowed up by an ailing leg.

McKay May Displace Comp

There was slight doubt about one back field position, left half. The logical starter is lanky Irvin Comp, the Milwaukee youngster. Irv gave signs this evening that he has shaken off an ankle injury, but if not up to par he may yield to Roy McKay, the rugged University of Texas athlete who wears cowboy boots with a nonchalance matching that of Sammy Baugh, Ki Aldrich, and other pro greats from the Lone Star state.

Key man in the Green Bay back field, right half, at the start will be Lou Brock, the old Purdue speedster. In the Packers' system the right half back is the signal caller and the quarter back is the blocker. This assignment is in the competent custody of Larry [Superman] Craig,

NAME SCHWARTZ STANFORD HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Palo Alto, Cal., Aug. 28 [Special]—Announcement of the signing of Marchmont Schwartz, former all-America half back at Notre Dame, as head football coach at Stanford university, was made tonight by Al Masters, Stanford graduate manager of athletics. Schwartz, who came to Stanford as back field coach in 1941, acted as head coach in 1942. He succeeds Jim Lawson, who entered the navy in 1942, and who this summer resigned to become back field coach for the San Francisco team in the all-America conference.

Schwartz played at Notre Dame under Knute Rockne in 1930. He is to assume his duties at Stanford on Oct. 1, but the university is to have no scheduled games until 1946.

SHELBY WINS; TO MEET OAK PARK NINE TOMORROW

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—Shelby, N. C., scored a run in the ninth inning to defeat Tucson, Ariz., 3 to 2, tonight in a first round game of the American Legion junior baseball final series. The Shelby team will meet Oak Park, Ill., Thursday night in a second round game of the double elimination meet. Oak Park scored a 2 to 1 victory over Trenton, N. J., last night.

Tomorrow night Tucson meets Trenton, with the loser being eliminated.

Nelson, Snead Share Lead in Pittsburgh Golf Meet

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP)—Scoring birdie threes on the last two holes, Byron Nelson scored a subpar 70 on the afternoon round to tie with Sam Snead at an even par total of 144 at the halfway mark in the $10,000 war bond tournament at Oakmont Country club.

TRIPPI DIRECTS COLLEGIANS IN NIGHT SESSION

Crowd of 90,000 to See Battle

BY WILFRID SMITH

Sgt. Charles Trippi of the army air forces, captain of the 1945 All-Star football squad, led his teammates thru a spirited dress rehearsal last night in Soldiers' field for the game tomorrow night with the Green Bay Packers. The penultimate drill—the All-Stars will work briefly once today—boded misfortune for the professional champions in the 12th annual battle sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities.

This may not be the best All-Star squad in the history of the competition. Certainly the team which overwhelmed the Washington Redskins two years ago has a claim to the honor. But these college men, more than half of whom are in service, are determined to whip the Packers. Their actions last night, as they went thru their repertoire of plays under the stadium lights, exemplified their enthusiasm.

Charley's Sure to Start

Trippi, of course, will start the game tomorrow night. The other members of the All-Star eleven have been tentatively selected except in two or three positions. One of these is the guard spot which should be occupied by Pvt. Dick Barwegen, former Purdue lineman, who was captain of the 1944 All-Star squad.

Barwegen still hopes he will be able to play against the Packers, but his knee is improving only slowly and it may be Trainer Carl Erickson will advise him not to risk further injury. Barwegen was clipped in the scrimmage Saturday at Great Lakes. Dick continued heat treatments yesterday and will spend more time under the lights today.

They're All Good, Too

At the same position as Trippi are Perry Moss, Tulsa; John Strzykalski, Marquette, and Tom Harmon of Michigan. Harmon also played in the 1941 All-Star game against the Chicago Bears. Harmon has practiced diligently for two weeks and there is no doubt but that the one time Wolverine star still can go. He made the longest run from scrimmage in the All-Stars' 35 to 0 victory over the Bluejackets Saturday. In that contest, however, Harmon was injured. He definitely can play tomorrow night but he will be susceptible to a bruising tackle.

Pvt. Denver Crawford, Tennessee tackle who was called to his home in Kingsport, Tenn., last week by the death of his mother, rejoined the squad yesterday. Crawford likely will see service at one of the tackle positions. The only member of the squad of 66 who will not be present tomorrow night is Sam Gray, Tulsa end, who was injured early in scrimmage at Northwestern university. Gray left for Lakeland, Fla., where he will coach the high school football team.

Line Still to Be Tested

While the All-Stars have shown a very fine air attack in their scrimmages and at Great Lakes, the defensive power of the line is a question mark. Much will depend on how Barwegen's position is filled and on the work of Bill Willis, Ohio State; Clyde Flowers, Texas Christian; Bob Zimny, Indiana; J. C. Colhouer, Oklahoma A. & M.; Glen Burgels, Tulsa, and Damon Tassos, Texas A. & M.

Tex Warrington, Auburn graduate, Lt. Clifton Speegle, Oklahoma, and Martin Silovich, Marquette, have recently had the call at center. Warrington, a big, rugged line backer, is a possible choice to start the game.

They'll Finish Drills Today

The All-Stars returned to Northwestern university after last night's drill. They will work once today and also will meet for a lecture. Shortly before noon tomorrow the squad will leave for the Sherman hotel. After an early dinner they will start their short trip to Soldiers' field at 6 p. m.

The All-Star players yesterday received their souvenir blankets, an award inaugurated in 1934.

The All-Star band of 200, under the direction of Ray Dvorak, will rehearse in Soldiers' field tonight.

The vanguard of the crowd of more than 90,000 is expected in Chicago's loop today. The attendance tomorrow night is limited only by the capacity of the stadium. A record advance sale received additional stimulus when gasoline rationing ended.

Last Call (and No Foolin'!)

That long anticipated battle between the College All-Stars and Green Bay Packers now is only one day away. (The time is tomorrow night and the site Soldiers' field). So it behooves you to act at once if you want to see this No. 1 Sports Spectacle. Tickets still are on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn st. and Tribune Tower. Price:

led off with a single to left, and went to third on Oris Hockett's single to right, scoring while Dan Reynolds was grounding into a double play. That left the Sox only one shy of a tie but the bad news for Dietrich came quickly in the fifth. Pat Seerey walked and Frank Hayes tripled with one out. Then with two out, Al Cihocki, Mickey Rocco, Fleming, and Jeff Heath singled in order, the latter hit, however, having nothing to do with the scoring of the four runs.

Guy Curtright Hits Triple

Feller didn't move quite speedily enough when a line drive off Schalk's bat approached him with two out in the fifth and the ball caromed off the side of his right knee into foul territory at first base for a hit. The 26 year old veteran kept right on with his pitching, altho surprised a bit a moment later when Guy Curtright frisked him for a triple to right center, Schalk scoring. Baker then concluded the inning with a pop to Cihocki.

Johnson escaped in the sixth and also had two out in the seventh before being forced to contribute to the Indians' run total. He yielded one at that point on a triple by Heath and Meyer's double. The run in the eighth, however, wasn't entirely his affair. Feller singled with one out and with two out Kerby Farrell let Rocco's grounder get away, Feller going to third and counting on a single by Felix Mackiewicz.

RETAILERS GET LITTLE CHEER IN OPA PARLEY

Bowles Will Think Over Protests

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The nation's storekeepers fought the OPA today for higher retail prices on new peace time goods, but departed with little more than a promise by Price Administrator Bowles to think it over.

Their spokesmen charged that OPA's price policy was "unsound and inequitable"; had gone out of date when Japan surrendered, and was unsuited to peace. The charges were made by OPA's retail pricing committee, an industry group set up to give advice on retail pricing.

The major target of the businessmen was OPA's ruling that vacuum cleaners, washers, and other goods long out of production must come back to the stores at their 1942 prices, or very little higher.

Dealers Pay Cost Increase

OPA does grant increases to the manufacturers when their costs of labor and materials go up. So dealers must pay higher costs for their merchandise, the retailers said.

Therefore they must cut their profit margins, so that the cost to the consumer stays at or near 1942 prices. The OPA calls it "cost absorption."

The committee unanimously condemned this and certain other price control methods, asked that more goods be removed from price control, and asserted that more liberal policies would encourage production of goods.

In a special report, based on statistical studies, the group said:

"It is necessary for OPA to make immediate plans for major policy changes that will contribute to rapid reconversion and full employment.

Accepted During War

"During hostilities, retailers accepted cost absorption as a necessary war time measure, with the specific assurance that this device would not be extended beyond a narrow list of low priced essential items.

"Absorption is uneconomic, unsound, and inequitable. It has no place in a peace time competitive economy."

Bowles met the group in closed session. About 40 retailers' representatives attended. They included representatives of the National Retail federation and other nationwide department, furniture, and dry goods stores associations, representing thousands of store operators.

The price chief said he would consider the committee's proposals. This was little comfort because OPA already is putting the 1942 price tags on new goods and some of the goods are reaching the dealers.

Bowles Gives Assurances

Washing machines, ironers, and aluminum pots and pans have been priced.

Bowles said the retailers apparently misunderstood some of OPA's plans and gave these assurances:

1. That OPA did not plan to retain price controls as long as the retailers evidently believed. [He did not say how long, however.]

2. That the list of items to be taken off price control has lengthened since the dealers made their report. He did not name the items, but recently indicated ceilings would come off 150 luxury and unessential products.

Taxes, OPA Held Output Bar; Hurley Welcomes Price Suit

Act Now—Davis

BY THOMAS FURLONG

Inadequate prices and excessive taxes block industry's efforts to achieve a high level of civilian production and employment, C.S. Davis, president of the Borg-Warner corporation, said yesterday.

C. S. Davis

Given fair prices and taxes and free access to materials, American industry can repeat its war time achievements in the production of peace goods, said Davis, whose organization thru 23 divisions and subsidiaries manufactures a wide variety of products.

Expansion Plans Held Up

"Removal by congress of abnormal wartime taxes, and a change in OPA's policies to allow a fair price for products must be accomplished without further delay," he said.

Large expenditures by Borg Warner for rehabilitation and expansion are being held up by the uncertainties of present government policies, Davis indicated. When present restrictions are removed and taxes cut, the company will begin a production and expansion program calling for large outlays, he said.

Thru its subsidiaries the company is a major supplier of parts and equipment to the automobile industry. Their products include clutches, gears, carburetors, rings, and springs. It is also an important manufacturer of agricultural implements and of home appliances, including refrigerators, freezers, and electric ranges. It is in these fields that the reaction against OPA's price policies is arousing the strongest protests.

Outlook Good Otherwise

Davis was optimistic about the outlook in the fields in which the company operates under favorable tax and price policies. He expects continued development in the corporation's aviation and marine operations started during the war.

"The overwhelming burden of war time taxes must be drastically reduced," Davis said. "Industry accepted the excess profits taxes and other high operating taxes as necessary war time measures. Now that the war is ended, however, such emergency measures must be relaxed to enable industry, faced with heavy reconversion costs, to tackle the stupendous task of returning to peace time production."

May End Confusion

What the office of price administration termed the first reconversion price suit in the country was filed yesterday by the regional OPA in federal District court against Electric Household Utilities corporation, charging it with delivery of 5,000 washing machines at prices approximately 25 per cent above the ceiling level. The suit asked for $150,000 treble damages.

Edward N. Hurley

Altho manufacturers may apply for individual reconversion price ceilings, Electric Household Utilities made no such application, but wrote its distributors urging them to sell the washers to retail dealers at prices that also were 25 per cent too high, said Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator.

Says It May Clarify Pricing

The distributors received the machines with the stipulation that the prices charged were subject to OPA approval and that credit would be given if lower prices should be approved.

"We do not at this time know details of the charges filed against us," said Edward N. Hurley, board chairman of the company. "We do feel, however, that this suit may develop as a clarifying agent in the present confused OPA situation.

"We are sure that other small manufacturers, distributors, and dealers in all industries will follow the development of this case with keen interest and with the hope that the reconversion effort will not be further delayed and impeded by the present policies."

Plan No Retroactive Boosts

Walters said company representatives had said at a recent conference with OPA officials that the increased prices were charged because the company expected OPA to authorize the increases in the manufacturer's price for its products. The company's expectation of a future increase, however, "does not make it legal for it to start selling at prices higher than existing OPA ceilings," Walters asserted.

"Any increase that may be granted by OPA will not be retroactive and cannot apply to the deliveries already made by the company. The company's action takes unfair advantage of the rest of the industry, who are awaiting the final outcome of this discussion with OPA."

• PEOPLE AND EVENTS

Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation yesterday announced the appointment of Carl A. Ilgenfritz to the new post of vice president in charge of purchases. He formerly was manager of purchases and raw materials for Republic Steel corporation.

The manufacture of home radios will be started Oct. 1 by General Electric company with production of television and frequency modulation receivers following soon after, G. S. Peterson, Chicago district manager of the company's electronics department, reported.

Charles A. Kirk was elected executive vice president of International Business Machines corporation, Thomas J. Watson, president, said. Kirk formerly was vice president in charge of manufacturing.

The promotion of L. F. Van Nortwick from director of territory development to director of truck sales for Dodge division of Crysler corporation was announced by Forest H. Akers, vice president of Dodge.

Carl E. Reed has been appointed sales manager of the apartment house and builders department of the Chicago branch of General Motors corporation's Frigidaire division, said W. I. Buchanan, branch manager. Reed who has just completed three years service with the government expediting production in the electronic field, had been with Frigidaire for 16 years.

A men's furnishings, sports, and shoe department will be opened Nov. 1 by Young-Quinlan company of Minneapolis, Minn., a subsidiary of the Hub, Henry C. Lytton & Co., said Willard W. Cole, president of Young-Quinlan and executive vice president of Lytton.

John E. Fast & Co., Chicago manufacturer of electronic equipment, has been awarded the army-navy E.

USED CAR PRICE TOP ABOVE OPA LEVEL FOR NEW

Dealers Say Rules Ignore Facts

If new automobiles are sold approximately at 1942 prices when they come on the market, they will be well below present ceiling prices on late model used cars, spokesmen for Chicago dealers said yesterday. They asserted the office of price administration pricing policy on cars was another example of OPA's efforts to return the nation's economy to pre-war levels without taking into account the changes that have taken place.

An example cited by a National Used Car Market Report, Inc., official was of a Chevrolet four door sports sedan with standard equipment. Its 1942 delivered Chicago price, which the 1945 new car price will approximate, was $1,045.

All '42 Models at Ceilings

A used car dealer, however, may sell a used 1942 Chevrolet at its ceiling of $1,200. Currently all 1942 model used cars are selling at ceilings, and there have been numerous reports of overceiling sales on used automobiles.

Price Administrator Bowles said Monday that each automobile manufacturer will calculate his own price ceiling, using a formula adding cost increases and a "profit factor" to prices received for 1941 models. The profit factor will be either the manufacturer's own 1936-'39 margin or half the industry average of that period, whichever is higher. The manufacturer may use the calculated ceiling if it is above his 1942 model price. If below, the 1942 price becomes his ceiling.

1942 Prices of Cars

Prices of various 1942 cars, delivered Chicago, all four door sedans with standard equipment, before discontinuance of their manufacture and OPA ceilings which allowed markups for storage and maintenance, were:

Ford, super de luxe, $1,048.
Plymouth, special de luxe, $1,067.
Dodge, custom model, $1,203.
Buick, special series 41, $1,485.
Pontiac, streamliner, $1,195; torpedo, $1,160.
Packard, Clipper 6 cylinder custom series, $1,463; 8 cylinder, $1,593.
Studebaker, Champion cruiser de luxe, $981.
Oldsmobile, model 76, $1,196.

Formula Held "Double Pinch"

In Detroit one manufacturer asserted that the use of 1941 costs and of 1936-'39 per car profits in the formula will act as a "double pinch" on 1946 model prices. Per car costs in 1941 were relatively low because of the large production attained in that year, while the 1936 to 1939 period included one or two years of relatively low profits per car for most companies, he said.

Manufacturers predicted several weeks will be required to compute their ceiling prices. J. R. Davis, director of sales and advertising for the Ford Motor company, said Ford will make its price announcement at a contemplated public showing of its cars late in September.

Burlington Rail Profit Gains in July, 7 Months

The Burlington railroad yesterday reported that July net income was $2,114,935, compared with $1,175,322 a year ago. For the first seven months net income was $15,346,486 against $10,141,372.

Financing of 2 Roads Totals 225 Millions

Two western railroads yesterday participated in financial transactions totaling 225 million dollars.

The Great Northern sold to Halsey, Stuart & Co. 75 million dollars of general mortgage bonds consisting of 37½ million series N, due Jan. 1, 1990, and 37½ million series O, due Jan. 1, 2000. The underwriting group, awarded both issues on bid of 98.5679 for 3⅛ per cent coupon, has closed the books on the O bonds, offered at 99.35. The Ns were offered at 100. Proceeds will be applied to retirement of $86,956,000 of 3⅜ and 4½ per cent bonds.

Southern Pacific Asks Bids

The Southern Pacific Railroad company invited bids on 125 millions of new first mortgage bonds in three series maturing 1961 to 1996. Bids will be received to noon Sept. 11. The company will issue another 25 millions of bonds to be sold to its parent, the Southern Pacific company.

Offering of 3 millions of 5 per cent sinking fund subordinated debentures at 100 and accrued interest and 70,000 shares of $1.50 cumulative preferred stock at $30 of Seaboard Finance company is made today by an underwriting group headed by Van Alstyne, Noel & Co. and Johnston, Lemon & Co. The company will retire stock of a subsidiary and reduce debts.

The securities and exchange commission approved issuance and sale to banks by Columbia Gas and Electric corporation of 22 millions of 2 year 1½ per cent notes. Proceeds will help redeem 32 millions of 5 per cent debentures due 1952 at 102.

New Shares Registered

Armstrong Cork company registered with the SEC 161,522 shares of no par cumulative preferred stock, of which 52,994 shares will be offered in exchange for 4 per cent preferred and the rest offered to common stockholders.

Froedtert Grain and Malting company registered 40,000 shares of $50 par preferred stock to be offered to the public at a price to be fixed later.

American Central Manufacturing company registered 142,154 shares of $1 par common stock. An offering price of $16 a share was listed solely for calculating a registration fee. The public offering price will be given in an amendment.

Meat Production in Week Equals That of Year Ago

For the first time this year meat production in federally inspected plants last week equaled that of a year earlier, the war meat board reported yesterday. Output last week was estimated at 289 million pounds.

PRICE TAGGING PLAN EXTENDED TO WOOL AND RAYON CLOTHING

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—The OPA announced tonight that its price tagging plan for low priced garments would be extended this fall to cover woolen and rayon clothing. A tag showing the legal price will be placed on each item of clothing.

Retail ceilings, in dollars and cents, will be fixed for a wide range of apparel, OPA said, as is now done for a number of scarce but essential cotton garments.

The price control is part of the OPA-WPB program to channel more cloth into moderately priced clothing. Makers of cotton garments get a priority of fabric if they agree to make certain scarce items to sell at government set prices.

WORKING CASH OF COMPANIES SETS NEW HIGH

Total on March 31 Near 47 Billion

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 28 (AP)—American corporations on March 31 had a record high of 46 billion 900 million dollars net working capital, a securities and exchange commission quarterly analysis disclosed today. From January thru March, working capital increased by 1.4 billions.

Current assets increased 600 millions in the quarter and current liabilities decreased 800 millions.

Cash Up; Fewer Bonds Held

Largest change in any of the items of current assets or liabilities was the 1.8 billion increase in cash on hand and in banks to a record total of 24.8 billions. This was partly offset by a 1 billion drop in holdings of United States government securities.

Corporations' holdings of government securities totaled 19.8 billions, substantially in excess of their income tax liabilities of 16.1 billions.

The study showed an 800 million drop in notes and accounts payable and a 400 million reduction in receivables from the government.

Tax Credits Increase

Corporations continued to accumulate post-war tax refund credits, taxes, raising the total of refundable to 2.3 billions as of March 31, a 200 million increase for the quarter. Other sources of refunds payable to corporations are the provisions of the income and excess-profits credits, for accelerated amortization of emergency facilities, and for recomputation of base-period income for excess-profits determination.

Recent enactment of the tax adjustment act of 1945 will result in these tax refunds being reflected in the future in the net working capital position of corporations, the SEC study said.

It also reported a drop of about 500 millions each in the net property account and in long-term debt.

NEW YORK FIRM WOULD ACQUIRE MIDLAND UTILITY

Jay Samuel Hartt, president of Midland Utilities company, which owns more than 98 per cent of the common stock of Indiana Service corporation, Ft. Wayne, announced yesterday an agreement whereby American Gas and Electric company of New York will become owner of the corporation providing certain reorganization plans are completed and the necessary approval obtained from state and federal authorities.

Altho details will not be made public until formal application has been made to the securities and exchange commission, Hartt said the price to be paid for all stock to be issued is expected to 4½ to 5 million dollars.

Rules Ad Costs Not Usable in Setting Prices

Advertising and merchandising costs may not be figured into overhead expenses in the determination of price ceilings, Bayard Taylor, regional OPA price administrator, asserted yesterday. His statement was made at a conference on the OPA ruling that increased manufacturing and distribution costs of consumer items returning to the market must be absorbed by dealers.

"Advertising and salesman costs do not need to be figured as overhead costs in computing prices," he said. "There will be such a demand for goods that advertising will not be necessary."

Says It Is Not Economic Factor

Quoting what he termed a maxim, "Advertise when business is poor; don't bother when business is good," Taylor contended "advertising is not an economic factor, and does not figure in the economy picture."

He said lack of industry-wide or individual manufacturers' reconversion price ceilings does not prevent manufacturers from distributing floor models of their products. Sales room models can be sent to distributors and retailers on consignment or at 1942 ceiling prices, pending OPA approval of reconversion prices, he asserted.

Plans to Avert Hardship

Rae E. Walters, regional OPA administrator, explained at the conference that price increases thruout distribution levels will be permitted where price absorptions of manufacturing costs are not possible under established profit margins. He asserted that "OPA will not require hardship of either retailer or wholesaler," even tho they must absorb their part of increased costs.

WARN OF HOME BUILDING LAG IF CONTROLS STAY

Inter-Agency Fight Delays Action

BY AL CHASE

While Washington agencies were fighting among themselves over the lifting of home building restrictions, Chicago builders yesterday warned that unless the L-41 construction limitation order is fully removed volume building of homes will not be possible before 1947. L-41 limited all types of construction to war, or war supporting facilities.

Joseph E. Merrion

Restrictions have been lifted from industrial building and will be removed from store and shop building by Sept. 30, but instead of ending curbs on home construction more restrictions are planned, they said.

Aligned Against Each Other

The forces behind more federal regulations on home building are the national housing agency, the office of price administration, and Secretary of Commerce Wallace, with the reported backing of the CIO. On the other side, urging complete removal of restrictions, are the war production board [originator of L-41], Construction Co-ordinator Pot-

RAIL CREDITORS, BONDHOLDERS GET 34 MILLION

Federal District Judge Igoe yesterday approved a cash distribution of $34,279,750 to bondholders and general creditors of the Rock Island railway in conformity with a petition of the carrier's trustees, Joseph B. Fleming and Aaron Colnon. The distribution is in line with the railroad's reorganization plan.

The major distributions of cash authorized were: general mortgage 4s, due 1988, $11,647,430 total, or $189.14 per $1,000 bond; first and refunding mortgage 4s, due 1934, $11,287,643 and $102.22; secured 4½ per cent bonds, due 1952, $4,600,000 and $115; and the Choctaw and Memphis first mortgage 5s, due 1949, $1,762,000 and $500.

Army's Supply of Butter Remains Military Secret

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28 (AP)—Military secrets today—two weeks after the war ended—include the amount of butter the army has on hand. Asked how much butter would go into civilian markets when an expected cancellation of the army's set-aside order occurs and how much is on hand, an army spokesman replied that the figures could not be disclosed "for reasons of military security."

Prall, Montgomery Ward Vice President, Resigns

B. R. Prall, operating vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., has resigned, Sewell L. Avery, board chairman, announced yesterday. No plans have been made to name a successor to Prall or to Clement D. Ryan, former president and director, who resigned last week. Before Ryan became president, Avery was both president and chairman.

What Reconversion Means
INVESTMENT-WISE

• Now that reconversion of American industry is well under way, it is the opinion of this firm that

1. Reconversion will be completed much sooner than anticipated.

2. Most companies are better prepared to convert from war to peacetime production than is generally realized.

3. Among these industries which will most quickly resume normal operations are the steel, building materials, certain retail and wholesale lines, mail order, oil, air transportation, rubber manufacturers producing tires, chain store and automotive industries. Carefully-selected stocks of companies in these fields offer excellent opportunities for enhancement in value and attractive return, in our opinion.

• Our Investment Analysis Department will be glad to analyze your present holdings at no charge. Investors are invited to avail themselves of this service and inspect our other comprehensive brokerage and investment facilities at their disposal for the purchase and sale of listed and unlisted stocks and bonds, grains and commodities.

STOCKS EXTEND RISE, BUT RAIL ISSUES FALTER

Prospect for Business Buoys Market

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The stock market advanced again today, but encountered some selling on the lengthy upswing of industrials. Rails were under pressure.

Investment demand was buoyed by business optimism, the reconversion speed-up, and rising hopes of tax relief. Commitments were reduced in numerous cases, however, because of the belief a technical correction was about due.

The Associated Press 60 stock composite rose 0.1 to 66.9, its sixth successive rise. The industrial group gained 0.3 at 90, highest since Sept. 4, 1937.

Pullman common rose 1⅛ to a 1945 peak as private banking interests posted a strong cash bid for the company's sleeping car facilities which must be sold under an anti-trust decree. Squibb rose 6.

BONDS CLOSE UNEVEN

New York, Aug. 28 (AP)—The bond market made a feeble effort to rise early today, but lapsed into irregularity. Advances and declines, generally less than a point, were about evenly distributed among the leading rails. Industrials and utilities were neglected and the recently strong United States government loans were mixed.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS

Prices continued higher yesterday in reduced turnover of 50,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange. More actively traded issues included Brown Fence, up 1¼; Standard Dredging, up ¼; Admiral and Miller and Hart, each up ⅛, and Chicago corporation common, unchanged. Chicago Flexible Shaft rose 1 to set a 1945 peak of 42.

SUPERIOR STEEL

Please tell me what Superior Steel corporation's chief sales outlets will be now that the war is over.—G. Y.

This company's Pittsburgh district plant manufactures hot and cold rolled strip from steel billets and bands purchased from outside sources. The output includes regular carbon steel strip, but the production has turned increasingly to alloy and special products.

Superior's markets in general will be the same as before Pearl Harbor. These included manufacturers of automobiles and parts, hardware, office equipment, sewing machines, and metal beds. The company's new process for coating steel with copper, silver, and other metals, which has had an important war role, especially for bullet noses, is believed adaptable to varied peace time uses.

During the transition the company's earnings may decline, but its subsequent business prospects in the early post-war years are considered favorable. In the first half of 1945 the profit decreased to $1.41 a share on the 113,276 shares, sole capitalization, from $1.78 a year earlier. For full years the earnings were: 1944, $3.13; 1943, $4.95 revised for renegotiation; 1942, $3.87 revised; 1941, $5.77; 1940, $3.08; 1939, $1.55. In 1938 there was a net loss. The dividend rate is 30 cents quarterly. No payments were made from 1927 thru 1942. At the close of 1944 current assets totaled $5,151,000 and current liabilities $3,941,000.
